Vincent Astor Brings News.

203.8 Miles an Hour.

Strange Conspiracy.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

VINCENT ASTOR of New York brings from Europe information of builders of airships and fast cruisers. Germans have perfected Diesel engines for fast cruisers, weighing only 18 pounds per horsepower, as against the standard of 180 pounds per horsepower. This should interest the United States if it decides to build cruisers, instead of weeping on Europe's cold shoulder, sobbing: "Please disarm."

EVEN more important is Mr. Astor's news of a new flying engine perfected by Swiss engineers and manufacturers. Germany's great company, the Luft Hansa, will equip Zeppelins with this new Swiss engine for transatlantic flight. The new Diesel flying engine will fly five pounds per horsepower, too heavy, according to present plans, for airplanes. But they will use oil instead of gasoline, doing away with danger from fire.

AND in power development, oil will be twice as efficient as gasoline in proportion to weight, which may more than make up for extra weight.

Switzerland's new Diesel flying engine will easily take a powerful Zeppelin across the Atlantic, with thousands of miles of cruising range to spare.

MR. ASTOR will give our shipbuilders an opportunity to study the new, efficient Diesel engine for boats. He is having such engines installed in the big new yacht, which, thanks to the new engine, will have a cruising radius of 18,000 miles.

SEGRAVE, British automobile racer, shattered all world's records Tuesday by driving 203.8 miles an hour at Daytona, Fla. The best American record is 156 miles per hour.

THIS is a tribute to British manufacturing efficiency, and to Segrave's courage. But it is only interesting without practical importance. An auto-

GOLDIE BOLEY IS CHOKED TO DEATH DURING FIGHT IN HOME

Former East Liverpool Woman Victim of Glen Robin Crime.

MAN SURRENDERS

"Put Cuffs on Me, I Killed Her," he Tells Police.

Declaring that he had choked his wife to death following an argument in their home in Glen Robin, Jefferson county, Theodore Boley, 27, husband of Mrs. Goldie Boley, 25, former East Liverpool girl, this morning gave himself up to Steubenville police.

Drives to Police Headquarters.

Walking into police headquarters, Boley stopped Traffic Sergeant Roy McConnell and said: "Here I am, put the cuffs on me, I killed her."

Mrs. Boley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Beaver, of Dixonville, was killed, according to Boley, as a result of a domestic quarrel at 2 o'clock this morning.

Boley said he choked her to death and then took their three children, the oldest of which is six years, to the home of a relative in Yorkville.

From Yorkville he drove his car to Steubenville and immediately went to police headquarters.

Body Is Found.

Authorities, it is said, were inclined to regard the man's story as the hallucination of a disordered mind.

Later, however, an investigation was launched by police and Steubenville newspapermen. W. E. Gibbon, Glen Robin postmaster, and Frank Chessley, manager of the Y. & O. store there, were notified and the two went to the Boley home where they found the body.

Boley, who refused to reveal any reason for the slaying other than that it occurred during a quarrel, is being held in the Jefferson county jail, pending arraignment.

Boley and his wife have lived in Glen Robin, which is located in the southern end of Jefferson county, for about a year. Prior to that they had lived in East Liverpool. He had been employed at the Yorkville plant of the Wheeling Steel company.

The slain woman is survived by her parents and three children.

The culprits smashed the glass in the rear door of the establishment, securing one $50 bill, one $20 bill and about $50 in change. Chief of Police McDermott and Patrolman James Haley investigated the robbery.

TWO CHARGES AGAINST POTTER

Clarence Flowers, Sophia street, was to be taken into custody this afternoon upon two charges, one for using vulgar and profane language and the other for assault, preferred by W. L. Prescott.

Flowers, it is charged, went on a rampage at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery yesterday, "breaking ware and dishes." He is also alleged to have struck Paul Orr.

Strychnine Victim Dies in Ambulance on His Way to City Hospital at Noon.

FAREWELL NOTE BLAMES FRIEND

Occupants of Davidson Old Opera House, Hearing Moans of Dying Man, Force Door of Apartment.

Despondent over ill health, Irwin Broone, aged about 61, a former mill worker, swallowed strychnine with suicidal intent, police say, in his room in the old Davidson opera house building, East Second street, this morning. He died in the Miller ambulance while being rushed to the City hospital at noon.

Broone, suffering from locomotor ataxi, had maintained his home on the second floor of the opera house building.

He left a farewell note, addressed to a pal, who is alleged to have left him about a week ago.

Other occupants of the building heard groans from Broone's room during the forenoon, and failing to get a response, smashed in the door. Broone was found lying across the bed. In his pocket was found a two-ounce bottle, nearly empty, bearing a strychnine label from a Chester drug store.

Note Found in Room.

Police were notified and Desk Sergeant Toland and Patrolman James Haley responded. A physician was also called, and Broone was ordered removed to the hospital.

The note, which was found in the room, is believed to have been written after he took the poison.

Text of Note.

Broone, according to neighbors, had not been seen about the room for three or four days. He is said to have returned there early this morning.

"You are the cause of my sending myself to Hell," said the note which Broone left. "You have driven me from my home. I hope that my spirit may haunt you to your dying day. I hope that God forgives me for this thing."

The suicide is said to have no near relatives. He was dependent upon the earnings of his friend for several years.

The body was removed to the Miller funeral home, West Sixth street.

Ehrenfeld, Pa., Mine Blast Probe Begins; Four Men Killed

EHRENFELD, Pa., March 31.—State and federal mine inspectors today began an investigation of the explosion in the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke company's mine here, which they termed one of the most unusual on record.

Although 295 miners were at work, only four were killed and four injured. The others escaped through rear entries and airshafts.

A string of 33 mine cars running wild down a 2,000-foot incline inside the mine, tore insulation from electric wires and ignited an accumulating of dust, causing the explosion, S. W. Blakeslee, superintendent, said.

FOUR BUILDING TRADE UNIONS RENEW PACTS ON WAGE SCALES

Carpenters, Bricklayers, Plasterers, Hod Carriers Sign.

PEACE ASSURED

Plumbers' Wage Scale Does Not Expire Until 1928.

Peace in the building trades for another year at least was virtually assured today following the adoption of new working agreements by four crafts.

One of the agreements, signed by the contractors and carpenters, is for a term of two years, beginning May 1, 1927. Pacts between employers and bricklayers, hod carriers and plasterers are for one year. No wage increases are provided.

Carpenters renewed their wage scale of $1.28 per hour, or $10.24 per day. Upon small jobs contractors will charge $12 per day for the men, while upon large jobs a 10 per cent fee for labor will be assessed by the employer.

Hod Carriers Asked Increase.

Bricklayers have also renewed their agreement of $1.50 per hour, or $12 per day. Hod carriers, who will receive 90 cents per hour, asked $1.25 per hour, but their demand, it is claimed, was not filed within the time limit and was not considered. As a result the old scale was approved.

Wale scale of the plasterers calls for $14 per day.

The two-year agreement between plumbers and their employers does not expire until next year. Journeymen are paid $1.38½ per hour.

Painters and electricians, who receive $10 per day, are also expected to renew their wage pacts. Electricians received an increase of $1 per day a year ago.

Two Men Admit Conniving to "Cover Up" Snyder Murder

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 31.—Admission of Haddon Gray and Harry Platt that they connived with Henry Judd Gray to destroy the blood-stained vest and other clothing brought back after the murder in Queens village, of Albert Snyder, art editor of Motor Boating, featured the Syracuse investigation of the case this afternoon.

This startling evidence was brought out after Gray and Platt had been grilled at police headquarters here by New York and local detectives. Another "mystery witness" was arrested today. His name was not revealed.

CHEVROLET CAR REPORTED STOLEN

Chevrolet touring car, belonging to Homer Boyd, was stolen while parked on Washington street near the Y. M. C. A. between 8:30 and 10:30 o'clock last night. The machine, according to a report made to the police, carried license plates No. 386-862.

Bread Prices Cut As Bakers Engage In Rate War Here

Retail price of bread in the East Liverpool district dropped to eight cents per loaf yesterday as dealers launched a rate-cutting war.

The war started after a chain grocery store operating six establishments in East Liverpool and Chester, announced a reduction from 10 to 8 cents per loaf. Joseph Smith, St. Clair avenue baker, then reduced his price.

Other bakers are retailing bread at 11 and 12 cents.

ARREST LOOMS IN HENRY FORD CRASH INQUIRY

Detroit Police Get Hit-run Motorists' License Number.

PLOT SUSPECTED

Automobile King is Believed Internally Injured.

DETROIT, March 31.—Clues to the identity of the hit-and-run motorists who nijured Henry Ford in a suspected plot to assassinate the automobile king, were in the hands of Chief of Police Fred Faustman, of Dearborn, today.

It was reported that the police possess the automobile license number of the Studebaker car which forced Ford's small coupe into the ditch just outside Dearborn Sunday night. Chief Faustman, according to the Dearborn police headquarters, is investigating information which may lead to the arrest of the occupants of the Studebaker car.

"Improving," is Hospital Report.

Although unofficial reports today indicated Ford's condition is giving his physicians grave concern due to the fact he is suffering from hemorrhages and may be internally injured, hospital attendants announced he slept easily through the night.

"His general condition is excellent, and he continues to improve steadily," said the hospital report early today

The automobile king's condition is aggravated because of his advanced age and the danger of his contracting pneumonia. Ford will be 64 on July 30.

An army of Ford's secret service, private detectives and police of a half dozen Michigan cities are searching for two men and a Studebaker touring car. Occupants of the Studebaker are said to have deliverately attempted to drive Ford into the River Rouge but failing in that, rammed his tiny Ford coupe, in which the automobile king rode alone, off a boulevard near his estate and sped away as the car tumbled down an embankment.

State Levy Bill, Passed by House, Goes to Senate

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—The Ohio senate today will be asked to concur in the action of the house which passed, by a vote of 70 to 56, the Dodd bill providing for a direct state tax levy of a half-mill collectible next June. The levy would be effective for one year only.

The house today may take action on the Aigler bill, which passed the senate by a vote of 27 to 5 late Wednesday, increasing the franchise tax levied on foreign corporations doing business in Ohio.

ANANIA DEATH SUSPECTS ASK PROBATE COURT TO FIX BOND

Defendants Reiterate Story of Accidental Cutting.

WITNESSES HEARD

Grand Jury Meets April 11 to Probe Alleged Murder.

Salvatore Rini, 27, of East Liverpool, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, of Minneapolis, Minn., charged with the murder of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, Wellsville, found dead in Rini's apartment in Walnut street, here, on March 22, today began their fight for freedom in probate court at Lisbon

Prosecutor Opposes Move.

Reiterating their contention that Anania, who was stabbed in the right ventricle of the heart, was the victim of an accident, they asked Judge Lodge Riddle to permit their release on bond pending action of the grand jury which meets on Monday, April 11.

Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes opposed the defense application, presented by Attorneys W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, and S. W. Crawford, of East Liverpool.

Indications at 1 o'clock this afternoon, when the hearing was resumed after the recess for lunch, were that the court's decision would not be handed down until late in the day.

Rini and the Chorgas woman, who came here in February to attend the trial of her brother, Roy Wallen, East Salineville, now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for the murder of Rodney Ogle, coal miner, were arrested in Rini's apartment here after Rini had called a physician to attend Anania.

Four Witnesses Testify.

Police Captain Mason Conley, Patrolman William Lister and Drs. Albert J. Michaels and C. H. Bailey, all of East Liverpool, testified at the morning session.

A broken bladed butcher knife, found in Rini's apartment, was introduced as a state exhibit.

Rini and Mrs. Chorgas claim that Anania accidentally killed himself while carving meat with this knife.

The first witness called was Captain of Police Conley, who investigated the

W. D. CRAWFORD FACES COURT

William D. Crawford, Maplewood, was at liberty under $500 bond today pending a hearing before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, tomorrow morning upon charges of threatening the life of his wife, Mary Crawford. He was arrested by Patrolman Leslie Curran yesterday afternoon upon affidavit signed by Mrs. Crawford.

Crawford appeared in municipal court this morning to prefer charges of assault against his step-son, Everett Crawford, who, he charged, had struck him in the face. He also will be given a hearing before Judge Hanley when the latter returns from Columbus. Judge Hanley left for the capital yesterday afternoon in the interest of the proposed election reforms pending before the state legislature.

U. S. CONSIDERS INVITATION FROM BRITAIN AND JAPAN TO ABANDON INDEPENDENT POSITION IN CHINA AND PROTEST NANKING OUTRAGE

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The question of whether the American government will abandon its independent position in China and join with Great Britain and Japan in making a strong protest to the Chinese Nationalists over the Nanking outrage—with a threat of punitive measures in the background—was put squarely up to the state department today.

The British government has been rather urgent in its invitation to the United States to make a common cause of the incident, and Minister MacMurray at Pekin has given it his endorsement, it was learned today.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Evacuation of Americans from all parts of China is continuing, according to advices to the navy department from Admiral C. S. Williams, commanding the Asiatic squadron.

The destroyer Pillsbury has been dispatched from Shanghai to Tsing-Tao in Shantung province at the request of W. Roderick Dorsey, American consul there, Admiral Williams advised this morning. There is a small American community there.

Refugee Ships Attacked.

SHANGHAI, March 31.—While new reports of anti-foreign demonstrations in the provinces come in, there is increased apprehension here today as the result of the mob attacks upon the French concessions last night.

Refugee ships plying the Yangtze are still subjected to fire and there are many reports of pillage by the Nationalists. The Cantonese are reported to have entered Chinkiang after its evacuation by foreigners and to have sacked the town. The American and British consuls were reported to have been pursued by hostile crowds who threw stones at them.

The extent of the damage done in Nanking is still undetermined, but it is reported that American property there has been sacked and pillaged.

Investigate Mob Outrages.

Investigations were in progress today concerning the mob attacks on the French concession barricades last night, reports having been received that Nationalist soldiers in uniform participated in these attacks.

There is no denying that there is considerable apprehension here regarding the ability of the French to protect their concession and the American and other foreigners resident there. One report has it that Consul Naggiar has been recalled to Paris.

United States Marines have been placed on duty at the barricades between the French concession and the international settlement and the French authorities have agreed that if serious troubles break out that the American marines may enter to protect American property.

Report 300 Condemned.

As far as known officially there are no known casualties from the mob attacks on the French barricades last night, but there is an unconfirmed report that several Chinese were killed by the volleys which the Annamite troops fired over the heads of the children who were herded before the mob. This report has been disturbing for it is feared that it may be used by agitators to spur the Chinese on to retaliation.

One hopeful sign is seen by the foreigners here in a report that General Chiang Kai-Shek has taken strong measures to put down disorders. It is reported that 300 have been ordered executed by Chiang Kai Shek for participation in disorders in a suburban area.

Hod Carriers Asked Increase.

Bricklayers have also renewed their agreement of $1.50 per hour, or $12 per day. Hod carriers, who will receive 90 cents per hour, asked $1.25 per hour, but their demand, it is claimed, was not filed within the time limit and was not considered. As a result the old scale was approved.

Wale scale of the plasterers calls for $14 per day.

The two-year agreement between plumbers and their employers does not expire until next year. Journeymen are paid $1.38½ per hour.

Painters and electricians, who receive $10 per day, are also expected to renew their wage pacts. Electricians received an increase of $1 per day a year ago.

Two Men Admit Conniving to "Cover Up" Snyder Murder

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 31.—Admission of Haddon Gray and Harry Platt that they connived with Henry Judd Gray to destroy the blood-stained vest and other clothing brought back after the murder in Queens village, of Albert Snyder, art editor of Motor Boating, featured the Syracuse investigation of the case this afternoon.

This startling evidence was brought out after Gray and Platt had been grilled at police headquarters here by New York and local detectives. Another "mystery witness" was arrested today. His name was not revealed.

CHEVROLET CAR REPORTED STOLEN

Chevrolet touring car, belonging to Homer Boyd, was stolen while parked on Washington street near the Y. M. C. A. between 8:30 and 10:30 o'clock last night. The machine, according to a report made to the police, carried license plates No. 386-862.

Bread Prices Cut As Bakers Engage In Rate War Here

Retail price of bread in the East Liverpool district dropped to eight cents per loaf yesterday as dealers launched a rate-cutting war.

The war started after a chain grocery store operating six establishments in East Liverpool and Chester, announced a reduction from 10 to 8 cents per loaf. Joseph Smith, St. Clair avenue baker, then reduced his price.

Other bakers are retailing bread at 11 and 12 cents.

ARREST LOOMS IN HENRY FORD CRASH INQUIRY

Detroit Police Get Hit-run Motorists' License Number.

PLOT SUSPECTED

Automobile King is Believed Internally Injured.

DETROIT, March 31.—Clues to the identity of the hit-and-run motorists who injured Henry Ford in a suspected plot to assassinate the automobile king, were in the hands of Chief of Police Fred Faustman, of Dearborn, today.

It was reported that the police possess the automobile license number of the Studebaker car which forced Ford's small coupe into the ditch just outside Dearborn Sunday night. Chief Faustman, according to the Dearborn police headquarters, is investigating information which may lead to the arrest of the occupants of the Studebaker car.

"Improving," is Hospital Report.

Although unofficial reports today indicated Ford's condition is giving his physicians grave concern due to the fact he is suffering from hemorrhages and may be internally injured, hospital attendants announced he slept easily through the night.

"His general condition is excellent, and he continues to improve steadily," said the hospital report early today.

The automobile king's condition is aggravated because of his advanced age and the danger of his contracting pneumonia. Ford will be 64 on July 30.

An army of Ford's secret service, private detectives and police of a half dozen Michigan cities are searching for two men and a Studebaker touring car. Occupants of the Studebaker are said to have deliverately attempted to drive Ford into the River Rouge but falling in that, rammed his tiny Ford coupe, in which the automobile king rode alone, off a boulevard near his estate and sped away as the car tumbled down an embankment.

State Levy Bill, Passed by House, Goes to Senate

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—The Ohio senate today will be asked to concur in the action of the house which passed, by a vote of 70 to 56, the Dodd bill providing for a direct state tax levy of a half-mill collectible next June. The levy would be effective for one year only.

The house today may take action on the Aigler bill, which passed the senate by a vote of 27 to 5 late Wednesday, increasing the franchise tax levied on foreign corporations doing business in Ohio.

ANANIA DEATH SUSPECTS ASK PROBATE COURT TO FIX BOND

Defendants Reiterate Story of Accidental Cutting.

WITNESSES HEARD

Grand Jury Meets April 11 to Probe Alleged Murder.

Salvatore Rini, 27, of East Liverpool, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, of Minneapolis, Minn., charged with the murder of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, Wellsville, found dead in Rini's apartment in Walnut street, here, on March 22, today began their fight for freedom in probate court at Lisbon

Prosecutor Opposes Move.

Reiterating their contention that Anania, who was stabbed in the right ventricle of the heart, was the victim of an accident, they asked Judge Lodge Riddle to permit their release on bond pending action of the grand jury which meets on Monday, April 11.

Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes opposed the defense application, presented by Attorneys W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, and S. W. Crawford, of East Liverpool.

Indications at 1 o'clock this afternoon, when the hearing was resumed after the recess for lunch, were that the court's decision would not be handed down until late in the day.

Rini and the Chorgas woman, who came here in February to attend the trial of her brother, Roy Wallen, East Salineville, now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for the murder of Rodney Ogle, coal miner, were arrested in Rini's apartment here after Rini had called a physician to attend Anania.

Four Witnesses Testify.

Police Captain Mason Conley, Patrolman William Lister and Drs. Albert J. Michaels and C. H. Bailey, all of East Liverpool, testified at the morning session.

A broken bladed butcher knife, found in Rini's apartment, was introduced as a state exhibit.

Rini and Mrs. Chorgas claim that Anania accidentally killed himself while carving meat with this knife.

W. D. CRAWFORD FACES COURT

William D. Crawford, Maplewood, was at liberty under $500 bond today pending a hearing before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, tomorrow morning upon charges of threatening the life of his wife, Mary Crawford. He was arrested by Patrolman Leslie Curran yesterday afternoon upon affidavit signed by Mrs. Crawford.

Crawford appeared in municipal court this morning to prefer charges of assault against his step-son, Everett Crawford, who, he charged, had struck him in the face. He also will be given a hearing before Judge Hanley when the latter returns from Columbus. Judge Hanley left for the capital yesterday afternoon in the interest of the proposed election reforms pending before the state legislature.

U. S. CONSIDERS INVITATION FROM BRITAIN AND JAPAN TO ABANDON INDEPENDENT POSITION IN CHINA AND PROTEST NANKING OUTRAGE

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The question of whether the American government will abandon its independent position in China and join with Great Britain and Japan in making a strong protest to the Chinese Nationalists over the Nanking outrage—with a threat of punitive measures in the background—was put squarely up to the state department today.

The British government has been rather urgent in its invitation to the United States to make a common cause of the incident, and Minister MacMurray at Pekin has given it his endorsement, it was learned today.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Evacuation of Americans from all parts of China is continuing, according to advices to the navy department from Admiral C. S. Williams, commanding the Asiatic squadron.

The destroyer Pillsbury has been dispatched from Shanghai to Tsing-Tao in Shantung province at the request of W. Roderick Dorsey, American consul there, Admiral Williams advised this morning. There is a small American community there.

Refugee Ships Attacked.

SHANGHAI, March 31.—While new reports of anti-foreign demonstrations in the provinces come in, there is increased apprehension here today as the result of the mob attacks upon the French concessions last night.

Refugee ships plying the Yangtze are still subjected to fire and there are many reports of pillage by the Nationalists. The Cantonese are reported to have entered Chinkiang after its evacuation by foreigners and to have sacked the town. The American and British consuls were reported to have been pursued by hostile crowds who threw stones at them.

The extent of the damage done in Nanking is still undetermined, but it is reported that American property there has been sacked and pillaged.

Investigate Mob Outrages.

Investigations were in progress today concerning the mob attacks on the French concession barricades last night, reports having been received that Nationalist soldiers in uniform participated in these attacks.

There is no denying that there is considerable apprehension here regarding the ability of the French to protect their concession and the American and other foreigners resident there. One report has it that Consul Naggiar has been recalled to Paris.

United States Marines have been placed on duty at the barricades between the French concession and the international settlement and the French authorities have agreed that if serious troubles break out that the American marines may enter to protect American property.

Report 300 Condemned.

As far as known officially there are no known casualties from the mob attacks on the French barricades last night, but there is an unconfirmed report that several Chinese were killed by the volleys which the Annamite troops fired over the heads of the children who were herded before the mob. This report has been disturbing for it is feared that it may be used by agitators to spur the Chinese on to retaliation.

One hopeful sign is seen by the foreigners here in a report that General Chiang Kai-Shek has taken strong measures to put down disorders. It is reported that 300 have been ordered executed by Chiang Kai Shek for participation in disorders in a suburban area.

HUSBAND CONFESSES MURDER

Today

Vincent Astor Brings News.

203.8 Miles an Hour.

Strange Conspiracy.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

VINCENT ASTOR of New York brings from Europe information of builders of airships and fast cruisers. Germans have perfected Diesel engines for fast cruisers, weighing only 18 pounds per horsepower, as against the standard of 180 pounds per horsepower. This should interest the United States if it decides to build cruisers, instead of weeping on Europe's cold shoulder, sobbing: "Please disarm."

EVEN more important is Mr. Astor's news of a new flying engine perfected by Swiss engineers and manufacturers. Germany's great company, the Luft Hansa, will equip Zeppelins with this new Swiss engine for transatlantic flight. The new Diesel flying engine will fly five pounds per horsepower, too heavy, according to present plans, for airplanes. But they will use oil instead of gasoline, doing away with danger from fire.

AND in power development, oil will be twice as efficient as gasoline in proportion to weight, which may more than make up for extra weight.

Switzerland's new Diesel flying engine will easily take a powerful Zeppelin across the Atlantic, with thousands of miles of cruising range to spare.

MR. ASTOR will give our shipbuilders an opportunity to study the new efficient Diesel engine for boats. He is having such engines installed in the big new yacht, which, thanks to the new engine, will have a cruising radius of 18,000 miles.

SEGRAVE, British automobile racer, shattered all world's records Tuesday by driving 203.8 miles an hour at Daytona, Fla. The best American record is 156 miles per hour.

THIS is a tribute to British manufacturing efficiency, and to Segrave's courage. But it is only interesting without practical importance. An auto-

GOLDIE BOLEY IS CHOKED TO DEATH DURING FIGHT IN HOME

Former East Liverpool Woman Victim of Glen Robin Crime.

MAN SURRENDERS

"Put Cuffs on Me, I Killed Her," he Tells Police.

Declaring that he had choked his wife to death following an argument in their home in Glen Robin, Jefferson county, Theodore Boley, 27, husband of Mrs. Goldie Boley, 25, former East Liverpool girl, this morning gave himself up to Steubenville police.

Drives to Police Headquarters.

Walking into police headquarters, Boley stopped Traffic Sergeant Roy McConnell and said: "Here I am, put the cuffs on me, I killed her."

Mrs. Boley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Beaver, of Dixonville, was killed, according to Boley, as a result of a domestic quarrel at 2 o'clock this morning.

Boley said he choked her to death and then took their three children, the oldest of which is six years, to the home of a relative in Yorkville.

From Yorkville he drove his car to Steubenville and immediately went to police headquarters.

Body Is Found.

Authorities, it is said, were inclined to regard the man's story as the hallucination of a disordered mind.

Later, however, an investigation was launched by police and Steubenville newspapermen. W. E. Gibbon, Glen Robin postmaster, and Frank Chessley, manager of the Y. & O. store there, were notified and the two went to the Boley home where they found the body.

Boley, who refused to reveal any reason for the slaying other than that it occurred during a quarrel, is being held in the Jefferson county jail, pending arraignment.

Boley and his wife have lived in Glen Robin, which is located in the southern end of Jefferson county, for about a year. Prior to that they had lived in East Liverpool. He had been employed at the Yorkville plant of the Wheeling Steel company.

The slain woman is survived by her parents and three children.

THIEVES LOOT MILLINERY SHOP

Police today continued their search for thieves who broke into the Taylor millineray, East Sixth street, last Saturday night and made their escape with $123.80.

The culprits smashed the glass in the rear door of the establishment, securing one $50 bill, one $20 bill and about $50 in change. Chief of Police McDermott and Patrolman James Haley investigated the robbery.

TWO CHARGES AGAINST POTTER

Clarence Flowers, Sophia street, was to be taken into custody this afternoon upon two charges, one for using vulgar and profane language and the other for assault, preferred by W. L. Prescott.

Flowers, it is charged, went on a rampage at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery yesterday, "breaking ware and dishes." He is also alleged to have struck Paul Orr.

FORMER MILL WORKER, DESPONDENT OVER ILL HEALTH, TAKES POISON

FAREWELL NOTE BLAMES FRIEND

Occupants of Davidson Old Opera House, Hearing Moans of Dying Man, Force Door of Apartment.

Despondent over ill health, Irwin Broone, aged about 61, a former mill worker, swallowed strychnine with suicidal intent, police say, in his room in the old Davidson opera house building, East Second street, this morning. He died in the Miller ambulance while being rushed to the City hospital at noon.

Broone, suffering from locomotor ataxi, had maintained his home on the second floor of the opera house building.

He left a farewell note, addressed to a pal, who is alleged to have left him about a week ago.

Other occupants of the building heard groans from Broone's room during the forenoon, and failing to get a response, smashed in the door. Broone was found lying across the bed. In his pocket was found a two-ounce bottle, nearly empty, bearing a strychnine label from a Chester drug store.

Note Found in Room.

Police were notified and Desk Sergeant Toland and Patrolman James Haley responded. A physician was also called, and Broone was ordered removed to the hospital.

The note, which was found in the room, is believed to have been written after he took the poison.

Text of Note.

Broone, according to neighbors, had not been seen about the room for three or four days. He is said to have returned there early this morning.

"You are the cause of my sending myself to Hell," said the note which Broone left. "You have driven me from my home. I hope that my spirit may haunt you to your dying day. I hope that God forgives me for this thing."

The suicide is said to have no near relatives. He was dependent upon the earnings of his friend for several years.

The body was removed to the Miller funeral home, West Sixth street.

Ehrenfeld, Pa., Mine Blast Probe Begins; Four Men Killed

EHRENFELD, Pa., March 31.—State and federal mine inspectors today began an investigation of the explosion in the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke company's mine here, which they termed one of the most unusual on record.

Although 295 miners were at work, only four were killed and four injured. The others escaped through rear entries and airshafts.

A string of 33 mine cars running wild down a 2,000-foot incline inside the mine, tore insulation from electric wires and ignited an accumulating of dust, causing the explosion, S. W. Blakeslee, superintendent, said.

PRETTY WOMAN IS VICTIM OF OHIO CLUBBER

Catherine Madden Dying in Hospital in Cleveland.

"GAS PIPE" USED

Assailant Escapes Following Brutal Attack.

CLEVELAND, March 31.—A pretty young woman, near death in Mt. Sinai hospital, following a brutal attack by a clubber here early today, has been identified as Miss Catherine Madden, of this city, by relatives.

Miss Madden had been reported missing on police records this morning and was said to have been wearing a nurse's uniform when last seen. The victim of the "gas pipe" attack was attired in a similar uniform.

She was about 25 years old.

Her assailant escaped and has not yet been apprehended.

Her skull was fractured by blows from the piece of pipe which was found near the scene of the attack.

William M. Harman, Aged 29, Dies Here; Funeral Tomorrow

William Meredith Harman, 29, died last night in his home, East Ninth street, after a week's illness of bronchial pneumonia.

Mr. Harman, who was born in Staunton, Va., where he attended military school, was employed as assistant purchasing agent by the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company. He was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

He is survived by his widow, nee Helen Campbell; one son, John; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Harman; three brothers, John T., Winnitt, P. and Edward H. Harman, all of New York city, and one sister, Mrs. Arthur Pettipas, of Pittsburgh.

FOUR BUILDING TRADE UNIONS RENEW PACTS ON WAGE SCALES

Carpenters, Bricklayers, Plasterers, Hod Carriers Sign.

PEACE ASSURED

Plumbers' Wage Scale Does Not Expire Until 1928.

Peace in the building trades for another year at least was virtually assured today following the adoption of new working agreements by four crafts.

One of the agreements, signed by the contractors and carpenters, is for a term of two years, beginning May 1, 1927. Pacts between employers and bricklayers, hod carriers and plasterers are for one year. No wage increases are provided.

Carpenters renewed their wage scale of $1.28 per hour, or $10.24 per day. Upon small jobs contractors will charge $12 per day for the men, while upon large jobs a 10 per cent fee for labor will be assessed by the employer.

Hod Carriers Asked Increase.

Bricklayers have also renewed their agreement of $1.50 per hour, or $12 per day. Hod carriers, who will receive 90 cents per hour, asked $1.25 per hour, but their demand, it is claimed, was not filed within the time limit and was not considered. As a result the old scale was approved.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her and offers her a contract. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE, and her baby, daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind."

CHAPTER TEN.

There was a young man she seemed to have seen somewhere before who had smiled at her in the diner. He dropped into a chair beside her; this in the observation car.

"You don't remember me," he said, rather moodily. He was thin, angular, with a long, bony face and a high forehead and blue eyes and a thick shock of black hair. "I'm Mr. De Brissac's head camera man. I worked in your test. My name is Henry O'Malley."

He talked interestingly of his work, and of de Brissac. Evidently he admired his chief. "The greatest in the business," was his judgment. "A tremendous artist. And you never saw such vitality. The man is a dynamic force. It's marvelous to see him handle people. You've had a little taste of that yourself. He takes no two alike. He bullies and cajoles and stimulates. He drives and he leads. Half the time he's just acting. Back of everything he's doing there's a cold brain working every minute. He never forgets the big plan. Give him about two more pictures and the would will know that he stands alone. You won't hear much about Griffith or Ingram or Cecil de Mille next year. It'll be all de Brissac.

Hattie asked herself if it was right to listen to this. But surely he don't mean that she was to speak to no living being. Besides, this Mr. O'Malley was his own man. And so when he suggested sitting outside, she yielded. From the moment they boarded the train she had wanted to sit out there.

They had the platform to themselves. A crisp wind was blowing, but she enjoyed letting it fan her cheeks and blow her hair around while her eyes roved over the pleasant green prairie of Kansas or watched the smooth ever-narrowing track. Even the advertising signs were exciting. It was hard to keep from telling him of the terribly fascinating new life into which she was rushing with the train.

He was an enthusiast. Finding her pliantly feminine, he was soon talking eagerly of himself, telling her of the invention that was to take him out of camera work before such a great while, make a millionaire of him. It was a device for synchronizing the human voice with perfectly colored pictures. "And that's only the beginning," he went on. "I'm working out a scheme for doing the whole thing by wireless. I'll sit in my own headquarters plant and throw a complete drama on the screen in any picture house in the United States or Canada—through the air, by Jove! I haven't got all the details worked out yet. It may take two or three years. But it's bound to come. And I'm bound to be there first with it. I'm crowding at it all the time—nights and Sundays—every minute I can get to myself."

Big-eyed she listened. He seemed very nice. Just an eager boy, really, though much older than herself; and he talked wonderfully, without frightening her as Mr. de Brissac did. When he invited her to lunch with him, she found it hard to decline. But Mr. de Brissac might not like that. Probably she'd better not let him talk to her much. And then the less she had to explain to Alice and Gran'ma the better. But it was pleasant. And the shock of the new experience seemed easier to endure when she let this other excitement possess her. It occurred to her now that she had promised to write Willie Mazzini, and she decided to do so after lunch; at the pretty desk in the observation compartment. The porter would mail it for her. She had seen a man give him a telegram. That would help, too, to keep her away from those books in Mr. de Brissac's compartment. She had decided not to look at those. It seemed to her that she couldn't. The simplest thing would be to dismiss them from her mind.

Mr. de Brissac was in the dining car when she went in with Alice and Emily. She noticed that he ate very lightly. He finished before they did, and went into a car ahead with another man, giving her a careless but courteous nod as he passed. On the way back through the train she saw that his door was open and that the books still lay there in the forward seat. The table had been removed. She felt her color rising again, and lingered a moment behind the others. For a brief time, in the drawing room, she tried to be pleasant with Gran'ma, who was inclined to be car sick. Then, determined she believed to be resolute in her resistance, she went out to the observation car. It would help to listen again to Mr. O'Malley, but he wasn't there. . . . And at last she went, with a guilty sensation, back to that compartment. It was the boldest act of her life thus far. She moved slowly past the open door; then, as slowly, returned and entered. And she read and read—unhappy at heart, starting at each passing footstep, yet unable to stop. She was appalled, when she thought to look at the new wrist watch of gunmental that was strapped about her wrist, to discover that two full hours had passed. She closed the thick book and stared out at the endless green prairie. It wouldn't do to go back until she could compose herself. Alice and Gran'ma musn't see her with this flush burning in her face. At that, they might read the truth there. She decided not to come into this compartment again.

Her dreams that night were dominated by a new sort of fear. Many times she awoke, trembling. She had always, until lately, slept like a healthy baby. It was strange now to lie in the stuffy little room—she was in the upper berth with Emily, Gran'ma below her and Alice on the narrow couch bed—and hear the three of the breathing and feel the swaying and jolting of the train and try to quiet her thoughts.

The morning brought newly exciting impressions; vivid pictures of yellow mountains and rocks and sand and gray-green little bushes and stretches of yellow-gray desert and queer clusters of Indian houses that might have been made out of toy blocks with ladders from a set of Jackstraws, all bathed in a clear warm sunlight of golden amber. At Albuquerque she took Emily for a walk on the platform, where real Indians in red blankets squatted amidst arrangements of bright pottery and baskets, and into the richly pleasing Indian house. She bought beaded moccasins for Emily. At the newsstand she borrowed a pencil and scribbled a postcard to Willie Mazzini, and another to Mrs. Mullane, and still another to Lucille. They would be immensely impressed. She could see the girls looking at the cards during the noon hour and could hear them talking excitedly about her. She even addressed one to Fred Schmandt, but after brief hesitation tore it up. She felt warmly toward all her old friends at the shop. Perhaps it would have been better to stay there.

The Young Girl Takes Up the Matter of Her New Spring Costume

In the spring a young girl's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of clothes and here are all her dreams transformed into reality. Such lovely, lovely things, that the selection of a spring wardrobe can be nothing but sheer pleasure. Let us show you how economically even a complete wardrobe may be acquired here for Miss 6 to 16.

First The Coat —

Such delightful ones, it's difficult to choose. Shall she take the boyish double breasted affair or a more dressy model? Here's one with a bit of stitching. There's one with fur. Such lovely materials, soft, light and warm, lined to match. And such colors — rich blues, deep red, green, warm tans, navy and copper, or these shades combined in fascinating plaids and mixtures.

Priced from $7.50 to $27.50.

Then The Frock —

Ah, what a problem! All so lovely and different, that one wants them all. Party frocks of taffeta and crepe de chine in delicate shades. Afternoon frocks in darker colors that take smartness from grown-up fashions and leave the sophistication out. Practical frocks of Rayon prints and ginghams that are simple and youthful. So many colors and fabrics. So many styles. Well, anyway, whichever is chosen, one cannot go wrong, they're all so lovely.

Priced from $1.95 to $21.50.

The Hat Is Important —

The smart young miss will wholly approve of these for they are the last word in Jeune fille fashions and the type one can start wearing now until mid-summer.

Fine, soft felt. Gleaming silks. Lovely straws. With rounded crowns and turned brims. Or pointed crowns and rims that may be moulded at will. In rose, French and other blues; Lanvin and other greens; gold, red, beige and tans.

Priced from $1.95 to $5.75.

A Bright Hand-Bag of Course—

How could it be otherwise when Fashion declares itself in favor of bright colors in handbags? The most cheerful shades imaginable—scarlet, bright green, blue, tan and combinations of color, to enliven one's darker coat or frock. Pouch or envelope styles — vanities, too — so whatever type one desires is certain to be included. In silk, leather, beads or embroidered fabrics.

Accessories for the Girl —

The well-dressed girl needs gloves to complete her costume, and she will want to select them from the newest styles which Paris approves. Perhaps they will have cuffs gaily embroidered or applied.

She must have a flower for the collor of her new coat; a gay scarf to tuck underneath the coat — and just the right color of hankie and the correct bit of jewelry. These accessories are necessary to complete the young girl's costume.

Last, But Not Least — Her Hosiery —

It may be silk — it may be of lisle — but certainly any preference can be gratified here. The new light shades for spring. The tans and greys that match one's footwear exactly and look so well with black shoes.

The misses' silk hose is very popular with growing girls. It is fashioned just like mother's and big sisters', but is unshaped so it fits snugly on undeveloped limbs. In lovely shades.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

"I'm Henry O'Malley, de Brissac's head camera man. I worked in your test."

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her and offers her a contract. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE, and her baby, daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind."

CHAPTER TEN.

There was a young man she seemed to have seen somewhere before who had smiled at her in the diner. He dropped into a chair beside her; this in the observation car.

"You don't remember me," he said, rather moodily. He was thin, angular, with a long, bony face and a high forehead and blue eyes and a thick shock of black hair. "I'm Mr. De Brissac's head camera man. I worked in your test. My name is Henry O'Malley."

He talked interestingly of his work, and of de Brissac. Evidently he admired his chief. "The greatest in the business," was his judgment. "A tremendous artist. And you never saw such vitality. The man is a dynamic force. It's marvelous to see him handle people. You've had a little taste of that yourself. He takes no two alike. He bullies and cajoles and stimulates. He drives and he leads. Half the time he's just acting. Back of everything he's doing there's a cold brain working every minute. He never forgets the big plan. Give him about two more pictures and the would will know that he stands alone. You won't hear much about Griffith or Ingram or Cecil de Mille next year. It'll be all de Brissac.

Hattie asked herself if it was right to listen to this. But surely he don't mean that she was to speak to no living being. Besides, this Mr. O'Malley was his own man. And so when he suggested sitting outside, she yielded. From the moment they boarded the train she had wanted to sit out there.

They had the platform to themselves. A crisp wind was blowing, but she enjoyed letting it fan her cheeks and blow her hair around while her eyes roved over the pleasant green prairie of Kansas or watched the smooth ever-narrowing track. Even the advertising signs were exciting. It was hard to keep from telling him of the terribly fascinating new life into which she was rushing with the train.

She closed the thick book and stared out at the endless green prairie. It wouldn't do to go back until she could compose herself. Alice and Gran'ma musn't see her with this flush burning in her face. At that, they might read the truth there. She decided not to come into this compartment again.

Her dreams that night were dominated by a new sort of fear. Many times she awoke, trembling. She had always, until lately, slept like a healthy baby. It was strange now to lie in the stuffy little room—she was in the upper berth with Emily, Gran'ma below her and Alice on the narrow couch bed—and hear the three of the breathing and feel the swaying and jolting of the train and try to quiet her thoughts.

The morning brought newly exciting impressions; vivid pictures of yellow mountains and rocks and sand and gray-green little bushes and stretches of yellow-gray desert and queer clusters of Indian houses that might have been made out of toy blocks with ladders from a set of Jackstraws, all bathed in a clear warm sunlight of golden amber. At Albuquerque she took Emily for a walk on the platform, where real Indians in red blankets squatted amidst arrangements of bright pottery and baskets, and into the richly pleasing Indian house. She bought beaded moccasins for Emily. At the newsstand she borrowed a pencil and scribbled a postcard to Willie Mazzini, and another to Mrs. Mullane, and still another to Lucille. They would be immensely impressed. She could see the girls looking at the cards during the noon hour and could hear them talking excitedly about her. She even addressed one to Fred Schmandt, but after brief hesitation tore it up. She felt warmly toward all her old friends at the shop. Perhaps it would have been better to stay there.

The Young Girl Takes Up the Matter of Her New Spring Costume

In the spring a young girl's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of clothes and here are all her dreams transformed into reality. Such lovely, lovely things, that the selection of a spring wardrobe can be nothing but sheer pleasure. Let us show you how economically even a complete wardrobe may be acquired here for Miss 6 to 16.

First The Coat —

Such delightful ones, it's difficult to choose. Shall she take the boyish double breasted affair or a more dressy model? Here's one with a bit of stitching. There's one with fur. Such lovely materials, soft, light and warm, lined to match. And such colors — rich blues, deep red, green, warm tans, navy and copper, or these shades combined in fascinating plaids and mixtures.

Priced from $7.50 to $27.50.

Then The Frock —

Ah, what a problem! All so lovely and different, that one wants them all. Party frocks of taffeta and crepe de chine in delicate shades. Afternoon frocks in darker colors that take smartness from grown-up fashions and leave the sophistication out. Practical frocks of Rayon prints and ginghams that are simple and youthful. So many colors and fabrics. So many styles. Well, anyway, whichever is chosen, one cannot go wrong, they're all so lovely.

Priced from $1.95 to $21.50.

The Hat Is Important —

The smart young miss will wholly approve of these for they are the last word in Jeune fille fashions and the type one can start wearing now until mid-summer.

Fine, soft felt. Gleaming silks. Lovely straws. With rounded crowns and turned brims. Or pointed crowns and rims that may be moulded at will. In rose, French and other blues; Lanvin and other greens; gold, red, beige and tans.

Priced from $1.95 to $5.75.

A Bright Hand-Bag of Course—

How could it be otherwise when Fashion declares itself in favor of bright colors in handbags? The most cheerful shades imaginable—scarlet, bright green, blue, tan and combinations of color, to enliven one's darker coat or frock. Pouch or envelope styles — vanities, too — so whatever type one desires is certain to be included. In silk, leather, beads or embroidered fabrics.

Accessories for the Girl —

The well-dressed girl needs gloves to complete her costume, and she will want to select them from the newest styles which Paris approves. Perhaps they will have cuffs gaily embroidered or applied.

She must have a flower for the collor of her new coat; a gay scarf to tuck underneath the coat — and just the right color of hankie and the correct bit of jewelry. These accessories are necessary to complete the young girl's costume.

Last, But Not Least — Her Hosiery —

It may be silk — it may be of lisle — but certainly any preference can be gratified here. The new light shades for spring. The tans and greys that match one's footwear exactly and look so well with black shoes.

The misses' silk hose is very popular with growing girls. It is fashioned just like mother's and big sisters', but is unshaped so it fits snugly on undeveloped limbs. In lovely shades.

Henry Ford in Auto Crash

Henry Ford, the Detroit billionaire, whose business success and his knack of doing something that nobody else has thought of has kept his name on the front page of the American newspaper for many years, is in his own hospital at Dearborn, Mich., today suffering from injuries received in an automobile crash.

Riding in a coupe made by his own factory, the motor king was crowded off a road near a bridge that spans the River Rouge, not far from his home, and his car hurled down a 15-foot embankment last Sunday night by two unidentified men in a larger machine.

Ford, who underwent a minor operation as a result of his injuries, insisted that news of his injuries should be suppressed, and no inkling of the automobile smash-up seeped through the consorship until yesterday, when it was revealed by his counsel in the million dollar libel suit trial in the Michigan metropolis.

Although the man who slashed the price of the automobile, sponsored the so-called peace ship, raised workers' wages and now is promoting a chain grocery store plan, deprecates the sugestion, newspaper writers today are hinting that the motor king was marked for assassination in the "accident."

While it is true that cranks often mark men like Ford for death, it is a safe wager that a thorough investigation of the collision which nearly cost the manufacturer his life will prove that it was another "road-hog" accident. Such crashes occur not infrequently in the East Liverpool district, and the reckless driver, as in the Ford smash-up, speeds away and leaves his victim unconscious and bleeding by the roadside. But no stone should be left unturned in police efforts to ascertain whether it was an "accident" or a "plot." And if the offenders are apprehended, punishment in keeping with the degree of the offense should be meted out.

Improving Musical Taste

"Musical taste in America has been raised higher than in any country of Europe today" said a music critic recently.

Any native music-lover hopes this true, and believes it may be when he considers some of the musical tendencies of recent years.

First has come the better teaching of music and music appreciation in the public schools. In some communities school credit is given for music practice. A great many boys and girls who will never themselves be musical performers have learned much about good music and have become familiar with a considerable amount of it. There is hardly a high school of any size that does not have its orchestra or its band as well as its school chorus.

The phonograph and then the radio brought the performance of great artists into small homes. Of course it brought jazz, too, but not to any such musically degrading extent as some people have feared.

The annual music memory contests now held in many communities have also helped to familiarize the public with great music and to show to even the humblest musical layman that there are charm and beauty and pleasure in classical works.

There is reason to be proud and happy about the development of this taste for music and to believe that it is still developing.

Money With a String To It

Here is the basis for another of those romances about legacies which must be used in a specified way or forfeited by the inheritor. J. Louis Schaefer, New York millionaire, left $19,000 outright and $2,500 yearly for the next 15 years to his secretary on the condition that she spend it all on herself and on no one else. She must sign a written agreement to that effect or lose the legacy. If at any time the trustees find her failing to live up to the agreement, they must revoke her title.

A good many people would say they'd be glad of the money under any circumstances. It is not so large a sum that it could not easily be spent on one person for travel, a home, a car, a hobby, or any favorite luxuries. But whether there would be much real joy in having money with such a string tied to it is another question.

Apparently a good deal is left to the judgment of those trustees. Wounl taking a member of her family for a drive or inviting them to visit in her home or giving them presents be considered spending money on them, or on herself?

Whatever is back of the provision in the will, it does seem a little unwise to try to tie the hands of an intelligent person in such a way.

Ignorance Preferred

When the producing company of that much-debated play, "Sex," went on trial the other day in New York, charged with conducting a public nuisance, "none who had seen the play were admissible as jurors."

Isn't that a curious thing, when you look at it not with a legad mind, but with a mind geared to ordinary common sense?

From the practical point of view, anyone would suppose that a person who had seen the play for himself, as one of an impartial audience, would be better able to decide whether it was a "public nuisance" or a legitimate drama than if he had to depend entirely on the statements of prejudiced witnesses, to the accompaniment of quarrelling lawyers.

The jury box is the only place in American life where we put a premium on ignorance.

THE DISTURBING ELEMENT.

The terrible tempered Mr. Pepper came home from business in an especially irritated frame of mind. The supper did not suit him; news of what had gone on in the household, as detailed by his patient wife, served only to put an added edge upon his grouch.

Through long experience, Mrs. Pepper knew the signs. In an effort to avert a storm, or at least in the hope of not being present when it burst, she hurried the children off to bed and then set out for a call upon one of the neighbors, leaving Mr Pepper in his favorite chair—if he had any favorite chair—with the library lamp placed where the light would fall just over his left shoulder and with the evening paper across his lap.

But Mr. Pepper declined to be soothed. A student of psychology would have said he registered disappointment. Everything was so peaceful and calm. There was no one within earshot with whom he might find fault.

As listlessly he took up the newspaper, a very small kitten came silently in through the half open door. As it crept across the floor toward him, Mr. Pepper, with the manner of one driven beyond control, flung the sheet from him and in a voice of thunder roared at the offending creature:

"What the devil do you mean by stamping in here like that!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 31. — Manhattan being the cynical community it is, young men are hesitant to appear in public with elderly ladies. They shrink from Broadway's suspicion of salaried chaperonage. The idea has doubtless been over exploited in several plays.

Yet there are more "crib yankers" than the ordinary mortal imagines. Matronly women, neglected by husbands or surfeited with middle aged ennui, drift nightly in large numbers to cafes, night clubs and theaters with their youthful collar ad. companions.

There are many good looking young men who have give up fine jobs for this easy moneyed life. The theme was glorified in a silly play called "New York Exchange." The idea, of course, being that Manhattan youth exchanges vibrant juvenility for dull slavery and gold.

They have left drab boarding houses for toney apartments and a subway rush for limousine leisure. They receive expensive gifts—such as pearl shirt sets, platinum wrist watches and cigarette cases and actual living expenses. But rarely cash.

That is the fly in the ointment for those known in Manhattanese as "a keptive." He is distinguished from the gigolo who hires himself out for dancing purposes to any one who will pay the price. The "keptive" must bestow his attention upon only one.

These attachments are not as sordid as they often appear. There is rarely anything of sex. It merely represents the gesture of lonely women reaching out in the ashes of maturity for a last final companionship with youth. And for this, tragically, they must pay.

There is pathos in watching them wherever they are. It is a picture of soiled young manhood attempting desperately to fight off boredom and of disillusioned women snatching for happiness — and missing. And to New York onlookers it is listed under the head of "Amusements."

It was a fad some time ago for ladies to collect narrow gold bracelets —the desired number being 36. The other evening a joyous blonde appeared in a cafe with her left arm entirely hidden with them. "Just the dea of a boy friend—full of gin," she explained naively. And added: "His papa sent him back to Yale yesterday."

There is a florist whose shop has a sneak-easy on either side and he does about the biggest business in town. There might be an idea there for a slick jewelry store.

"Ten Nights in a Bar Room," recently produced on the East Side, drew chiefly youngsters who reached a theater going age after saloons passed out. They viewed it as a sort of historical curiosity.

On Fifth Avenue there is a large corporation which furnishes sky line ad writing to clients desiring it. Several brief puffs of evanescent letters across the heavens cost about $800. It drifts off into space in a very few minutes. There are, I am told, only two skyline ad. writers in America. The hazards are great, for aside from carrying high powered and dangerous chemicals to produce the smoke, the ad. writing planes are so small the operator hasn't room for a parachute. If anything goes wrong, it is the end.

The letters are written backwards, as writing looks in a mirror. It is a job that calls for steady nerves and reckless courage.

A Russian safe creates atmosphere in slick fashion. Patrons receive whispered information from this employee and that that one of the waitresses is a real princess. When the place fills, an important group of aristocratic looking Russians arrive. When they see the princess, the men click their heels and the ladies drop almost to their knees with a curtsey. It is a cleverly staged stunt that brings the crowds. Most of the Russian nobility I have met have a custom of presenting their business cards before departing.

Work for the Handicapped—II.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—In his dealings with labor Henry Ford has erected two enduring monuments to himself, according to the industrial relations experts. One is his establishing a minimum wage of $5 a day, then increasing it to $6 and later to $7—a wage that other employers regarded as suicidal from a business standpoint. The second is his providing work for large numbers of physically deficient men. At one time almost one-third of the employees in one of the Ford plants were of this class.

There were more than 13,000 of these physically sub-standard men and women, it is reported in the survey made for the Welfare Council of New York by Miss Mary LaDame of the Russell Sage Foundation's department of industrial studies.

These included 5,000 workers with hernia, 1,290 with fingers amputated, 1032 with defective eyesight, 735 with crippled or deformed feet and legs, 639 with tuberculosis and other serious lung trouble, 417 with high blood pressure and other heart defects, 227 with crippled hands, 187 blind in one eye, 189 epileptic and mental cases, 152 with feet and legs amputated, 122 suffering from nervousness or shell shock, 111 hard of haring or deaf and dumb, 56 afflicted with paralysis, 51 totall; blind, 13 with hands amputated, and more than a thousand with other deformities or permanent ailments.

"It is particularly significant," says Miss LaDame's report, "to find an organization which places such emphasis on the efficiency of its personnel as the Ford Motor company does, employing so large a number of substandard workers. In April 1925, 30 per cent of 44,500 workers employed in the Highland Park plant alone were classified as physically sub-standard.

"The degree to which specialization is carried on in the Ford plants, and the large number of simple assembling and sorting jobs, are factors which make possible the employment of so large a percentage of handicapped workers. But intense specialization is not confined to the Ford plants and the implication seems clear that there are many jobs into which handicapped persons can be fitted, if employers can be induced to try them."

People who have undergone the experience of being without a job, and those who manage employment agencies, know that frequently it is a difficult task to find work for the normal and able-bodied. It is far more difficult when the jobless one is afflicted with some physical or mental disability.

His range of choice is more limited the report points out. He often lacks self-confidence, and he frequently finds employers prejudiced against him because, under the stress of modern industry, with its sped and danger of accident, they prefer workmen who are physically and mentally sound. To overcome prejudice and win success the handicapped needs good advice that he may choose his occupation wisely and prepare himself for its demands.

This preparation may have to include not only vocational training but medical treatment and the making of adjustments in his home life permit him to postpone wage earning until he is properly equipped for it. Finally, an intermediary may be necessary to open opportunities for him and others like him in their chosen fields of work.

Henry Ford in Auto Crash

Henry Ford, the Detroit billionaire, whose business success and his knack of doing something that nobody else has thought of has kept his name on the front page of the American newspaper for many years, is in his own hospital at Dearborn, Mich., today suffering from injuries received in an automobile crash.

Riding in a coupe made by his own factory, the motor king was crowded off a road near a bridge that spans the River Rouge, not far from his home, and his car hurled down a 15-foot embankment last Sunday night by two unidentified men in a larger machine.

Ford, who underwent a minor operation as a result of his injuries, insisted that news of his injuries should be suppressed, and no inkling of the automobile smash-up seeped through the consorship until yesterday, when it was revealed by his counsel in the million dollar libel suit trial in the Michigan metropolis.

Although the man who slashed the price of the automobile, sponsored the so-called peace ship, raised workers' wages and now is promoting a chain grocery store plan, deprecates the sugestion, newspaper writers today are hinting that the motor king was marked for assassination in the "accident."

While it is true that cranks often mark men like Ford for death, it is a safe wager that a thorough investigation of the collision which nearly cost the manufacturer his life will prove that it was another "road-hog" accident. Such crashes occur not infrequently in the East Liverpool district, and the reckless driver, as in the Ford smash-up, speeds away and leaves his victim unconscious and bleeding by the roadside. But no stone should be left unturned in police efforts to ascertain whether it was an "accident" or a "plot." And if the offenders are apprehended, punishment in keeping with the degree of the offense should be meted out.

Improving Musical Taste

"Musical taste in America has been raised higher than in any country of Europe today" said a music critic recently.

Any native music-lover hopes this true, and believes it may be when he considers some of the musical tendencies of recent years.

First has come the better teaching of music and music appreciation in the public schools. In some communities school credit is given for music practice. A great many boys and girls who will never themselves be musical performers have learned much about good music and have become familiar with a considerable amount of it. There is hardly a high school of any size that does not have its orchestra or its band as well as its school chorus.

The phonograph and then the radio brought the performance of great artists into small homes. Of course it brought jazz, too, but not to any such musically degrading extent as some people have feared.

The annual music memory contests now held in many communities have also helped to familiarize the public with great music and to show to even the humblest musical layman that there are charm and beauty and pleasure in classical works.

There is reason to be proud and happy about the development of this taste for music and to believe that it is still developing.

Henry Ford, the Detroit billionaire, whose business success and his knack of doing something that nobody else has thought of has kept his name on the front page of the American newspaper for many years, is in his own hospital at Dearborn, Mich., today suffering from injuries received in an automobile crash.

Riding in a coupe made by his own factory, the motor king was crowded off a road near a bridge that spans the River Rouge, not far from his home, and his car hurled down a 15-foot embankment last Sunday night by two unidentified men in a larger machine.

Ford, who underwent a minor operation as a result of his injuries, insisted that news of his injuries should be suppressed, and no inkling of the automobile smash-up seeped through the consorship until yesterday, when it was revealed by his counsel in the million dollar libel suit trial in the Michigan metropolis.

Although the man who slashed the price of the automobile, sponsored the so-called peace ship, raised workers' wages and now is promoting a chain grocery store plan, deprecates the sugestion, newspaper writers today are hinting that the motor king was marked for assassination in the "accident."

While it is true that cranks often mark men like Ford for death, it is a safe wager that a thorough investigation of the collision which nearly cost the manufacturer his life will prove that it was another "road-hog" accident. Such crashes occur not infrequently in the East Liverpool district, and the reckless driver, as in the Ford smash-up, speeds away and leaves his victim unconscious and bleeding by the roadside. But no stone should be left unturned in police efforts to ascertain whether it was an "accident" or a "plot." And if the offenders are apprehended, punishment in keeping with the degree of the offense should be meted out.

Improving Musical Taste

"Musical taste in America has been raised higher than in any country of Europe today" said a music critic recently.

Any native music-lover hopes this true, and believes it may be when he considers some of the musical tendencies of recent years.

First has come the better teaching of music and music appreciation in the public schools. In some communities school credit is given for music practice. A great many boys and girls who will never themselves be musical performers have learned much about good music and have become familiar with a considerable amount of it. There is hardly a high school of any size that does not have its orchestra or its band as well as its school chorus.

The phonograph and then the radio brought the performance of great artists into small homes. Of course it brought jazz, too, but not to any such musically degrading extent as some people have feared.

The annual music memory contests now held in many communities have also helped to familiarize the public with great music and to show to even the humblest musical layman that there are charm and beauty and pleasure in classical works.

There is reason to be proud and happy about the development of this taste for music and to believe that it is still developing.

Money With a String To It

Here is the basis for another of those romances about legacies which must be used in a specified way or forfeited by the inheritor. J. Louis Schaefer, New York millionaire, left $19,000 outright and $2,500 yearly for the next 15 years to his secretary on the condition that she spend it all on herself and on no one else. She must sign a written agreement to that effect or lose the legacy. If at any time the trustees find her failing to live up to the agreement, they must revoke her title.

A good many people would say they'd be glad of the money under any circumstances. It is not so large a sum that it could not easily be spent on one person for travel, a home, a car, a hobby, or any favorite luxuries. But whether there would be much real joy in having money with such a string tied to it is another question.

Apparently a good deal is left to the judgment of those trustees. Wounl taking a member of her family for a drive or inviting them to visit in her home or giving them presents be considered spending money on them, or on herself?

Whatever is back of the provision in the will, it does seem a little unwise to try to tie the hands of an intelligent person in such a way.

Ignorance Preferred

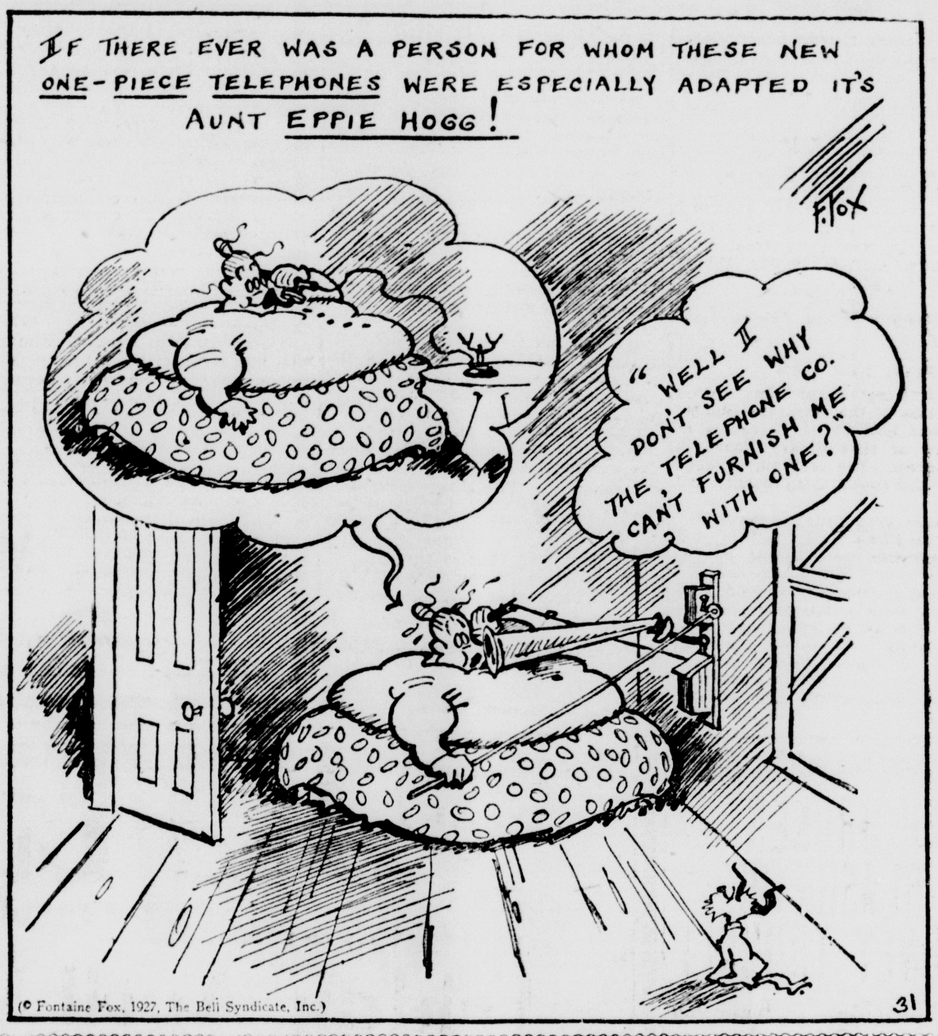

When the producing company of that much-debated play, "Sex," went on trial the other day in New York, charged with conducting a public nuisance, "none who had seen the play were admissible as jurors."

Isn't that a curious thing, when you look at it not with a legad mind, but with a mind geared to ordinary common sense?

From the practical point of view, anyone would suppose that a person who had seen the play for himself, as one of an impartial audience, would be better able to decide whether it was a "public nuisance" or a legitimate drama than if he had to depend entirely on the statements of prejudiced witnesses, to the accompaniment of quarrelling lawyers.

The jury box is the only place in American life where we put a premium on ignorance.

THE DISTURBING ELEMENT.

The terrible tempered Mr. Pepper came home from business in an especially irritated frame of mind. The supper did not suit him; news of what had gone on in the household, as detailed by his patient wife, served only to put an added edge upon his grouch.

Through long experience, Mrs. Pepper knew the signs. In an effort to avert a storm, or at least in the hope of not being present when it burst, she hurried the children off to bed and then set out for a call upon one of the neighbors, leaving Mr Pepper in his favorite chair—if he had any favorite chair—with the library lamp placed where the light would fall just over his left shoulder and with the evening paper across his lap.

But Mr. Pepper declined to be soothed. A student of psychology would have said he registered disappointment. Everything was so peaceful and calm. There was no one within earshot with whom he might find fault.

As listlessly he took up the newspaper, a very small kitten came silently in through the half open door. As it crept across the floor toward him, Mr. Pepper, with the manner of one driven beyond control, flung the sheet from him and in a voice of thunder roared at the offending creature:

"What the devil do you mean by stamping in here like that!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 31. — Manhattan being the cynical community it is, young men are hesitant to appear in public with elderly ladies. They shrink from Broadway's suspicion of salaried chaperonage. The idea has doubtless been over exploited in several plays.

Yet there are more "crib yankers" than the ordinary mortal imagines. Matronly women, neglected by husbands or surfeited with middle aged ennui, drift nightly in large numbers to cafes, night clubs and theaters with their youthful collar ad. companions.

There are many good looking young men who have give up fine jobs for this easy moneyed life. The theme was glorified in a silly play called "New York Exchange." The idea, of course, being that Manhattan youth exchanges vibrant juvenility for dull slavery and gold.

They have left drab boarding houses for toney apartments and a subway rush for limousine leisure. They receive expensive gifts—such as pearl shirt sets, platinum wrist watches and cigarette cases and actual living expenses. But rarely cash.

That is the fly in the ointment for those known in Manhattanese as "a keptive." He is distinguished from the gigolo who hires himself out for dancing purposes to any one who will pay the price. The "keptive" must bestow his attention upon only one.

These attachments are not as sordid as they often appear. There is rarely anything of sex. It merely represents the gesture of lonely women reaching out in the ashes of maturity for a last final companionship with youth. And for this, tragically, they must pay.

There is pathos in watching them wherever they are. It is a picture of soiled young manhood attempting desperately to fight off boredom and of disillusioned women snatching for happiness — and missing. And to New York onlookers it is listed under the head of "Amusements."

It was a fad some time ago for ladies to collect narrow gold bracelets —the desired number being 36. The other evening a joyous blonde appeared in a cafe with her left arm entirely hidden with them. "Just the dea of a boy friend—full of gin," she explained naively. And added: "His papa sent him back to Yale yesterday."

There is a florist whose shop has a sneak-easy on either side and he does about the biggest business in town. There might be an idea there for a sick jewelry store.

"Ten Nights in a Bar Room," recently produced on the East Side, drew chiefly youngsters who reached a theater going age after saloons passed out. They viewed it as a sort of historical curiosity.

On Fifth Avenue there is a large corporation which furnishes sky line ad writing to clients desiring it. Several brief puffs of evanescent letters across the heavens cost about $800. It drifts off into space in a very few minutes. There are, I am told, only two skyline ad. writers in America. The hazards are great, for aside from carrying high powered and dangerous chemicals to produce the smoke, he ad. writing planes are so small the operator hasn't room for a parachute. If anything goes wrong, it is the end.

The letters are written backwards, as writing looks in a mirror. It is a job that calls for steady nerves and reckless courage.

A Russian safe creates atmosphere in slick fashion. Patrons receive whispered information from this employe and that that one of the waitresses is a real princess. When the place fills, an important group of aristocratic looking Russians arrive. When they see the princess, the men click their heels and the ladies drop almost to their knees with a curtsy. It is a cleverly staged stunt that brings the crowds. Most of the Russian nobility I have met have a custom of presenting their business cards before departing.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Work for the Handicapped—II.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—In his dealings with labor Henry Ford has erected two enduring monuments to himself, according to the industrial relations experts. One is his establishing a minimum wage of $5 a day, then increasing it to $6 and later to $7—a wage that other employers regarded as suicidal from a business standpoint. The second is his providing work for large numbers of physically deficient men. At one time almost one-third of the employees in one of the Ford plants were of this class.

There were more than 13,000 of these physically sub-standard men and women, it is reported in the survey made for the Welfare Council of New York by Miss Mary LaDame of the Russell Sage Foundation's department of industrial studies.

These included 5,000 workers with hernia, 1,290 with fingers amputated, 1032 with defective eyesight, 735 with crippled or deformed feet and legs, 639 with tuberculosis and other serious lung trouble, 417 with high blood pressure and other heart defects, 227 with crippled hands, 187 blind in one eye, 189 epileptic and mental cases, 152 with feet and legs amputated, 122 suffering from nervousness or shell shock, 111 hard of haring or deaf and dumb, 56 afflicted with paralysis, 51 totally blind, 13 with hands amputated, and more than a thousand with other deformities or permanent ailments.

"It is particularly significant," says Miss LaDame's report, "to find an organization which places such emphasis on the efficiency of its personnel as the Ford Motor company does, employing so large a number of substandard workers. In April 1925, 30 per cent of 44,500 workers employed in the Highland Park plant alone were classified as physically sub-standard.

"The degree to which specialization is carried on in the Ford plants, and the large number of simple assembling and sorting jobs, are factors which make possible the employment of so large a percentage of handicapped workers. But intense specialization is not confined to the Ford plants and the implication seems clear that there are many jobs into which handicapped persons can be fitted, if employers can be induced to try them."

People who have undergone the experience of being without a job, and those who manage employment agencies, know that frequently it is a difficult task to find work for the normal and able-bodied. It is far more difficult when the jobless one is afflicted with some physical or mental disability.

His range of choice is more limited the report points out. He often lacks self-confidence, and he frequently finds employers prejudiced against him because, under the stress of modern industry, with its sped and danger of accident, they prefer workmen who are physically and mentally sound. To overcome prejudice and win success the handicapped needs good advice that he may choose his occupation wisely and prepare himself for its demands.

This preparation may have to include not only vocational training but medical treatment and the making of adjustments in his home life permit him to postpone wage earning until he is properly equipped for it. Finally, an intermediary may be necessary to open opportunities for him and others like him in their chosen fields of work.

Out of the peculiar employment problems of the handicapped, superimposed upon the difficulties which the able-bodied have in choosing and

Ice Cream Important Feature in United States Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON.—Ice cream—some in powdered form, the rest frozen—makes up an important feature of America's foreign trade with the Far East and Latin America, according to the Department of Commerce.

Most of the ice cream shipped to South America is concentrated in powder.

The first experiment in exporting ice cream from United States to China took place in 1925, when a shipment of ten gallons in quart bricks, was shipped from the Pacific Coast to Shanghai.

The demand increased until in 1925 one firm alone shipped 9,000 gallons of ice cream in frozen bricks and 167,000 frozen ice cream bars to Chinese customers.

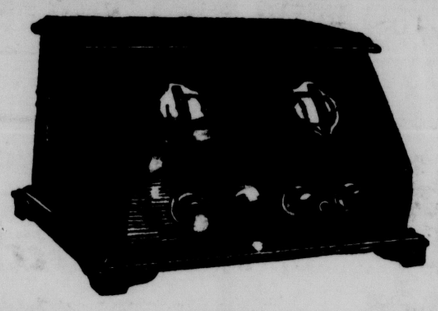

Frozen ice cream is shipped only to Shanghai, of the far Eastern ports, and is consumed largely by the foreign population, although a taste for the delicacy is being ecquired by the better class of Chinese.

Mrs. Foster Welch, who is the first woman to be elected sheriff in any county boroough of England or Wales, has just taken office at Southampton, England.

SENATE ROAD PLAN SHELVED

House Votes for County Unit in Distribution of Funds.

Distribution of state road funds on an 80-20 basis was approved yesterday by the house of delegates when 63 members voted for this method of apportioning funds as against 27 who favored the senate's preferential plan.

Other amendments, one of which raised the total from $12,500,000 set by the senate to the $15,000,000 initially proposed, were adopted without question or record vote, but more difference of opinion asserted itself when the amendment covering distribution of funds was reached.

The senate bill had provided that $2,000,000 be spent on seven designated routes, while the remainder of the issue be divided as before on the basis of 80 per cent to the counties in proportion to their road mileage and 20 per cent in the discretion of the road commission, but with provision for spending some of this also on the seven routes. The section which replaced that by the house amendment rewrites the previous bond laws putting all the money on the 80-20 per cent basis.

Delegate Hall opened the fire against this provision with a demand that the house go on record definitely as favoring or opposing the designation of routes in the senate bill and furnish some ground on which to meet the senate. In his talk he refused to route 8 with the declaration that "although Mingo county had bonded itself heavily for road work, it was impossible to get out of Williamson unless you ride a horse." He asked that the house committee amendment be defeated and promised that, if this were done he would offer one to insert route 4, center of much of the opposition in the favored list.

SCHOOL LEAGUE GAMES STAGED

Triangle baseball league composed of students and faculty members of the Chester high school got under way this week with games played on the Rock Springs park field.

Monday night the Straight Angles won from the Central Angles by a score of 11 to 6. Bartley, who hurled for the winners struck out 11 batters. Johnson twirled for the losers.

Right Angles downed the Straight Angles Tuesday evening by a score of 11 to 7. Superintendent Rabenstein was on the mound for the losing team, while Hannen pitched for the winners. Rabenstein issued seven bases on balls while Hennen was steady at critical points.

Central Angles trimmed the Right Angles last night by a score of 7 to 6. Rummel started in the box for the Right Angles but gave way to Hannen after he had walked seven batters. Simcox won his own game with a timely bingle.

Tonight a picked team from the league will play Newell High school on the Rock Springs diamond.

'CASEY AT BAT' SCREEN WINNER

Wallace Beery Scores in Hilarious Comedy at Ceramic.

In Paramount's hilarious comedy, "Casey at the Bat," which made its local bow at the Ceramic yesterday, Wallace Beery signs a contract to play baseball for the old New York Giants and almost wrecks the entire league with his escapades.

Hailed as a "find," Beery, a small town junk dealer, enters the "big-time." So popular does the redheaded Irishman become that he soon emerges as the Babe Ruth of 1901. Funny as Beery was in "Behind the Front" and "We're in the Navy Now," he's even more humorous as baseball's famous "Casey."

Casey proves himself a home run hitter by knocking a four-bagger with a bat in one hand an a stein of beer in the other. Vamped by several members of the Floradora Sextette, he almost stops the show by crashing in to the orchestra pit while climbing on the stage for a personal appearance. Above all, Beery's ability to appear hopelessly foolish makes the picture uproariously entertaining.

The entire cast contributes much to the film's success. Ford Sterling gives a sterling characterization as a big league scout. ZaSu Pitts, the home town girl, is at her best and Sterling Holloway does his crafty plotting humorously.

FORMER AUDITOR DEMANDS SALARY

An alternative writ of mandamus to compel State Auditor Sam Mallison to pay $1,875 salary from November 1 to March 15 was asked in a petition filed with the supreme court yesterday by John C. Bond, former auditor.

The salary is for the period between the date of Bond's suspension by Governor Gore and the date of his resignation which was the day before he was scheduled to have gone on trial before the state senate for the alleged irregularities in office which caused Governor Gore to suspend him.

Bond contends that his suspension was unconstitutional and that he was the auditor of West Virginia until he resigned.

SENATE ROAD PLAN SHELVED

House Votes for County Unit in Distribution of Funds.

Distribution of state road funds on an 80-20 basis was approved yesterday by the house of delegates when 63 members voted for this method of apportioning funds as against 27 who favored the senate's preferential plan.

Other amendments, one of which raised the total from $12,500,000 set by the senate to the $15,000,000 initially proposed, were adopted without question or record vote, but more difference of opinion asserted itself when the amendment covering distribution of funds was reached.

The senate bill had provided that $2,000,000 be spent on seven designated routes, while the remainder of the issue be divided as before on the basis of 80 per cent to the counties in proportion to their road mileage and 20 per cent in the discretion of the road commission, but with provision for spending some of this also on the seven routes. The section which replaced that by the house amendment rewrites the previous bond laws putting all the money on the 80-20 per cent basis.

Delegate Hall opened the fire against this provision with a demand that the house go on record definitely as favoring or opposing the designation of routes in the senate bill and furnish some ground on which to meet the senate. In his talk he refused to route 8 with the declaration that "although Mingo county had bonded itself heavily for road work, it was impossible to get out of Williamson unless you ride a horse." He asked that the house committee amendment be defeated and promised that, if this were done he would offer one to insert route 4, center of much of the opposition in the favored list.

SCHOOL LEAGUE GAMES STAGED

Triangle baseball league composed of students and faculty members of the Chester high school got under way this week with games played on the Rock Springs park field.

Monday night the Straight Angles won from the Central Angles by a score of 11 to 6. Bartley, who hurled for the winners struck out 11 batters. Johnson twirled for the losers.

Right Angles downed the Straight Angles Tuesday evening by a score of 11 to 7. Superintendent Rabenstein was on the mound for the losing team, while Hannen pitched for the winners. Rabenstein issued seven bases on balls while Hennen was steady at critical points.

Central Angles trimmed the Right Angles last night by a score of 7 to 6 Rummel started in the box for the Right Angles but gave way to Hannen after he had walked seven batters Simcox won his own game with a timely bingle.

Tonight a picked team from the league will play Newell High school on the Rock Springs diamond.

'CASEY AT BAT' SCREEN WINNER

Wallace Beery Scores in Hilarious Comedy at Ceramic.

In Paramount's hilarious comedy, "Casey at the Bat," which made its local bow at the Ceramic yesterday, Wallace Beery signs a contract to play baseball for the old New York Giants and almost wrecks the entire league with his escapades.

Hailed as a "find," Beery, a small town junk dealer, enters the "big-time." So popular does the redheaded Irishman become that he soon emerges as the Babe Ruth of 1901. Funny as Beery was in "Behind the Front" and "We're in the Navy Now," he's even more humorous as baseball's famous "Casey."

Casey proves himself a home run hitter by knocking a four-bagger with a bat in one hand an a stein of beer in the other. Vamped by several members of the Floradora Sextette, he almost stops the show by crashing in to the orchestra pit while climbing on the stage for a personal appearance. Above all, Beery's ability to appear hopelessly foolish makes the picture uproariously entertaining.

The entire cast contributes much to the film's success. Ford Sterling gives a sterling characterization as a big league scout. ZaSu Pitts, the home town girl, is at her best and Sterling Holloway does his crafty plotting humorously.

ALL IN READINESS FOR SOFT COAL MINING STRIKE

150,000 MEN WILL WALK OUT AT MIDNIGHT

Tie-up Will Follow Dispute Over Wage Scale.

OHIO AFFECTED

Rapid Falling Off in Production in State.

COLUMBUS, March 31.—An invitation to call a joint conference of miners and operators in the state of Ohio, in an effort to reach a wage agreement which would avert the walkout of miners scheduled tomorrow, has been sent by Lee Hall, president of the Ohio union miners to S. H. Robbins, president of the Ohio Coal Operators' association, Hall revealed today.

CHICAGO, March 31.—All was in readiness today for suspension of soft coal mining at midnight tonight in the central competitive field, embracing western Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana.

Some 150,000 members of the United Mine Workers' union and virtually all of the bituminous coal mines in the area will be affected by the suspension, which follows the expiration of the Jacksonville wage scale.

The union wants a new contract providing substantially the same basic pay as the Jacksonville agreement—$7.50 a day or a proportionate amount to miners working on a tonnage basis.

The operators, claiming they cannot compete under that wage scale with non-union fields in West Virginia and Kentucky, want the miners to accept a reduction.

No Hope for Agreement.

An attempt was made at the recent Miami conference to draw up a new contract, but the apparently wide gulf separating the aims of operators and miners, resulted in a disagreement.

Since the disagreement John L. Lewis, president of the miners' union, proposed that operators continue to pay the Jacksonville scale pending agreement on a new contract.

This proposal has been generally rejected, according to officials of the various operators' organizations. Union officials maintain however, that it has been favorably received in many areas.

Rice Miller, president of the coal operators' association of Illinois, declared today there was slight hope for a last-minute agreement as the operators expected the union to enter a conference with the understanding that lower wages would be accepted.

No Importation of Strike Breakers.

Miller declared today the Illinois operators were not expecting to import strikebreakers.

"We have no intention of breaking up the union," he said.

The early spring and presence of large stocks of coal above ground were factors in support of the belief that the suspension might extend at least well into the summer.

Illinois, one of the greatest bituminous coal producing states in the union, turned out 68,000,000 tons last year.

"We could have produced double that amount," said Miller, "but we can't sell that much in competition with non-union West Virginia and Kentucky fields the wage scales of which are some $2 a day less than ours."

Coal Bureau Figures.

CLEVELAND, March 31. — On the eve of the shutdown of Ohio mines, which amounts to a virtual suspension of the coal mining industry in this state, the Ohio coal bureau has made public the following figures in an endeavor to show the rapid falling off in production of coal in Ohio during the last few years.

Union wage scales which Ohio operators claim have placed them at a disadvantage in competing with non-union mines in West Virginia, and other coal-mining districts, are cited by the bureau as reasons for the decline.

According to the table of figures the number of men employed in mining operations in this state decreased from 55 935 in 1923 to 44,333 in 1924, and to 39,900 in 1925.

Production totaled 40,904,275 tons in 1923; 30,096,893 in 1924 and 27,514,760 in 1925, according to the chart.

Operators Meet at Toledo.

Ohio coal operators are scheduled to meet in conference at Toledo today but, according to S. H. Robbins, president of the organization, the meeting will not affect the stand taken by the association in refusing to accept the proposal by the miners' union which offered to continue work at the present scale, pending further negotiations.

The Jacksonville agreement expires at midnight tonight.

No immediate effect on the consumer is expected, owing to the large supplies of coal on hand and the near approach of summer.

The most serious aftermath of the suspension will probably be felt in the economic life of the districts where coal mining is virtually the only industry.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 31.—A brilliant advance in the speculative railroad stocks combined with the sharp declines in the independent oils to produce an unsettled condition in the market in early trading today. Further recoveries in the motor stocks were matched by fresh downward moves in the industrials and specialties.

The fury of speculative selling broke in full force over the independent oil stocks as calculations showed that the big earners of last year would make no such showing this year. Marland Oil, Phillips, Skelly and the Standard Oils dropped in confusion to the lowest levels of the year as huge blocks of the stock were thrown on the market in the first hour.

death of Anania, after police had been notified by Dr. Michaels. Conley said that Rini and Mrs. Chorgas were in the apartment when he entered.

The Chorgas woman, Conley said, told him that Anania had cut himself while carving meat with a broken bladed butcher knife, introduced as evidence. Rini did not explain how Anania had been wounded, the witness said. The police captain was cross-examined by Attorney W. A. O'Grady.

Dr. Michaels testified that he was called shortly after 10 o'clock by telephone by Rini, who said that "Patsy Anania had hurt himself" and he thought "Patsy was passing out." Michaels said when he arrived, Anania had been dead at least an hour.

Michaels told about adhesive tape being over Anania's heart. He said that the wound in the skin was about one half inch in length. He declared he left the body as he found it.

Under cross-examination by O'Grady Dr. Michaels said that Rini had told him that Anania said, "Don't go for a doctor," but Rini admitted he went out and purchased some iodine, peroxide and tape "to keep the poison out."

Michaels also testified that the knife introduced as an exhibit would not have caused the wound.

Dr. Bailey Testifies.

Dr. Bailey, who assisted in the autopsy over the body of Anania, described the wound. Cross-examined by O'Grady, he said the wound could be caused by any sharp instrument.

Patrolman William Lister, last witness on the stand before the noon recess, testified that Anania was dead when he arrived at the Rini apartment. He said that Mrs. Chorgas old him the knife slipped when Anania was cutting meat, and that Anania had cut himself. Lister said he was given the knife, and he in turn passed it to Captain Conley. Under cross-examination, he testified raw meat was in the kitchen.

RUSINESS SOLICITED

ALL IN READINESS FOR SOFT COAL MINING STRIKE

150,000 MEN WILL WALK OUT AT MIDNIGHT

Tie-up Will Follow Dispute Over Wage Scale.

OHIO AFFECTED

Rapid Falling Off in Production in State.

COLUMBUS, March 31.—An invitation to call a joint conference of miners and operators in the state of Ohio, in an effort to reach a wage agreement which would avert the walkout of miners scheduled tomorrow, has been sent by Lee Hall, president of the Ohio union miners to S. H. Robbins, president of the Ohio Coal Operators' association, Hall revealed today.

CHICAGO, March 31.—All was in readiness today for suspension of soft coal mining at midnight tonight in the central competitive field, embracing western Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana.

Some 150,000 members of the United Mine Workers' union and virtually all of the bituminous coal mines in the area will be affected by the suspension, which follows the expiration of the Jacksonville wage scale.

The union wants a new contract providing substantially the same basic pay as the Jacksonville agreement—$7.50 a day or a proportionate amount to miners working on a tonnage basis.

The operators, claiming they cannot compete under that wage scale with non-union fields in West Virginia and Kentucky, want the miners to accept a reduction.

No Hope for Agreement.

An attempt was made at the recent Miami conference to draw up a new contract, but the apparently wide gulf separating the aims of operators and miners, resulted in a disagreement.

Since the disagreement John L. Lewis, president of the miners' union, proposed that operators continue to pay the Jacksonville scale pending agreement on a new contract.

This proposal has been generally rejected, according to officials of the various operators' organizations. Union officials maintain however, that it has been favorably received in many areas.

Rice Miller, president of the coal operators' association of Illinois, declared today there was slight hope for a last-minute agreement as the operators expected the union to enter a conference with the understanding that lower wages would be accepted.

No Importation of Strike Breakers.

Miller declared today the Illinois operators were not expecting to import strikebreakers.

"We have no intention of breaking up the union," he said.

The early spring and presence of large stocks of coal above ground were factors in support of the belief that the suspension might extend at least well into the summer.

Illinois, one of the greatest bituminous coal producing states in the union, turned out 68,000,000 tons last year.

"We could have produced double that amount," said Miller, "but we can't sell that much in competition with non-union West Virginia and Kentucky fields the wage scales of which are some $2 a day less than ours."

Coal Bureau Figures.

CLEVELAND, March 31. — On the eve of the shutdown of Ohio mines, which amounts to a virtual suspension of the coal mining industry in this state, the Ohio coal bureau has made public the following figures in an endeavor to show the rapid falling off in production of coal in Ohio during the last few years.

Union wage scales which Ohio operators claim have placed them at a disadvantage in competing with non-union mines in West Virginia, and other coal-mining districts, are cited by the bureau as reasons for the decline.

According to the table of figures he number of men employed in mining operations in this state decreased from 55 935 in 1923 to 44,333 in 1924, and to 39,900 in 1925.

Production totaled 40,904,275 tons in 1923; 30,096,893 in 1924 and 27,514,760 in 1925, according to the chart.

Operators Meet at Toledo.

Ohio coal operators are scheduled to meet in conference at Toledo today but, according to S. H. Robbins, president of the organization, he meeting will not affect the stand taken by the association in refusing to accept the proposal by the miners' union which offered to continue work at the present scale, pending further negotiations.

The Jacksonville agreement expires at midnight tonight.

No immediate effect on the consumer is expected, owing to the large supplies of coal on hand and the near approach of summer.

The most serious aftermath of the suspension will probably be felt in the economic life of the districts where coal mining is virtually the only industry.

ALL IN READINESS FOR SOFT COAL MINING STRIKE

150,000 MEN WILL WALK OUT AT MIDNIGHT

Tie-up Will Follow Dispute Over Wage Scale.

OHIO AFFECTED

Rapid Falling Off in Production in State.

COLUMBUS, March 31.—An invitation to call a joint conference of miners and operators in the state of Ohio, in an effort to reach a wage agreement which would avert the walkout of miners scheduled tomorrow, has been sent by Lee Hall, president of the Ohio union miners to S. H. Robbins, president of the Ohio Coal Operators' association, Hall revealed today.

CHICAGO, March 31.—All was in readiness today for suspension of soft coal mining at midnight tonight in the central competitive field, embracing western Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana.

Some 150,000 members of the United Mine Workers' union and virtually all of the bituminous coal mines in the area will be affected by the suspension, which follows the expiration of the Jacksonville wage scale.

The union wants a new contract providing substantially the same basic pay as the Jacksonville agreement—$7.50 a day or a proportionate amount to miners working on a tonnage basis.

The operators, claiming they cannot compete under that wage scale with non-union fields in West Virginia and Kentucky, want the miners to accept a reduction.

No Hope for Agreement.

An attempt was made at the recent Miami conference to draw up a new contract, but the apparently wide gulf separating the aims of operators and miners, resulted in a disagreement.

Since the disagreement John L. Lewis, president of the miners' union, proposed that operators continue to pay the Jacksonville scale pending agreement on a new contract.

This proposal has been generally rejected, according to officials of the various operators' organizations. Union officials maintain however, that it has been favorably received in many areas.

Rice Miller, president of the coal operators' association of Illinois, declared today there was slight hope for a last-minute agreement as the operators expected the union to enter a conference with the understanding that lower wages would be accepted.

No Importation of Strike Breakers.

Miller declared today the Illinois operators were not expecting to import strikebreakers.

"We have no intention of breaking up the union," he said.

The early spring and presence of large stocks of coal above ground were factors in support of the belief that the suspension might extend at least well into the summer.

Illinois, one of the greatest bituminous coal producing states in the union, turned out 68,000,000 tons last year.

"We could have produced double that amount," said Miller, "but we can't sell that much in competition with non-union West Virginia and Kentucky fields the wage scales of which are some $2 a day less than ours."

Coal Bureau Figures.

CLEVELAND, March 31. — On the eve of the shutdown of Ohio mines, which amounts to a virtual suspension of the coal mining industry in this state, the Ohio coal bureau has made public the following figures in an endeavor to show the rapid falling off in production of coal in Ohio during the last few years.

Union wage scales which Ohio operators claim have placed them at a disadvantage in competing with non-union mines in West Virginia, and other coal-mining districts, are cited by the bureau as reasons for the decline.

According to the table of figures the number of men employed in mining operations in this state decreased from 55,935 in 1923 to 44,333 in 1924, and to 39,900 in 1925.

Production totaled 40,904,275 tons in 1923; 30,096,893 in 1924 and 27,514,760 in 1925, according to the chart.

Operators Meet at Toledo.

Ohio coal operators are scheduled to meet in conference at Toledo today but, according to S. H. Robbins, president of the organization, the meeting will not affect the stand taken by the association in refusing to accept the proposal by the miners' union which offered to continue work at the present scale, pending further negotiations.

The Jacksonville agreement expires at midnight tonight.

No immediate effect on the consumer is expected, owing to the large supplies of coal on hand and the near approach of summer.

The most serious aftermath of the suspension will probably be felt in the economic life of the districts where coal mining is virtually the only industry.

Suspects Seek Freedom

death of Anania, after police had been notified by Dr. Michaels. Conley said that Rini and Mrs. Chorgas were in the apartment when he entered.

The Chorgas woman, Conley said, told him that Anania had cut himself while carving meat with a broken bladed butcher knife, introduced as evidence. Rini did not explain how Anania had been wounded, the witness said. The police captain was cross-examined by Attorney W. A. O'Grady.

Dr. Michaels testified that he was called shortly after 10 o'clock by telephone by Rini, who said that "Patsy Anania had hurt himself" and he thought "Patsy was passing out." Michaels said when he arrived, Anania had been dead at least an hour.

Michaels told about adhesive tape being over Anania's heart. He said that the wound in the skin was about one half inch in length. He declared he left the body as he found it.

Under cross-examination by O'Grady Dr. Michaels said that Rini had told him that Anania said, "Don't go for a doctor," but Rini admitted he went out and purchased some iodine, per oxide and tape "to keep the poison out."

Michaels also testified that the knife introduced as an exhibit would not have caused the wound.

Dr. Bailey Testifies.

Dr. Bailey, who assisted in the autopsy over the body of Anania, described the wound. Cross-examined by O'Grady, he said the wound could be caused by any sharp instrument.

Patrolman William Lister, last witness on the stand before the noon recess, testified that Anania was dead when he arrived at the Rini apartment. He said that Mrs. Chorgas old him the knife slipped when Anania was cutting meat, and that Anania had cut himself. Lister said he was given the knife, and he in turn passed it to Captain Conley. Under cross-examination, he testified raw meat was in the kitchen.

Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, of East Liverpool, was the last witness called in the afternoon session.

Opposing attorneys began arguments at 1:30 o'clock.

THE wife of Gen. Ludendorff tells a great audience in Berlin that "Free Masons conspired with Jesuits and Jews to control Germany and the whole world."

Frau Ludendorff has another new idea. Christianity, she says, can't protect Germany from the Free Mason-Jesuit-Jewish combination. Therefore, Germany should go back to the old Niebelungen religion, with solemn Wotan, irritable Fricka, fertile Erda and the rest. The speech was enthusiastically applauded, which shows that you can find believers for anything if you say it seriously.

Child-birth

THOUSANDS of mothers for over three generations have praised Mother's Friend for relieving them of unnecessary pains during expectancy.

"Everyone was surprised how well I got along," writes Mrs. Alfred E. Ammon, Muncie, Ind. "My pains disappeared after using Mother's Friend and I was sick only an hour and a half at baby's birth."

BOO, LOUISIANA DERBY WINNER

Here is Boo, Goldie Johnson in the saddle, winner of the $15,000 Louisiana Derby, New Orleans. Boo, owned by Col. E. R. Bradley, is one of the chief hopes of that breeder to repeat as a winner in the Kentucky Derby, which Bradley won last year with Bubbling Over. Boo covered the mile and an eighth route in the Louisiana Derby in 1:51 4-5, which is only 3-5 seconds slower than the record set by his stablemate, Bagenbaggage, in the same race in 1926.

14 DANCERS IN "DON JUAN"

John Barrymore Stars in Picture at American.

Of particular appeal to the lovers of interpretive dancing are the unique performances of the fourteen Marian Morgan dancers who display their charms and talents in the Lucretia Borgia feast sequence of Warner Brothers' production of "Don Juan," starring John Barrymore, now at the American theatre.

Seven men and seven women arrayed exactly alike in leopard skins and garlands, whirl, twist, turn, leap and fly through rythmically changing figures of faultless composition and matchless beauty. There are few sensations to compare in pleasure with that of watching the mature and perfectly modeled human figure in sure, graceful and intricate movement, accompanied by spirited and harmonius music.

In a setting of luxurious elegance in the great hall of the magnificent Borgia palace in Rome, they impart the finishing sybaritic touch to the bacchanalian orgy, just as it occurred in those voluptious days when the entrancingly lovely but wanton and wicked Lucretia Borgia made of the wealth and splendor of Renaissance Rome a magnificent frame for her own scintillant personality.

The dances for this sequence were composed especially for "Don Juan" in an attempt to impart to them the licentious, pagan feeling of the times when man lived for pleasure alone and man's only appeal to justice lay in his own strength and cunning.

The picture was directed by Alan Crosland.

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S. S. S. is the best." Earl C. BOO, LOUISIANA DERBY WINNER

Here is Boo, Goldie Johnson in the saddle, winner of the $15,000 Louisiana Derby, New Orleans. Boo, owned by Col. E. R. Bradley, is one of the chief hopes of that breeder to repeat as a winner in the Kentucky Derby, which Bradley won last year with Bubbling Over. Boo covered the mile and an eighth route in the Louisiana Derby in 1:51 4-5, which is only 3-5 seconds slower than the record set by his stablemate, Bagenbaggage, in the same race in 1926.

14 DANCERS IN "DON JUAN"

John Barrymore Stars in Picture at American.

Of particular appeal to the lovers of interpretive dancing are the unique performances of the fourteen Marian Morgan dancers who display their charms and talents in the Lucretia Borgia feast sequence of Warner Brothers' production of "Don Juan," starring John Barrymore, now at the American theatre.

Seven men and seven women arrayed exactly alike in leopard skins and garlands, whirl, twist, turn, leap and fly through rythmically changing figures of faultless composition and matchless beauty. There are few sensations to compare in pleasure with that of watching the mature and perfectly modeled human figure in sure, graceful and intricate movement, accompanied by spirited and harmonius music.

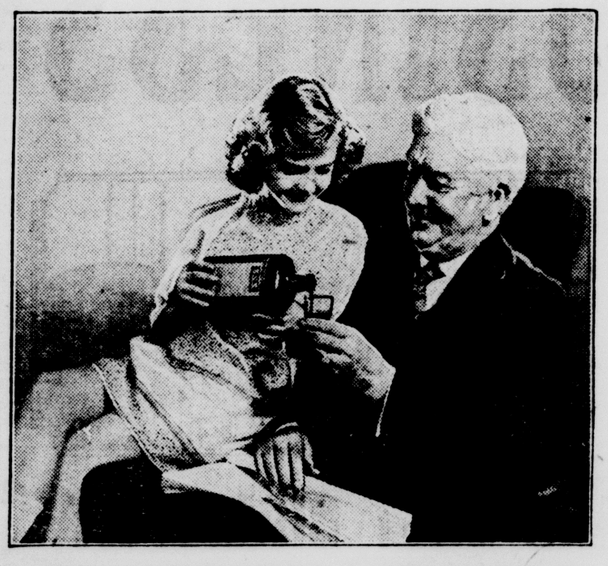

In a setting of luxurious elegance in the great hall of the magnificent Borgia palace in Rome, they impart the finishing sybaritic touch to the bacchanalian orgy, just as it occurred in those voluptious days when the entrancingly lovely but wanton and wicked Lucretia Borgia made of the wealth and splendor of Renaissance Rome a magnificent frame for her own scintillant personality.

The dances for this sequence were composed especially for "Don Juan" in an attempt to impart to them the licentious, pagan feeling of the times when man lived for pleasure alone and man's only appeal to justice lay in his own strength and cunning.

The picture was directed by Alan Crosland.

Dr. James
HEADACHE
Powders

Get a 10-cent package of Dr. James' Headache Powders to clear your head and relieve a dull, splitting or violent throbbing headache. This old-time headache relief acts almost magically. Send someone to the drug store now and a few moments after you take a powder you will wonder what became of the headache, neuralgia and pain. Stop suffering—it's so needless.

RHEUMATISM

May be relieved by rational treatment—it can not be rubbed away.

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs . . . . then finally decided to try S. S. S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S. S. S. is the best." Earl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street. Johnson City, Tenn.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

From youth to later years S. S. S. is a proven tonic—give it and take it where a tonic is indicated.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

WELLSVILLE IS PREPARED FOR TIE-UP OF COAL MINES

YARDS STOCKED AS DISTRICT WORK CEASES

Rural Shafts Will Operate During Strike.

PLAN OUTLINED

Union Men Permitted to Work Under Old Scale.

In view of the approach of warm weather, the condition of present supplies, in company yards as well as homes, and the fact that country mines likely will continue operation, the Wellsville district is not likely to feel the effects at the present time of the nation-wide coal strike which probably will go into effect tonight at midnight.

Dealers today asserted they had a fair stock of the fuel on hand and were not anticipating heavy demands.

The several mines operated in the rural sections north and west of the city probably will continue to operate, it was said.

A telegram was received at the headquarters of Sub District Five at Bellaire from President John Cinque of the policy committee to the effect that operators desiring to continue work after March 31 could do so upon the basis of the present existing agreement, pending the negotiations for a scale for the entire field. This concession may result in some of the smaller mines in the Bellaire district continuing in operation after next Thursday.

Several operators seeking information on the proposal indicated yesterday that negotiations may be made to keep their mines in operation.

President John Cinque expected home today from the policy meeting in Indianapolis, and will report the result of that meeting to the sub-district officers.

All Loyal Moose of 1014 are requested to meet at their hall for special meeting Monday evening, April 4, at 7:30 o'clock.

By DICTATOR.

LOCAL ORATOR PLACES THIRD

Miss Ina Daw Wins Place in County Contest.

Miss Ina Daw, daughter of Schools Superintendent and Mrs. S. E. Daw, of Wellsville, was awarded third place in the county oratorical contest held last night in David Anderson high school, Lisbon.

Seven county students competed for the opportunity to take part in a district oratorical contest to be held at New Castle, Pa., April 21, as part of a nation-wide competition.

Edwin Dillon, of Fairfield, who spoke on "The American Constitution" was awarded first place, and Miss Clara Patten, of Salem, second.

Miss Daw's subject was, "What the Constitution Means to Us."

Each of the county contestants was presented with a gold medal, emblematical of their victory in the school preliminaries. On one side of the medal is inscribed the student's name and on the other a drawing of the statute of liberty.

The presentation of the medals was made by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, who presided during the contest.

A tramp in the rain, then—lame muscles

WAS SO STIFF AND SORE HE COULD HARDLY BEND

As good as new next morning after simple home treatment

After tramping around all day with wet feet while out gunning, a Philadelphia sportsman found himself so stiff and lame he could hardly bend.

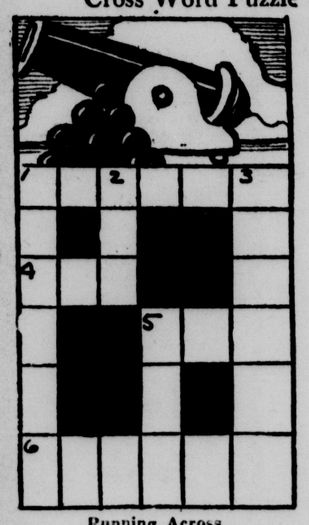

"I went to work but had to come home," he writes. "I applied Sloan's Liniment freely and went to bed. I was as good as new next morning, thanks to the quick and sure action of Sloan's."

Sloan's gives real relief because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It helps the body to throw off the cause of the pain.

Apply a little lightly, without rubbing. Right away the stiffness and pain ease up, as fresh healing blood is sent to the sore spots.

Get a bottle of Sloan's today and have it on hand for the first emergency. All druggists—35 cents.

FIGHT PLANNED ON CORN BORER

Meeting of Farmers Held in Fairfield Township Grange Hall.

Farmers of Fairfield township met at the Fairfield township Grange hall Wednesday evening for the purpose of hearing a discussion upon the battle against the corn borer in this county. The principal address was made by S. M. Van Blaricom of Perry township. County Service Manager Phil E. Heim of the County Farm Bureau also spoke.

The attention of the farmers was called to the necessity of poling down raking up and burning all corn stalks and long stubble in fields that are to be seeded to oats without plowing.

It was declared the corn stalks and stubble Larbor the living borers or worms, and if left on the surface of the field, these larvae hatch and reinvest surrounding territory. It was also said that any intensive clean up campaign that does not dispose of all corn stalks and long stubble on the surface of the ground will be ineffective so far as results are concerned. This method of clean up is a requirement of the United States department of agriculture and will be strictly enforced. The alternative is to plow the stalks under completely so none appear on the surface of the ground after seeding. In this process the borers come to the surface of the ground and are destroyed.

Corn growers were also advised that the work must be done on or before May 1, and that those who do this work in a satisfactory manner and dispose of all other stalks and cobs on the farm will be compensated by the federal government at a rate not to exceed $2 per acre.

Divorce Granted.

There was a brief hearing in the divorce action filed by Rhoda Ethel Cline against her husband, Jacob Earl Cline, November 18, last, and a decree was granted the plaintiff on the grounds of gross neglect of duty, and upon the payment of costs. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney Charles Boyd. The custody of a minor child was given to the plaintiff.

SURFACING PLANS REVISED HERE

Some members of the Lisbon council have voiced their disapproval of the change in the program, contending that inasmuch as the original plans called for the surfacing West Water street its entire length, and orgical notices to property owners included this part of the street, that first plans should be adhered to. The proposition will be given further consideration at the regular meeting of the council next Monday evening.

Stomach So Bad He Staggers Like Drunk

"I suffered from stomach trouble, and had auto-intoxication so bad that I staggered like drunk. Since taking Adlerika, I feel like a new man, have gained 17 pounds and can do a better day's work."—F. J. Pooler.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Doctors Paise Adlerika.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system."

Dr. F. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose."

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In East Liverpool at the Economy Drug Store and other druggists.

FIGHT PLANNED ON CORN BORER

Meeting of Farmers Held in Fairfield Township Grange Hall.

Farmers of Fairfield township met at the Fairfield township Grange hall Wednesday evening for the purpose of hearing a discussion upon the battle against the corn borer in this county. The principal address was made by S. M. Van Blaricom of Perry township. County Service Manager Phil E. Heim of the County Farm Bureau also spoke.

The attention of the farmers was called to the necessity of poling down raking up and burning all corn stalks and long stubble in fields that are to be seeded to oats without plowing.

It was declared the corn stalks and stubble harbor the living borers or worms, and if left on the surface of the field, these larvae hatch and reinvest surrounding territory. It was also said that any intensive clean up campaign that does not dispose of all corn stalks and long stubble on the surface of the ground will be ineffective so far as results are concerned. This method of clean up is a requirement of the United States department of agriculture and will be strictly enforced. The alternative is to plow the stalks under completely so none appear on the surface of the ground after seeding. In this process the borers come to the surface of the ground and are destroyed.

Corn growers were also advised that the work must be done on or before May 1, and that those who do this work in a satisfactory manner and dispose of all other stalks and cobs on the farm will be compensated by the federal government at a rate not to exceed $2 per acre.

Divorce Granted.

There was a brief hearing in the divorce action filed by Rhoda Ethel Cline against her husband, Jacob Earl Cline, November 18, last, and a decree was granted the plaintiff on the grounds of gross neglect of duty, and upon the payment of costs. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney Charles Boyd. The custody of a minor child was given to the plaintiff.

SURFACING PLANS REVISED HERE

Plans for the surfacing of West Water street, Lisbon, have been so revised that the square between South Market and South Beaver street will be eliminated from the program. Some members of the Lisbon council have voiced their disapproval of the change in the program, contending that inasmuch as the original plans called for the surfacing West Water street its entire length, and origical notices to property owners included this part of the street, that first plans should be adhered to. The proposition will be given further consideration at the regular meeting of the council next Monday evening.

RECORD NUMBER OF DOG LICENSES

A total of 4.139 dog licenses have been issued in this county up until the close of business in the county auditor's office Wednesday evening. This record is far in excess of the number issued for the corresponding period last year.

Arrangements are now being made for the collection of the dog license fee through the office of Sheriff George Wright when a deputy will be placed in the field. This officer will go into the field work early in April, when the regular tax plus the penalty will be collected.

No Court Next Week.

On account of the court of appeals of the seventh judicial district sitting in this county next Monday, and continuing throughout the week, no court assignment will be issued this week by Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine for common pleas court.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Floyd Bossert of Alliance, a salesman and formerly resident in Columbiana county and Carrie Bixler. They are to be married by the Rev. Krum.

Leave To File.

In the case of E. D. Barber against C. A. Barber for the recovery of $67 claimed to be due on a note, the court has granted the defendant leave to file an answer by April 30. The case was placed on the appearance docket March 1.

Property Transfers.

Real estate transfers have been recorded as follows:

Edna Calhoun to Ila M. Jewell, lots 2107-S in J. E. McDonald's second addition, East Liverpool, $10.

Ralph and John Addison to Mae Melhorn, lot on Main street, Salineville, $1,000.

Warren Everhart and others to Moses L. Yates and others, lot 936 Appraiser's addition, Salem, $3,000.

John W. Riley, as attorney in fact to Shelton J. Overdorff, lots 63 and 64 in Gaston place, St. Clair township, $400.

Oscar L. Atlaffer to Hannah J. Altaffer, lot 18, Harrison street, Lisbon, $1.

Denied New Trial.

A motion for a new trial has been overruled in the case of Charles Walters against Mrs. Josephine Redinger which was filed December 1, 1925, and wherein a jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant March 2 last. Judgment has been ordered against the plaintiff for costs. The action was one of appeal from a lower court.

Case Dismissed.

When the divorce action of Rolland M. Sprowl against his wife, Isabelle Sprowl, went to trial before Judge Lones in common pleas court February 16 last, a decree was refused the plaintiff on his petition and also the defendant on her cross petition.

Both parties have now come into court and filed a motion that the entry of February 16 be stricken from the record, and the petition has been dismissed without prejudice. The cross petition of Mrs. Sprowl has also been dismissed.

Labor Claim Settled.

A settlement out of court has been made in the case of Pearl Davidson against Harvey Geary which was a labor claim, and filed on the record in common pleas court September 17, last. The settlement has been at the costs of the defendant.

The case of Elizabeth Wernet as administratrix of the estate of the late Charles Wernet against F. F. Fitzpatrick and others has been dismissed from the record without prejudice. Judgment has been handed down against the plaintiff for the costs in the action.

Sale Ordered.

Sale of personal property of the value of $5,000 has been ordered made in the case of the Midland bank as trustee against the Sliver Manufacturing company of Salem. The order of sale has been made by Judge W. S. Lones on application of Charles G. Burton, receiver appointed by the court under the original petition which was filed December 6 last seeking foreclosure and asking for the appointment of a receiver.

Judgment Rendered.

Judgment by default has been rendered in common pleas court in the case of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber company of Akron against H. M. Tarbet of Bayard. The original claim as related in the petition filed February 9 last sought $235.82 and interest for merchandise sold the defendant by the plaintiff, and the judgment against Tarbet has been set down at $242.52 and the costs of the action.

Judgment Handed Down.

Judgment on the verdict for $210 in favor of the plaintiff has been handed down in the case of Russell Needham against Jeremiah Snyder which was tried in common pleas court February 10. Exceptions have been filed by the defense in this case, which was a claim for $500 damages as the result of an automobile accident.

Baseball Prophets Like Detroit Club's Pennant Chances

Will Be Fighting For and Not With Manager This Year

Addition of Marty McManus Stakes Infield to Needed Punch; Cobb's Leaving Gives Team Peace and Good Will it Never Had Before.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Largely because the Detroit ball club in all probability will be fighting for its manager this season and not with him, the writer ventures today to name the Tigers as potentially the strongest team in the American League up to and including this, the present moment. It has been an annual absurdity to declare in March what will happen in October but there is no law against a man playing smart, even if he knows better; so that particular brand of hocus pocus may well be retired from circulation.

Therefore, the clubs are listed below merely in the order of their potential strength, with an easy mind, or the equivalent:

1. Detroit Tigers.
2. Philadelphia Athletics.
3. Washington Senators.
4. New York Yankees.
5. Cleveland Indians.
6. Chicago White Sox.
7. St. Louis Browns.
8. Boston Red Sox.

The Tigers have made only two changes between seasons but, speaking with malice toward none, both have been for the better.

The addition of Marty McManus has staked the infield to the punch and steadiness it needed. The managerial trade of Moriarty for Cobb has given the club the peace and good will it never before has had.

Hot Tip This Year.

With any kind of a break, this outfit might have won at least one pennant during the last five years, but either it couldn't or wouldn't win for Cobb. This version of its failure has been common gossip for years; so much so, in fact, that the Tigers were the hot tip of nearly every baseball man in the south this spring. The prophets can't go very far wrong, at that, in touting a club that has had good but manhandled pitching, fine catching, an adequate infield and three outfielders who hit over .365, not to mention a fourth who led the league during the greater part of the 1925 season.

Anything, of course, can happen in six months and many things will. The White sox, for example, would be a far better bet at this writing if the unfortunate Mostil had delayed his attempted suicide by even six weeks.

The Philadelphia Athletics have more ball players than they know what to do with and, therefore, are ranked below the pace. One man's guess on this ball club is as good as another's. But, offhand, I would hesitate to go too far with a team which doesn't know whether Collins or Bishop will play second base; Boley or Galloway will be its shortstop; Hale or Dykes its third baseman and Branom or Poole its first baseman, to say nothing of its superfluity of outfielders.

The club has too many candidates, too much managerial timber, too much uncertainty. At present, it is the greatest gate attraction in baseball; yet no one can say how good the team is until Connie Mack himself decides what men are on it.

Senators Uncertain Club.

The Senators, with that wonderful outfield of Goslin, Speaker and Rice; a smart, varigated offense and fair pitching, might go anywhere but right now they seem to be no better than a third choice. They have a most promising squad of young pitchers but until a promise becomes fulfillment, I must take it for granted that Harris pitching will be a bit uncertain, particularly with Johnson unavailable at this time. His catching also is open to dubious scrutiny and the question of whether Meyer will prove an acceptable third baseman still is much in the air.

The writer feels that the Yankees weren't the best club in the league last year, and they aren't now. They won in spite of ordinary pitching, a five-thumbed shortstop and a third baseman who no longer can move about with the abandon of a youth. The pitching has not been improved between seasons; in fact, each man on the regular staff is just a year older, which usually means a year worse. The Yanks blasted their way to a pennant but they don't figure to do it again. However, that impressive punch can't be laughed off in a high falsetto; it will keep them up with the pace.

Tribe Will Miss Speaker.

It is no easy matter to rate the Indians in the second division for here is a club that is capable of anything. However, they lost the man who played batters to perfection in centerfield, Tris Speaker, their inspiration and leader, and so far his successor has not been conspicuous to the inquiring eye. Speaker's passing seems certain to make a difference to the Indians; also there is a question of whether some of those young pitchers were on the level with their rather startling first-year performances.

The Browns and White Sox figure to be about of equal strength at this time, the loss of Mostil and Collins depreciating the Sox' outlook to no slight extent. They were up in the race in each of the last two years until Collins dropped out of the line up; therefore, it may be taken for granted that he meant something to the success of the team. Ward may come back for a good year but the infield remains a precarious proposition and, with Mostil out, the outfield is not of the best, either. Mostil, in fact, was the punch of the entire club. It is no better than a sixth place bet at this time.

The Browns also have a bad infield and uncertain pitching with the punch of the team open to question. On what they have now, if the Browns climb as high as the top of the second division, everyone will be surprised, including the Browns. The Red Sox may have more fight with Carrigan behind them but otherwise they seem to have improved not at all since 1926, when they were a hapless and hopeless tail ender. The liabilities—infield, pitching, no punch—are many, their assets all too few. Just a bad ball club with a good manager.

Owens to Play Rinkeydinks.

The Owen Selects are out with a challenge to the West End Rinkeydinks for a baseball game to be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at West End. Ward will pitch for the Selects and Dyer will do the twirling for the Rinkeydinks.

Nominating HAROLD CARLSON.

BECAUSE he stands out as a star pitcher in any setting. Even with the Phillies.

Because he looms as the "ace" of the team Stuffy McInnis hopes to keep in the National League for six months.

Because he won 17 games and lost but 12 last season, with the team wallowing in last place.

Because he hopes to better that record this year, with a better infield behind him and the brainy Stuffy to direct his own team's attack.

Y TOURNEY AT SEMI-FINALS

Buckeyes Play Horsemen; Dinosaurs Face Silents.

The Buckeyes and the Five Horsemen go into the semi-finals of the "Y" Junior basketball tournament as a result of victories over the Bulgers and the Hilltops in games last night. The Buckeyes eliminated the Bulgers by a count of 26 to 20 and the Five Horsemen trampled the Hilltops to the tune of 26 to 21.

The Buckeyes' teamwork won over the individual performance of the Bulgers who led 8 to 7 at the half. At the second of the third period the Buckeyes went out in front and stayed there the rest of the way. All the Buckeyes figured about equally in the victory, while Bloor, Greenwood and Wucherer put up the best games for the losers.

The Horsemen had it rather easy with the Hilltops in the first half, leading by a score of 19 to 9. In the final periods the Horsemen trotted to the basket for 11 more points while the Hilltops pocketed the ball for eight. Nease, Schneller and Irwin were the leading factors in the Horsemen's victory. Burbick, Blazer and Anderson performed well for the Hilltops.

The semi-finals of the tournament will be played off tonight, the Buckeyes clashing with the Five Horsemen and the Silents battling the Dinosaurs. The first game will start at 8 o'clock.

Lafayettes, Beaten By Rosies, Rest For Tilt Here Tomorrow

Duquesne Passers Lose 36 to 30 Game With American League Five; 54 Fouls Called.

THE Fink Lafayettes, Allegheny county league champions, who have been wading through an almost steady string of exhibition games since copping the laurels in their own circuit, will rest tonight following their engagement last night with the Cleveland Rosenblums and figure to be in top condition for their clash tomorrow night at the high school gymnasium here with the East Liverpool Elks' club.

The local battle will be the opener of a home and home series with the Lafayettes, the second game going to Duquesne next week.

The Pittsburgh passers were nosed out by the Rosenblums, the first half champions of the American Professional league, in their clash last night. The final count was 36 to 30 and provides some indication of the job the Antlers will have on their hands.

The Lafayettes finished the first quarter ahead of the Rosenblums, 9 to 8, but the Clevelanders scored 10 counters in the second quarter while the Pittsburgh lads were getting three.

The scoring was even in the last half, each team chalking up 18 points.

Levy, who refereed the series between the Elks and the Midland Collegians, handled the Lafayette-Rosenblum tilt. A total of 54 fouls was called, 24 on the Lafayettes and 30 on the Rosenblums. Eighteen, or just exactly half, of the Cleveland five's points, were made from the free line, while the Lafayettes tossed in 16.

As a tip to the Antlers, it might be a good bet to pay a lot of attention to foul throws in the series with the Lafayettes.

The Lafayettes were strengthened considerably, however, by the use of Ramsay, of the Morrys.

"Sticks" Monohan, who played several games with the Elks during the season, plays the pivot post for the Duquesne outfit.

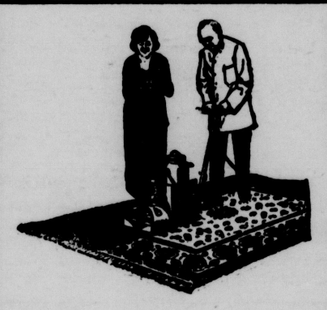

Monohan will be pitted against Tony Paulsey, the Campbell lad, at center and Tony should have the edge in all around playing.

Nate Lippe, Elks' forward, will be playing against his old county league rivals. Lippe, as a member of the Enoch Rauh quint of the county loop, clashed with the Lafayettes frequently during the campaign.

Baseball Prophets Like Detroit Club's Pennant Chances

Will Be Fighting For and Not With Manager This Year

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Largely because the Detroit ball club in all probability will be fighting for its manager this season and not with him, the writer ventures today to name the Tigers as potentially the strongest team in the American League up to and including this, the present moment. It has been an annual absurdity to declare in March what will happen in October but there is no law against a man playing smart, even if he knows better; so that particular brand of hocus pocus may well be retired from circulation.

Therefore, the clubs are listed below merely in the order of their potential strength, with an easy mind, or the equivalent:

1. Detroit Tigers.
2. Philadelphia Athletics.
3. Washington Senators.
4. New York Yankees.
5. Cleveland Indians.
6. Chicago White Sox.
7. St. Louis Browns.
8. Boston Red Sox.

The Tigers have made only two changes between seasons but, speaking with malice toward none, both have been for the better.

The addition of Marty McManus has staked the infield to the punch and steadiness it needed. The managerial trade of Moriarty for Cobb has given the club the peace and good will it never before has had.

Hot Tip This Year.

With any kind of a break, this outfit might have won at least one pennant during the last five years, but either it couldn't or wouldn't win for Cobb. This version of its failure has been common gossip for years; so much so, in fact, that the Tigers were the hot tip of nearly every baseball man in the south this spring. The prophets can't go very far wrong, at that, in touting a club that has had good but manhandled pitching, fine catching, an adequate infield and three outfielders who hit over .365, not to mention a fourth who led the league during the greater part of the 1925 season.

Anything, of course, can happen in six months and many things will. The White sox, for example, would be a far better bet at this writing if the unfortunate Mostil had delayed his attempted suicide by even six weeks.

The Philadelphia Athletics have more ball players than they know what to do with and, therefore, are ranked below the pace. One man's guess on this ball club is as good as another's. But, offhand, I would hesitate to go too far with a team which doesn't know whether Collins or Bishop will play second base; Boley or Galloway will be its shortstop; Hale or Dykes its third baseman and Branom or Poole its first baseman, to say nothing of its superfluity of outfielders.

The club has too many candidates, too much managerial timber, too much uncertainty. At present, it is the greatest gate attraction in baseball; yet no one can say how good the team is until Connie Mack himself decides what men are on it.

Senators Uncertain Club.

The Senators, with that wonderful outfield of Goslin, Speaker and Rice; a smart, varigated offense and fair pitching, might go anywhere but right now they seem to be no better than a third choice. They have a most promising squad of young pitchers but until a promise becomes fulfillment, I must take it for granted that Harris pitching will be a bit uncertain, particularly with Johnson unavailable at this time. His catching also is open to dubious scrutiny and the question of whether Meyer will prove an acceptable third baseman still is much in the air.

The writer feels that the Yankees weren't the best club in the league last year, and they aren't now. They won in spite of ordinary pitching, a five-thumbed shortstop and a third baseman who no longer can move about with the abandon of a youth. The pitching has not been improved between seasons; in fact, each man on the regular staff is just a year older, which usually means a year worse. The Yanks blasted their way to a pennant but they don't figure to do it again. However, that impressive punch can't be lauched off in a high falsetto; it will keep them up with the pace.

Tribe Will Miss Speaker.

It is no easy matter to rate the Indians in the second division for here is a club that is capable of anything. However, they lost the man who played batters to perfection in centerfield, Tris Speaker, their inspiration and leader, and so far his successor has not been conspicuous to the inquiring eye. Speaker's passing seems certain to make a difference to the Indians; also there is a question of whether some of those young pitchers were on the level with their rather startling first-year performances.

The Browns and White Sox figure to be about of equal strength at this time, the loss of Mostil and Collins depreciating the Sox' outlook to no slight extent. They were up in the race in each of the last two years until Collins dropped out of the line up; therefore, it may be taken for granted that he meant something to the success of the team. Ward may come back for a good year but the infield remains a precarious proposition and, with Mostil out, the outfield is not of the best, either. Mostil, in fact, was the punch of the entire club. It is no better than a sixth place bet at this time.

The Browns also have a bad infield and uncertain pitching with the punch of the team open to question. On what they have now, if the Browns climb as high as the top of the second division, everyone will be surprised, including the Browns. The Red Sox may have more fight with Carrigan behind them but otherwise they seem to have improved not at all since 1926, when they were a hapless and hopeless tail ender. The liabilities—infield, pitching, no punch—are many, their assets all too few. Just a bad ball club with a good manager.

Owens to Play Rinkeydinks.

The Owen Selects are out with a challenge to the West End Rinkeydinks for a baseball game to be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at West End. Ward will pitch for the Selects and Dyer will do the twirling for the Rinkeydinks.

Y TOURNEY AT SEMI-FINALS

Buckeyes Play Horsemen; Dinosaurs Face Silents.

The Buckeyes and the Five Horsemen go into the semi-finals of the "Y" Junior basketball tournament as a result of victories over the Bulgers and the Hilltops in games last night. The Buckeyes eliminated the Bulgers by a count of 26 to 20 and the Five Horsemen trampled the Hilltops to the tune of 26 to 21.

The Buckeyes' teamwork won over the individual performance of the Bulgers who led 8 to 7 at the half. At the second of the third period the Buckeyes went out in front and stayed there the rest of the way. All the Buckeyes figured about equally in the victory, while Bloor, Greenwood and Wucherer put up the best games for the losers.

The Horsemen had it rather easy with the Hilltops in the first half, leading by a score of 19 to 9. In the final periods the Horsemen trotted to the basket for 11 more points while the Hilltops pocketed the ball for eight. Nease, Schneller and Irwin were the leading factors in the Horsemen's victory. Burbick, Blazer and Anderson performed well for the Hilltops.

The semi-finals of the tournament will be played off tonight, the Buckeyes clashing with the Five Horsemen and the Silents battling the Dinosaurs. The first game will start at 8 o'clock.

Lafayettes, Beaten By Rosies, Rest For Tilt Here Tomorrow

Duquesne Passers Lose 36 to 30 Game With American League Five; 54 Fouls Called.

THE Fink Lafayettes, Allegheny county league champions, who have been wading through an almost steady string of exhibition games since copping the laurels in their own circuit, will rest tonight following their engagement last night with the Cleveland Rosenblums and figure to be in top condition for their clash tomorrow night at the high school gymnasium here with the East Liverpool Elks' club.

The local battle will be the opener of a home and home series with the Lafayettes, the second game going to Duquesne next week.

The Pittsburgh passers were nosed out by the Rosenblums, the first half champions of the American Professional league, in their clash last night. The final count was 36 to 30 and provides some indication of the job the Antlers will have on their hands.

The Lafayettes finished the first quarter ahead of the Rosenblums, 9 to 8, but the Clevelanders scored 10 counters in the second quarter while the Pittsburgh lads were getting three.

The scoring was even in the last half, each team chalking up 18 points.

Levy, who refereed the series between the Elks and the Midland Collegians, handled the Lafayette-Rosenblum tilt. A total of 54 fouls was called, 24 on the Lafayettes and 30 on the Rosenblums. Eighteen, or just exactly half, of the Cleveland five's points, were made from the free line, while the Lafayettes tossed in 16.

As a tip to the Antlers, it might be a good bet to pay a lot of attention to foul throws in the series with the Lafayettes.

The Lafayettes were strengthened considerably, however, by the use of Ramsay, of the Morrys.

"Sticks" Monohan, who played several games with the Elks during the season, plays the pivot post for the Duquesne outfit.

Monohan will be pitted against Tony Paulsey, the Campbell lad, at center and Tony should have the edge in all around playing.

Nate Lippe, Elks' forward, will be playing against his old county league rivals. Lippe, as a member of the Enoch Rauh quint of the county loop, clashed with the Lafayettes frequently during the campaign.

CEBULAS ARE DUE AT HIGH POINT

Mike Cebula and his brother, Pete, pitcher and shortstop, respectively, of the Chester City Industrial league club, were scheduled to arrive yesterday at High Point, N. C., where they will become members of the Piedmont circuit.

The High Point outfit is owned by Chattanooga.

finding work, have developed the need for special agencies for the employment of this class. Once established, these agencies in many instances, it is found, must cooperate with the schools, with the medical profession, and with social organizations to accomplish a genuine rehabilitation of the individual.

Unfortunately, the investigation showed, placement agencies for the handicapped up to the present time have tended more or less to disregard the interest of the employer. They have been so anxious to help the applicant that frequently they have allowed his need of employment to take precedence over his qualifications for work. This policy is criticised as extremely short sighted, for the cooperation of employers is absolutely essential to the carrying on of the agency and in the long run can be brought about only by giving real service to those who do the hiring and firing and also provide payrolls. This means to send to positions only those applicants who in spite of their handicaps can fill them efficiently.

A Notable Example.

The late Charles P. Steinmetz, inventive genius and master of electrical engineering, is cited as a notable example of what a seriously handicapped man can accomplish. Steinmetz was born a cripple, he had a weak heart as a further disability, and he has been described as "a penniless, ill-clad, incoherent hunchback" when he landed from the steerage at Castle Garden as an emigrant to this promised land from the one that gave him birth.

Ten days after his arrival in the United States this twenty-four-year-old youth had a job that, in effect, was to continue all his life. He went to as a draftsman for Rudolph Eickmeyer, an electrical manufacturer and inventor of Yonkers, N. Y. Later when the General Electric company bought out the Eickmeyer business Steinmetz was taken over along with certain other employees, and in time it was demonstrated that he was one of the biggest assets the General Electric had acquired in the transaction.

The promptness with which Steinmetz found his first job is to be attributed to several facts, says Miss LaDame. First of all, he knew definitely what he wanted to do. Second, he had the training with which to do it. After having specialized in mathematics and physical science at the University of Breslau he had later studied mechanical engineering at the Zurich Polytechnic school.

Then, too, the youth had brought with him an unpublished thesis entitled "On Involuntary Self-reciprocal Correspondents in Space Which Are Defined by a Three-Dimensional Linear System of Surfaces of the nth Order." Anybody who could prepare a thesis upon such a subject was certain to get a regular job if scientists had anything to do with employing him. If he offered to read it to his prospective employer he would likely be hired in self-defense. Steinmetz also brought with him a letter of recommendation from the editor of a leading German electrical journal, and that also helped him.

But the important factor in his getting off immediately to an auspicious start in America, it is said, was the fact that he did not permit his physical handicap to affect his attitude toward work, toward his fellow beings, or toward himself. His experience in securing employment is said not to be representative or typical of that of the crippled generally or of other classes of the physically and mentally handicapped. It represents the ideal rather than the typical adjustment. However, it illustrates the essentials to success in seeking any work, even though the individual in search of it be a genius.

finding work, have developed the need for special agencies for the employment of this class. Once established, these agencies in many instances, it is found, must cooperate with the schools, with the medical profession, and with social organizations to accomplish a genuine rehabilitation of the individual.

Unfortunately, the investigation showed, placement agencies for the handicapped up to the present time have tended more or less to disregard the interest of the employer. They have been so anxious to help the applicant that frequently they have allowed his need of employment to take precedence over his qualifications for work. This policy is criticised as extremely short sighted, for the cooperation of employers is absolutely essential to the carrying on of the agency and in the long run can be brought about only by giving real service to those who do the hiring and firing and also provide payrolls. This means to send to positions only those applicants who in spite of their handicaps can fill them efficiently.

A Notable Example.

The late Charles P. Steinmetz, inventive genius and master of electrical engineering, is cited as a notable example of what a seriously handicapped man can accomplish. Steinmetz was born a cripple, he had a weak heart as a further disability, and he has been described as "a penniless, ill-clad, incoherent hunchback" when he landed from the steerage at Castle Garden as an emigrant to this promised land from the one that gave him birth.

Ten days after his arrival in the United States this twenty-four-year-old youth had a job that, in effect, was to continue all his life. He went to work as a draftsman for Rudolph Eickmeyer, an electrical manufacturer and inventor of Yonkers, N. Y. Later when the General Electric company bought out the Eickmeyer business Steinmetz was taken over along with certain other employees, and in time it was demonstrated that he was one of the biggest assets the General Electric had acquired in the transaction.

The promptness with which Steinmetz found his first job is to be attributed to several facts, says Miss LaDame. First of all, he knew definitely what he wanted to do. Second, he had the training with which to do it. After having specialized in mathematics and physical science at the University of Breslau he had later studied mechanical engineering at the Zurich Polytechnic school.

Then, too, the youth had brought with him an unpublished thesis entitled "On Involuntary Self-reciprocal Correspondents in Space Which Are Defined by a Three-Dimensional Linear System of Surfaces of the nth Order." Anybody who could prepare a thesis upon such a subject was certain to get a regular job if scientists had anything to do with employing him. If he offered to read it to his prospective employer he would likely be hired in self-defense. Steinmetz also brought with him a letter of recommendation from the editor of a leading German electrical journal, and that also helped him.

But the important factor in his getting off immediately to an auspicious start in America, it is said, was the fact that he did not permit his physical handicap to affect his attitude toward work, toward his fellow beings, or toward himself. His experience in securing employment is said not to be representative or typical of that of the crippled generally or of other classes of the physically and mentally handicapped. It represents the ideal rather than the typical adjustment. However, it illustrates the essentials to success in seeking any work, even though the individual in search of it be a genius.

finding work, have developed the need for special agencies for the employment of this class. Once established, these agencies in many instances, it is found, must cooperate with the schools, with the medical profession, and with social organizations to accomplish a genuine rehabilitation of the individual.

Unfortunately, the investigation showed, placement agencies for the handicapped up to the present time have tended more or less to disregard the interest of the employer. They have been so anxious to help the applicant that frequently they have allowed his need of employment to take precedence over his qualifications for work. This policy is criticised as extremely short sighted, for the cooperation of employers is absolutely essential to the carrying on of the agency and in the long run can be brought about only by giving real service to those who do the hiring and firing and also provide payrolls. This means to send to positions only those applicants who in spite of their handicaps can fill them efficiently.

A Notable Example.

The late Charles P. Steinmetz, inventive genius and master of electrical engineering, is cited as a notable example of what a seriously handicapped man can accomplish. Steinmetz was born a cripple, he had a weak heart as a further disability, and he has been described as "a penniless, ill-clad, incoherent hunchback" when he landed from the steerage at Castle Garden as an emigrant to this promised land from the one that gave him birth.

Ten days after his arrival in the United States this twenty-four-year-old youth had a job that, in effect, was to continue all his life. He went to work as a draftsman for Rudolph Eickmeyer, an electrical manufacturer and inventor of Yonkers, N. Y. Later when the General Electric company bought out the Eickmeyer business Steinmetz was taken over along with certain other employees, and in time it was demonstrated that he was one of the biggest assets the General Electric had acquired in the transaction.

The promptness with which Steinmetz found his first job is to be attributed to several facts, says Miss LaDame. First of all, he knew definitely what he wanted to do. Second, he had the training with which to do it. After having specialized in mathematics and physical science at the University of Breslau he had later studied mechanical engineering at the Zurich Polytechnic school.

Then, too, the youth had brought with him an unpublished thesis entitled "On Involuntary Self-reciprocal Correspondents in Space Which Are Defined by a Three-Dimensional Linear System of Surfaces of the nth Order." Anybody who could prepare a thesis upon such a subject was certain to get a regular job if scientists had anything to do with employing him. If he offered to read it to his prospective employer he would likely be hired in self-defense. Steinmetz also brought with him a letter of recommendation from the editor of a leading German electrical journal, and that also helped him.

But the important factor in his getting off immediately to an auspicious start in America, it is said, was the fact that he did not permit his physical handicap to affect his attitude toward work, toward his fellow beings, or toward himself. His experience in securing employment is said not to be representative or typical of that of the crippled generally or of other classes of the physically and mentally handicapped. It represents the ideal rather than the typical adjustment. However, it illustrates the essentials to success in seeking any work, even though the individual in search of it be a genius.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES B STEWART

TOLERANCE TOWARD CHINESE ADOPTED BY U. S. AS POLICY

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Washington seems to me to have a clearer, more sympathetic understanding of the Chinese than any other government has.

It seems to me also to have a better understanding of them than it has of any other nationality.

Things were pretty tense here following native Shanghai's capture by the Cantonese, with trouble popping all along the "foreign city" limits, still worse trouble in Nanking, and the entire Yangtse valley by the ears.

Officialdom would have had some excuse if it had lost its head.

Yet what you heard right along was "We must make all due allowances for the Chinese."

OTHER Occidental capitals haven't been so forbearing.

Their basic thought has been that the Chinese disturbance was an infernal nuisance to them, and that the best scheme for the "powers" was to club together and go over and lick both sides, in order to stop it.

That's what they undoubtedly would have done, only they needed America's help and they couldn't get it.

WASHINGTON'S reasoning, in substance, has been like this:

China's engaged in a terrific civic struggle. Innocent bystanders on the sidelines of such a fight are liable to be sideswiped by it. They ought, by good rights, to get out of the way.

Of course even an imprudent innocent bystander can't be left to his fate. His country's got to rescue him, even at the cost of chipping, momentarily, into the scrap.

But so far as the bulk of the Chinese are concerned, in their nationalistic aspirations, the United States wishes 'em luck.

RUDYARD KIPLING, with his "East is East and West is West, and never the twain shall meet," undertook to give the impression that Oriental and Occidental mental processes are absolutely irreconcilable.

This is all bunk.

What Rudyard, an Occidental imperialist to the backbone, never could understand was why the East objects to being gobbled up by the West.

It isn't so much of a mystery to Washington.

WASHINGTON diplomacy shouldn't feel too cocky, nevertheless, over its superiority to other Occidental diplomacy in the matter of its understanding of the Chinese.

It isn't so tolerant, for instance, toward Latin America as it is toward Chinese disturbances.

A little of our eastern hemispherical psychology, applied in the western hemisphere, would make us more friends in the latter.

WASHINGTON officials are free to admit that their experience of today can't compare with what their predecessors must have gone through 27 years ago, when the Boxers were rampant.

That was an out-and-out anti-foreign affair. The leaders were wild-eyed fanatics, with the murder of white men and women in their hearts. While they may have known no better, it made them none the less unpleasant customers to deal with.

The commanders in the present war are enlightened men, who are given full credit for doing their best to prevent anti-foreign excesses.

In the early 1900's, too, with the telegraph down, nobody knew for weeks what was happening. It's of record that the suspense was killing. Now communication can't be seriously interrupted, thanks to the radio.

Now that French clowns are forming an organization for more pay and less work, their employers may not find them so funny.—Martins Ferry Times.

MILITARY SET ACCLAIMS HER

"BEAU GESTE" STORY OF WAR

Paramount Picture Depicts Life of Foreign Legion.

Oh, for the life of the French Foreign Legion!

How many boys have thrilled with the thought of becoming a legionnaire under the flag of France, of seeing the world, fighting in strange lands, being decorated for bravery and returning home a hero.

Something of the other side of a legionnaire's life is shown in "Beau Geste," P. C. Wren's thrilling mystery story which has been transferred to the screen by Paramount and which comes to the Ceramic theatre on April 7 for a three-day run.

Forced marches of 30 miles a day, carrying packs of from 56 to 65 pounds, wearing even pound coats under blazing suns—these are common occurences in the legion. There are 26 crimes for which the death penalty may be inflicted in the legion. It is no crime to steal another's equipment, but it goes hard with a man whose equipment is stolen. Sometimes they even hold the bars of soap in their months while washing, to keep them from stealing or being taken.

Ronald Coleman, Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes appear as three English brothers who enlist in the legion. Other featured players in "Beau Geste," which Herbert Brenon directed, include Alice Joyce, Noah Beery, Mary Brian, William Powell, Norman Trevor and Victor MacLaglen.

Of course even an imprudent innocent bystander can't be left to his fate. His country's got to rescue him, even at the cost of chipping, momentarily, into the scrap.

But so far as the bulk of the Chinese are concerned, in their nationalistic aspirations, the United States wishes 'em luck.

RUDYARD KIPLING, with his "East is East and West is West, and never the twain shall meet," undertook to give the impression that Oriental and Occidental mental processes are absolutely irreconcilable.

This is all bunk.

What Rudyard, an Occidental imperialist to the backbone, never could understand was why the East objects to being gobbled up by the West.

It isn't so much of a mystery to Washington.

WASHINGTON diplomacy shouldn't feel too cocky, nevertheless, over its superiority to other Occidental diplomacy in the matter of its understanding of the Chinese.

It isn't so tolerant, for instance, toward Latin America as it is toward Chinese disturbances.

A little of our eastern hemispherical psychology, applied in the western hemisphere, would make us more friends in the latter.

WASHINGTON officials are free to admit that their experience of today can't compare with what their predecessors must have gone through 27 years ago, when the Boxers were rampant.

That was an out-and-out anti-foreign affair. The leaders were wild-eyed fanatics, with the murder of white men and women in their hearts. While they may have known no better, it made them none the less unpleasant customers to deal with.

The commanders in the present war are enlightened men, who are given full credit for doing their best to prevent anti-foreign excesses.

In the early 1900's, too, with the telegraph down, nobody knew for weeks what was happening. It's of record that the suspense was killing. Now communication can't be seriously interrupted, thanks to the radio.

Now that French clowns are forming an organization for more pay and less work, their employers may not find them so funny.—Martins Ferry Times.

"BEAU GESTE" STORY OF WAR

Paramount Picture Depicts Life of Foreign Legion.

Oh, for the life of the French Foreign Legion!

How many boys have thrilled with the thought of becoming a legionnaire under the flag of France, of seeing the world, fighting in strange lands, being decorated for bravery and returning home a hero.

Something of the other side of a legionnaire's life is shown in "Beau Geste," P. C. Wren's thrilling mystery story which has been transferred to the screen by Paramount and which comes to the Ceramic theatre on April 7 for a three-day run.

Forced marches of 30 miles a day, carrying packs of from 56 to 65 pounds, wearing even pound coats under blazing suns—these are common occurences in the legion. There are 26 crimes for which the death penalty may be inflicted in the legion. It is no crime to steal another's equipment, but it goes hard with a man whose equipment is stolen. Sometimes they even hold the bars of soap in their months while washing, to keep them from stealing or being taken.

Ronald Coleman, Nell Hamilton and Ralph Forbes appear as three English brothers who enlist in the legion. Other featured players in "Beau Geste," which Herbert Brenon directed, include Alice Joyce, Noah Beery, Mary Brian, William Powell, Norman Trevor and Victor MacLaglen.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

TOLERANCE TOWARD CHINESE ADOPTED BY U. S. AS POLICY

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Washington seems to me to have a clearer, more sympathetic understanding of the Chinese than any other government has.

It seems to me also to have a better understanding of them than it has of any other nationality.

Things were pretty tense here following native Shanghai's capture by the Cantonese, with trouble popping all along the "foreign city" limits, still worse trouble in Nanking, and the entire Yangtse valley by the ears.

Officialdom would have had some excuse if it had lost its head.

Yet what you heard right along was "We must make all due allowances for the Chinese."

OTHER Occidental capitals haven't been so forbearing.

Their basic thought has been that the Chinese disturbance was an infernal nuisance to them, and that the best scheme for the "powers" was to club together and go over and lick both sides, in order to stop it.

That's what they undoubtedly would have done, only they needed America's help and they couldn't get it.

WASHINGTON'S reasoning, in substance, has been like this:

China's engaged in a terrific civic struggle. Innocent bystanders on the sidelines of such a fight are liable to be sideswiped by it. They ought, by good rights, to get out of the way.

Of course even an imprudent innocent bystander can't be left to his fate. His country's got to rescue him, even at the cost of chipping, momentarily, into the scrap.

But so far as the bulk of the Chinese are concerned, in their nationalistic aspirations, the United States wishes 'em luck.

HUSBAND CONFESSES MURDER

Today

Vincent Astor Brings News.

203.8 Miles an Hour.

Strange Conspiracy.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

VINCENT ASTOR of New York brings from Europe information of builders of airships and fast cruisers. Germans have perfected Diesel engines for fast cruisers, weighing only 18 pounds per horsepower, as against the standard of 180 pounds per horsepower. This should interest the United States if it decides to build cruisers, instead of weeping on Europe's cold shoulder, sobbing: "Please disarm."

EVEN more important is Mr. Astor's news of a new flying engine perfected by Swiss engineers and manufacturers. Germany's great company, the Luft Hansa, will equip Zeppelins with this new Swiss engine for transatlantic flight. The new Diesel flying engine will fly five pounds per horsepower, too heavy, according to present plans, for airplanes. But they will use oil instead of gasoline, doing away with danger from fire.

AND in power development, oil will be twice as efficient as gasoline in proportion to weight, which may more than make up for extra weight.

Switzerland's new Diesel flying engine will easily take a powerful Zeppelin across the Atlantic, with thousands of miles of cruising range to spare.

MR. ASTOR will give our shipbuilders an opportunity to study the new, efficient Diesel engine for boats. He is having such engines installed in his big new yacht, which, thanks to the new engine, will have a cruising radius of 18,000 miles.

SEGRAVE, British automobile racer, shattered all world's records Tuesday by driving 203.8 miles an hour at Daytona, Fla. The best American record is 156 miles per hour.

THIS is a tribute to British manufacturing efficiency, and to Segrave's courage. But it is only interesting without practical importance. An auto-

GOLDIE BOLEY IS CHOKED TO DEATH DURING FIGHT IN HOME

Former East Liverpool Woman Victim of Glen Robin Crime.

MAN SURRENDERS

"Put Cuffs on Me, I Killed Her," he Tells Police.

Declaring that he had choked his wife to death following an argument in their home in Glen Robin, Jefferson county, Theodore Boley, 27, husband of Mrs. Goldie Boley, 25, former East Liverpool girl, this morning gave himself up to Steubenville police.

Drives to Police Headquarters.

Walking into police headquarters, Boley stopped Traffic Sergeant Roy McConnell and said: "Here I am, put the cuffs on me, I killed her."

Mrs. Boley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Beaver, of Dixonville, was killed, according to Boley, as a result of a domestic quarrel at 2 o'clock this morning.

Boley said he choked her to death and then took their three children, the oldest of which is six years, to the home of a relative in Yorkville.

From Yorkville he drove his car to Steubenville and immediately went to police headquarters.

Body Is Found.

Authorities, it is said, were inclined to regard the man's story as the hallucination of a disordered mind.

Later, however, an investigation was launched by police and Steubenville newspapermen. W. E. Gibbon, Glen Robin postmaster, and Frank Chessley, manager of the Y. & O. store there, were notified and the two went to the Boley home where they found the body.

Boley, who refused to reveal any reason for the slaying other than that it occurred during a quarrel, is being held in the Jefferson county jail, pending arraignment.

Boley and his wife have lived in Glen Robin, which is located in the southern end of Jefferson county, for about a year. Prior to that they had lived in East Liverpool. He had been employed at the Yorkville plant of the Wheeling Steel company.

The slain woman is survived by her parents and three children.

THIEVES LOOT MILLINERY SHOP

Police today continued their search for thieves who broke into the Taylor millineray, East Sixth street, last Saturday night and made their escape with $123.80.

The culprits smashed the glass in the rear door of the establishment, securing one $50 bill, one $20 bill and about $50 in change. Chief of Police McDermott and Patrolman James Haley investigated the robbery.

TWO CHARGES AGAINST POTTER

Clarence Flowers, Sophia street, was to be taken into custody this afternoon upon two charges, one for using vulgar and profane language and the other for assault, preferred by W. L. Prescott.

Flowers, it is charged, went on a rampage at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery yesterday, "breaking ware and dishes." He is also alleged to have struck Paul Orr.

RINI AND SISTER-IN-LAW SEEK FREEDOM

Strychnine Victim Dies in Ambulance on His Way to City Hospital at Noon.

FAREWELL NOTE BLAMES FRIEND

Occupants of Davidson Old Opera House, Hearing Moans of Dying Man, Force Door of Apartment.

Despondent over ill health, Irwin Broone, aged about 61, a former mill worker, swallowed strychnine with suicidal intent, police say, in his room in the old Davidson opera house building, East Second street, this morning. He died in the Miller ambulance while being rushed to the City hospital at noon.

Broone, suffering from locomotor ataxi, had maintained his home on the second floor of the opera house building.

He left a farewell note, addressed to a pal, who is alleged to have left him about a week ago.

Other occupants of the building heard groans from Broone's room during the forenoon, and failing to get a response, smashed in the door. Broone was found lying across the bed. In his pocket was found a two-ounce bottle, nearly empty, bearing a strychnine label from a Chester drug store.

Note Found in Room.

Police were notified and Desk Sergeant Toland and Patrolman James Haley responded. A physician was also called, and Broone was ordered removed to the hospital.

The note, which was found in the room, is believed to have been written after he took the poison.

Text of Note.

Broone, according to neighbors, had not been seen about the room for three or four days. He is said to have returned there early this morning.

"You are the cause of my sending myself to Hell," said the note which Broone left. "You have driven me from my home. I hope that my spirit may haunt you to your dying day. I hope that God forgives me for this thing."

The suicide is said to have no near relatives. He was dependent upon the earnings of his friend for several years.

The body was removed to the Miller funeral home, West Sixth street.

Ehrenfeld, Pa., Mine Blast Probe Begins; Four Men Killed

EHRENFELD, Pa., March 31.—State and federal mine inspectors today began an investigation of the explosion in the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke company's mine here, which they termed one of the most unusual on record.

Although 295 miners were at work, only four were killed and four injured. The others escaped through rear entries and airshafts.

A string of 33 mine cars running wild down a 2,000-foot incline inside the mine, tore insulation from electric wires and ignited an accumulating of dust, causing the explosion, S. W. Blakeslee, superintendent, said.

PRETTY WOMAN IS VICTIM OF OHIO CLUBBER

Catherine Madden Dying in Hospital in Cleveland.

"GAS PIPE" USED

Assailant Escapes Following Brutal Attack.

CLEVELAND, March 31.—A pretty young woman, near death in Mt. Sinai hospital, following a brutal attack by a clubber here early today, has been identified as Miss Catherine Madden, of this city, by relatives.

Miss Madden had been reported missing on police records this morning and was said to have been wearing a nurse's uniform when last seen. The victim of the "gas pipe" attack was attired in a similar uniform.

She was about 25 years old.

Her assailant escaped and has not yet been apprehended.

Her skull was fractured by blows from the piece of pipe which was found near the scene of the attack.

William M. Harman, Aged 29, Dies Here; Funeral Tomorrow

William Meredith Harman, 29, died last night in his home, East Ninth street, after a week's illness of bronchial pneumonia.

Mr. Harman, who was born in Staunton, Va., where he attended military school, was employed as assistant purchasing agent by the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company. He was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

He is survived by his widow, nee Helen Campbell; one son, John; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Harman; three brothers, John T., Winnitt, P. and Edward H. Harman, all of New York city, and one sister, Mrs. Arthur Pettipas, of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in charge of Rev. Frank G. Fowler, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Friends may view the body tonight from 7 to 10 o'clock.

FOUR BUILDING TRADE UNIONS RENEW PACTS ON WAGE SCALES

Carpenters, Bricklayers, Plasterers, Hod Carriers Sign.

PEACE ASSURED

Plumbers' Wage Scale Does Not Expire Until 1928.

Peace in the building trades for another year at least was virtually assured today following the adoption of new working agreements by four crafts.

One of the agreements, signed by the contractors and carpenters, is for a term of two years, beginning May 1, 1927. Pacts between employers and bricklayers, hod carriers and plasterers are for one year. No wage increases are provided.

Carpenters renewed their wage scale of $1.28 per hour, or $10.24 per day. Upon small jobs contractors will charge $12 per day for the men, while upon large jobs a 10 per cent fee for labor will be assessed by the employer.

Hod Carriers Asked Increase.

Bricklayers have also renewed their agreement of $1.50 per hour, or $12 per day. Hod carriers, who will receive 90 cents per hour, asked $1.25 per hour, but their demand, it is claimed, was not filed within the time limit and was not considered. As a result the old scale was approved.

Wale scale of the plasterers calls for $14 per day.

The two-year agreement between plumbers and their employers does not expire until next year. Journeymen are paid $1.38½ per hour.

Painters and electricians, who receive $10 per day, are also expected to renew their wage pacts. Electricians received an increase of $1 per day a year ago.

Two Men Admit Conniving to "Cover Up" Snyder Murder

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 31.—Admission of Haddon Gray and Harry Platt that they connived with Henry Judd Gray to destroy the blood-stained vest and other clothing brought back after the murder in Queens village, of Albert Snyder, art editor of Motor Boating, featured the Syracuse investigation of the case this afternoon.

This startling evidence was brought out after Gray and Platt had been grilled at police headquarters here by New York and local detectives. Another "mystery witness" was arrested today. His name was not revealed.

CHEVROLET CAR REPORTED STOLEN

Chevrolet touring car, belonging to Homer Boyd, was stolen while parked on Washington street near the Y. M. C. A. between 8:30 and 10:30 o'clock last night. The machine, according to a report made to the police, carried license plates No. 386-862.

Announce Birth of Daughter.

A daughter was born at 11 o'clock last night to Mr. and Mrs. John Dallas, 220 West Sixth street. Mr. Dallas is owner of a Dresden avenue shoe repairing shop.

Bread Prices Cut As Bakers Engage In Rate War Here

Retail price of bread in the East Liverpool district dropped to eight cents per loaf yesterday as dealers launched a rate-cutting war.

The war started after a chain grocery store operating six establishments in East Liverpool and Chester, announced a reduction from 10 to 8 cents per loaf. Joseph Smith, St. Clair avenue baker, then reduced his price.

Other bakers are retailing bread at 11 and 12 cents.

ARREST LOOMS IN HENRY FORD CRASH INQUIRY

Detroit Police Get Hit-run Motorists' License Number.

PLOT SUSPECTED

Automobile King is Believed Internally Injured.

DETROIT, March 31.—Clues to the identity of the hit-and-run motorists who injured Henry Ford in a suspected plot to assassinate the automobile king, were in the hands of Chief of Police Fred Faustman, of Dearborn, today.

It was reported that the police possess the automobile license number of the Studebaker car which forced Ford's small coupe into the ditch just outside Dearborn Sunday night. Chief Faustman, according to the Dearborn police headquarters, is investigating information which may lead to the arrest of the occupants of the Studebaker car.

"Improving," is Hospital Report.

Although unofficial reports today indicated Ford's condition is giving his physicians grave concern due to the fact he is suffering from hemorrhages and may be internally injured, hospital attendants announced he slept easily through the night.

"His general condition is excellent, and he continues to improve steadily," said the hospital report early today

The automobile king's condition is aggravated because of his advanced age and the danger of his contracting pneumonia. Ford will be 64 on July 30.

An army of Ford's secret service, private detectives and police of a half dozen Michigan cities are searching for two men and a Studebaker touring car. Occupants of the Studebaker are said to have deliverately attempted to drive Ford into the River Rouge but failing in that, rammed his tiny Ford coupe, in which the automobile king rode alone, off a boulevard near his estate and sped away as the car tumbled down an embankment.

State Levy Bill, Passed by House, Goes to Senate

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—The Ohio senate today will be asked to concur in the action of the house which passed, by a vote of 70 to 56, the Dodd bill providing for a direct state tax levy of a half-mill collectible next June. The levy would be effective for one year only.

The house today may take action on the Aigler bill, which passed the senate by a vote of 27 to 5 late Wednesday, increasing the franchise tax levied on foreign corporations doing business in Ohio.

ANANIA DEATH SUSPECTS ASK PROBATE COURT TO FIX BOND

Defendants Reiterate Story of Accidental Cutting.

WITNESSES HEARD

Grand Jury Meets April 11 to Probe Alleged Murder.

Salvatore Rini, 27, of East Liverpool, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, of Minneapolis, Minn., charged with the murder of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, Wellsville, found dead in Rini's apartment in Walnut street, here, on March 22, today began their fight for freedom in probate court at Lisbon

Prosecutor Opposes Move.

Reiterating their contention that Anania, who was stabbed in the right verticle of the heart, was the victim of an accident, they asked Judge Lodge Riddle to permit their release on bond pending action of the grand jury which meets on Monday, April 11.

Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes opposed the defense application, presented by Attorneys W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, and S. W. Crawford, of East Liverpool.

Indications at 1 o'clock this afternoon, when the hearing was resumed after the recess for lunch, were that the court's decision would not be handed down until late in the day.

Rini and the Chorgas woman, who came here in February to attend the trial of her brother, Roy Wallen, East Salineville, now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for the murder of Rodney Ogle, coal miner, were arrested in Rini's apartment here after Rini had called a physician to attend Anania.

Four Witnesses Testify.

Police Captain Mason Conley, Patrolman William Lister and Drs. Albert J. Michaels and C. H. Bailey, all of East Liverpool, testified at the morning session.

A broken bladed butcher knife, found in Rini's apartment, was introduced as a state exhibit.

Rini and Mrs. Chorgas claim that Anania accidentally killed himself while carving meat with this knife.

W. D. CRAWFORD FACES COURT

William D. Crawford, Maplewood, was at liberty under $500 bond today pending a hearing before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, tomorrow morning upon charges of threatening the life of his wife, Mary Crawford. He was arrested by Patrolman Leslie Curran yesterday afternoon upon affidavit signed by Mrs. Crawford.

Crawford appeared in municipal court this morning to prefer charges of assault against his step-son, Everett Crawford, who, he charged, had struck him in the face. He also will be given a hearing before Judge Hanley when the latter returns from Columbus. Judge Hanley left for the capital yesterday afternoon in the interest of the proposed election reforms pending before the state legislature.

U. S. CONSIDERS INVITATION FROM BRITAIN AND JAPAN TO ABANDON INDEPENDENT POSITION IN CHINA AND PROTEST NANKING OUTRAGE

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The question of whether the American government will abandon its independent position in China and join with Great Britain and Japan in making a strong protest to the Chinese Nationalists over the Nanking outrage—with a threat of punitive measures in the background—was put squarely up to the state department today.

The British government has been rather urgent in its invitation to the United States to make a common cause of the incident, and Minister MacMurray at Pekin has given it his endorsement, it was learned today.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Evacuation of Americans from all parts of China is continuing, according to advices to the navy department from Admiral C. S. Williams, commanding the Asiatic squadron.

The destroyer Pillsbury has been dispatched from Shanghai to Tsing-Tao in Shantung province at the request of W. Roderick Dorsey, American consul there, Admiral Williams advised this morning. There is a small American community there.

Refugee Ships Attacked.

SHANGHAI, March 31.—While new reports of anti-foreign demonstrations in the provinces come in, there is increased apprehension here today as the result of the mob attacks upon the French concessions last night.

Refugee ships plying the Yangtze are still subjected to fire and there are many reports of pillage by the Nationalists. The Cantonese are reported to have entered Chinkiang after its evacuation by foreigners and to have sacked the town. The American and British consuls were reported to have been pursued by hostile crowds who threw stones at them.

The extent of the damage done in Nanking is still undetermined, but it is reported that American property there has been sacked and pillaged.

Investigate Mob Outrages.

Investigations were in progress today concerning the mob attacks on the French concession barricades last night, reports having been received that Nationalist soldiers in uniform participated in these attacks.

There is no denying that there is considerable apprehension here regarding the ability of the French to protect their concession and the American and other foreigners resident there. One report has it that Consul Naggiar has been recalled to Paris.

United States Marines have been placed on duty at the barricades between the French concession and the international settlement and the French authorities have agreed that if serious troubles break out that the American marines may enter to protect American property.

Report 300 Condemned.

As far as known officially there are no known casualties from the mob attacks on the French barricades last night, but there is an unconfirmed report that several Chinese were killed by the volleys which the Annamite troops fired over the heads of the children who were herded before the mob. This report has been disturbing for it is feared that it may be used by agitators to spur the Chinese on to retaliation.

One hopeful sign is seen by the foreigners here in a report that General Chiang Kai-Shek has taken strong measures to put down disorders. It is reported that 300 have been ordered executed by Chiang Kai Shek for participation in disorders in a suburban area.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her and offers her a contract. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE, and her baby, daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind."

CHAPTER TEN.

There was a young man she seemed to have seen somewhere before who had smiled at her in the diner. He dropped into a chair beside her; this in the observation car.

"You don't remember me," he said, rather moodily. He was thin, angular, with a long, bony face and a high forehead and blue eyes and a thick shock of black hair. "I'm Mr. De Brissac's head camera man. I worked in your test. My name is Henry O'Malley."

He talked interestingly of his work, and of de Brissac. Evidently he admired his chief. "The greatest in the business," was his judgment. "A tremendous artist. And you never saw such vitality. The man is a dynamic force. It's marvelous to see him handle people. You've had a little taste of that yourself. He takes no two alike. He bullies and cajoles and stimulates. He drives and he leads. Half the time he's just acting. Back of everything he's doing there's a cold brain working every minute. He never forgets the big plan. Give him about two more pictures and the would will know that he stands alone. You won't hear much about Griffith or Ingram or Cecil de Mille next year. It'll be all de Brissac.

Hattie asked herself if it was right to listen to this. But surely he don't mean that she was to speak to no living being. Besides, this Mr. O'Malley was his own man. And so when he suggested sitting outside, she yielded. From the moment they boarded the train she had wanted to sit out there.

They had the platform to themselves. A crisp wind was blowing, but she enjoyed letting it fan her cheeks and blow her hair around while her eyes roved over the pleasant green prairie of Kansas or watched the smooth ever-narrowing track. Even the advertising signs were exciting. It was hard to keep from telling him of the terribly fascinating new life into which she was rushing with the train.

He was an enthusiast. Finding her pliantly feminine, he was soon talking eagerly of himself, telling her of the invention that was to take him out of camera work before such a great while, make a millionaire of him. It was a device for synchronizing the human voice with perfectly colored pictures. "And that's only the beginning," he went on. "I'm working out a scheme for doing the whole thing by wireless. I'll sit in my own headquarters plant and throw a complete drama on the screen in any picture house in the United States or Canada—through the air, by Jove! I haven't got all the details worked out yet. It may take two or three years. But it's bound to come. And I'm bound to be there first with it. I'm crowding at it all the time—nights and Sundays—every minute I can get to myself."

Big-eyed she listened. He seemed very nice. Just an eager boy, really, though much older than herself; and he talked wonderfully, without frightening her as Mr. de Brissac did. When he invited her to lunch with him, she found it hard to decline. But Mr. de Brissac might not like that. Probably she'd better not let him talk to her much. And then the less she had to explain to Alice and Gran'ma the better. But it was pleasant. And the shock of the new experience seemed easier to endure when she let this other excitement possess her. It occurred to her now that she had promised to write Willie Mazzini, and she decided to do so after lunch; at the pretty desk in the observation compartment. The porter would mail it for her. She had seen a man give him a telegram. That would help, too, to keep her away from those books in Mr. de Brissac's compartment. She had decided not to look at those. It seemed to her that she couldn't. The simplest thing would be to dismiss them from her mind.

Mr. de Brissac was in the dining car when she went in with Alice and Emily. She noticed that he ate very lightly. He finished before they did, and went into a car ahead with another man, giving her a careless but courteous nod as he passed. On the way back through the train she saw that his door was open and that the books still lay there in the forward seat. The table had been removed. She felt her color rising again, and lingered a moment behind the others. For a brief time, in the drawing room, she tried to be pleasant with Gran'ma who was inclined to be car sick. Then, determined she believed to be resolute in her resistance, she went out to the observation car. It would help to listen again to Mr. O'Malley, but he wasn't there. . . . And at last she went, with a guilty sensation, back to that compartment. It was the boldest act of her life thus far. She moved slowly past the open door; then, as slowly, returned and entered. And she read and read—unhappy at heart, starting at each passing footstep, yet unable to stop. She was appalled, when she thought to look at the new wrist watch of gunmental that was strapped about her wrist, to discover that two full hours had passed. She closed the thick book and stared out at the endless green prairie. It wouldn't do to go back until she could compose herself. Alice and Gran'ma musn't see her with this flush burning in her face. At that, they might read the truth there. She decided not to come into this compartment again.

Her dreams that night were dominated by a new sort of fear. Many times she awoke, trembling. She had always, until lately, slept like a healthy baby. It was strange now to lie in the stuffy little room—she was in the upper berth with Emily, Gran'ma below her and Alice on the narrow couch bed—and hear the three of the breathing and feel the swaying and jolting of the train and try to quiet her thoughts.

The morning brought newly exciting impressions; vivid pictures of yellow mountains and rocks and sand and gray-green little bushes and stretches of yellow-gray desert and queer clusters of Indian houses that might have been made out of toy blocks with ladders from a set of Jackstraws, all bathed in a clear warm sunlight of golden amber. At Albuquerque she took Emily for a walk on the platform, where real Indians in red blankets squatted amidst arrangements of bright pottery and baskets, and into the richly pleasing Indian house. She bought beaded moccasins for Emily. At the newsstand she borrowed a pencil and scribbled a postcard to Willie Mazzini, and another to Mrs. Mullane, and still another to Lucille. They would be immensely impressed. She could see the girls looking at the cards during the noon hour and could hear them talking excitedly about her. She even addressed one to Fred Schmandt, but after brief hesitation tore it up. She felt warmly toward all her old friends at the shop. Perhaps it would have been better to stay there.

The Young Girl Takes Up the Matter of Her New Spring Costume

In the spring a young girl's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of clothes and here are all her dreams transformed into reality. Such lovely, lovely things, that the selection of a spring wardrobe can be nothing but sheer pleasure. Let us show you how economically even a complete wardrobe may be acquired here for Miss 6 to 16.

First The Coat —

Such delightful ones, it's difficult to choose. Shall she take the boyish double breasted affair or a more dressy model? Here's one with a bit of stitching. There's one with fur. Such lovely materials, soft, light and warm, lined to match. And such colors — rich blues, deep red, green, warm tans, navy and copper, or these shades combined in fascinating plaids and mixtures.

Priced from $7.50 to $27.50.

Then The Frock —

Ah, what a problem! All so lovely and different, that one wants them all. Party frocks of taffeta and crepe de chine in delicate shades. Afternoon frocks in darker colors that take smartness from grown-up fashions and leave the sophistication out. Practical frocks of Rayon prints and ginghams that are simple and youthful. So many colors and fabrics. So many styles. Well, anyway, whichever is chosen, one cannot go wrong, they're all so lovely.

Priced from $1.95 to $21.50.

The Hat Is Important —

The smart young miss will wholly approve of these for they are the last word in Jeune fille fashions and the type one can start wearing now until mid-summer.

Fine, soft felt. Gleaming silks. Lovely straws. With rounded crowns and turned brims. Or pointed crowns and rims that may be moulded at will. In rose, French and other blues; Lanvin and other greens; gold, red, beige and tans.

Priced from $1.95 to $5.75.

A Bright Hand-Bag of Course—

How could it be otherwise when Fashion declares itself in favor of bright colors in handbags? The most cheerful shades imaginable—scarlet, bright green, blue, tan and combinations of color, to enliven one's darker coat or frock. Pouch or envelope styles — vanities, too — so whatever type one desires is certain to be included. In silk, leather, beads or embroidered fabrics.

Accessories for the Girl —

The well-dressed girl needs gloves to complete her costume, and she will want to select them from the newest styles which Paris approves. Perhaps they will have cuffs gaily embroidered or applied.

She must have a flower for the collor of her new coat; a gay scarf to tuck underneath the coat — and just the right color of hankie and the correct bit of jewelry. These accessories are necessary to complete the young girl's costume.

Last, But Not Least — Her Hosiery —

It may be silk — it may be of lisle — but certainly any preference can be gratified here. The new light shades for spring. The tans and greys that match one's footwear exactly and look so well with black shoes.

The misses' silk hose is very popular with growing girls. It is fashioned just like mother's and big sisters', but is unshaped so it fits snugly on undeveloped limbs. In lovely shades.

Henry Ford in Auto Crash

Henry Ford, the Detroit billionaire, whose business success and his knack of doing something that nobody else has thought of has kept his name on the front page of the American newspaper for many years, is in his own hospital at Dearborn, Mich., today suffering from injuries received in an automobile crash.

Riding in a coupe made by his own factory, the motor king was crowded off a road near a bridge that spans the River Rouge, not far from his home, and his car hurled down a 15-foot embankment last Sunday night by two unidentified men in a larger machine.

Ford, who underwent a minor operation as a result of his injuries, insisted that news of his injuries should be suppressed, and no inkling of the automobile smash-up seeped through the consorship until yesterday, when it was revealed by his counsel in the million dollar libel suit trial in the Michigan metropolis.

Although the man who slashed the price of the automobile, sponsored the so-called peace ship, raised workers' wages and now is promoting a chain grocery store plan, deprecates the sugestion, newspaper writers today are hinting that the motor king was marked for assassination in the "accident."

While it is true that cranks often mark men like Ford for death, it is a safe wager that a thorough investigation of the collision which nearly cost the manufacturer his life will prove that it was another "road-hog" accident. Such crashes occur not infrequently in the East Liverpool district, and the reckless driver, as in the Ford smash-up, speeds away and leaves his victim unconscious and bleeding by the roadside. But no stone should be left unturned in police efforts to ascertain whether it was an "accident" or a "plot." And if the offenders are apprehended, punishment in keeping with the degree of the offense should be meted out.

Improving Musical Taste

"Musical taste in America has been raised higher than in any country of Europe today," said a music critic recently.

Any native music-lover hopes this true, and believes it may be when he considers some of the musical tendencies of recent years.

First has come the better teaching of music and music appreciation in the public schools. In some communities school credit is given for music practice. A great many boys and girls who will never themselves be musical performers have learned much about good music and have become familiar with a considerable amount of it. There is hardly a high school of any size that does not have its orchestra or its band as well as its school chorus.

The phonograph and then the radio brought the performance of great artists into small homes. Of course it brought jazz, too, but not to any such musically degrading extent as some people have feared.

The annual music memory contests now held in many communities have also helped to familiarize the public with great music and to show to even the humblest musical layman that there are charm and beauty and pleasure in classical works.

There is reason to be proud and happy about the development of this taste for music and to believe that it is still developing.

Money With a String To It

Here is the basis for another of those romances about legacies which must be used in a specified way or forfeited by the inheritor. J. Louis Schaefer, New York millionaire, left $19,000 outright and $2,500 yearly for the next 15 years to his secretary on the condition that she spend it all on herself and on no one else. She must sign a written agreement to that effect or lose the legacy. If at any time the trustees find her failing to live up to the agreement, they must revoke her title.

A good many people would say they'd be glad of the money under any circumstances. It is not so large a sum that it could not easily be spent on one person for travel, a home, a car, a hobby, or any favorite luxuries. But whether there would be much real joy in having money with such a string tied to it is another question.

Apparently a good deal is left to the judgment of those trustees. Wounl taking a member of her family for a drive or inviting them to visit in her home or giving them presents be considered spending money on them, or on herself?

Whatever is back of the provision in the will, it does seem a little unwise to try to tie the hands of an intelligent person in such a way.

Ignorance Preferred

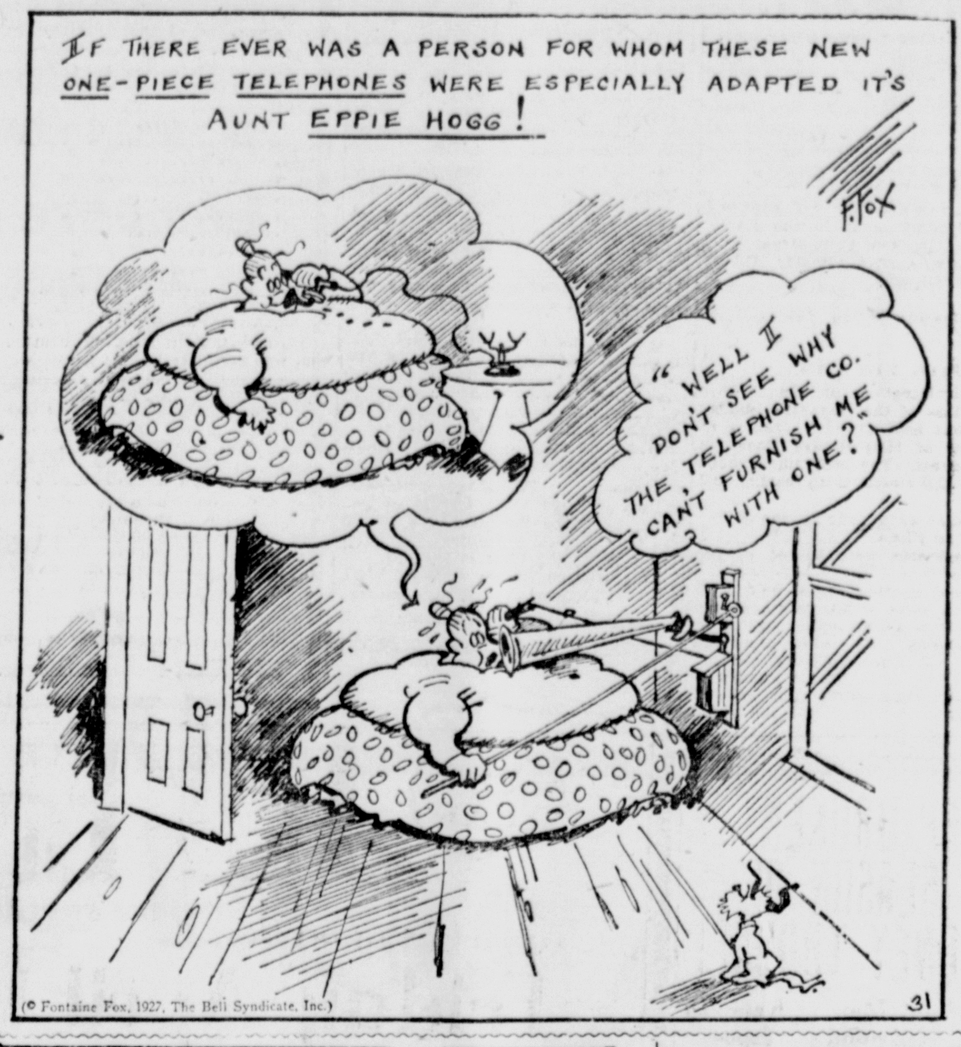

When the producing company of that much-debated play, "Sex," went on trial the other day in New York, charged with conducting a public nuisance, "none who had seen the play were admissible as jurors."

Isn't that a curious thing, when you look at it not with a legad mind, but with a mind geared to ordinary common sense?

From the practical point of view, anyone would suppose that a person who had seen the play for himself, as one of an impartial audience, would be better able to decide whether it was a "public nuisance" or a legitimate drama than if he had to depend entirely on the statements of prejudiced witnesses, to the accompaniment of quarrelling lawyers.

The jury box is the only place in American life where we put a premium on ignorance.

THE DISTURBING ELEMENT.

The terrible tempered Mr. Pepper came home from business in an especially irritated frame of mind. The supper did not suit him; news of what had gone on in the household, as detailed by his patient wife, served only to put an added edge upon his grouch.

Through long experience, Mrs. Pepper knew the signs. In an effort to avert a storm, or at least in the hope of not being present when it burst, she hurried the children off to bed and then set out for a call upon one of the neighbors, leaving Mr Pepper in his favorite chair—if he had any favorite chair—with the library lamp placed where the light would fall just over his left shoulder and with the evening paper across his lap.

But Mr. Pepper declined to be soothed. A student of psychology would have said he registered disappointment. Everything was so peaceful and calm. There was no one within earshot with whom he might find fault.

As listlessly he took up the newspaper, a very small kitten came silently in through the half open door. As it crept across the floor toward him, Mr. Pepper, with the manner of one driven beyond control, flung the sheet from him and in a voice of thunder roared at the offending creature:

"What the devil do you mean by stamping in here like that!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 31. — Manhattan being the cynical community it is, young men are hesitant to appear in public with elderly ladies. They shrink from Broadway's suspicion of salaried chaperonage. The idea has doubtless been over exploited in several plays.

Yet there are more "crib yankers" than the ordinary mortal imagines. Matronly women, neglected by husbands or surfeited with middle aged ennui, drift nightly in large numbers to cafes, night clubs and theaters with their youthful collar ad. companions.

There are many good looking young men who have give up fine jobs for this easy moneyed life. The theme was glorified in a silly play called "New York Exchange." The idea, of course, being that Manhattan youth exchanges vibrant juvenility for dull slavery and gold.

They have left drab boarding houses for toney apartments and a subway rush for limousine leisure. They receive expensive gifts—such as pearl shirt sets, platinum wrist watches and cigarette cases and actual living expenses. But rarely cash.

That is the fly in the ointment for those known in Manhattanese as "a keptive." He is distinguished from the gigolo who hires himself out for dancing purposes to any one who will pay the price. The "keptive" must bestow his attention upon only one.

These attachments are not as sordid as they often appear. There is rarely anything of sex. It merely represents the gesture of lonely women reaching out in the ashes of maturity for a last final companionship with youth. And for this, tragically, they must pay.

There is pathos in watching them wherever they are. It is a picture of soiled young manhood attempting desperately to fight off boredom and of disillusioned women snatching for happiness — and missing. And to New York onlookers it is listed under the head of "Amusements."

It was a fad some time ago for ladies to collect narrow gold bracelets —the desired number being 36. The other evening a joyous blonde appeared in a cafe with her left arm entirely hidden with them. "Just the idea of a boy friend—full of gin," she explained naively. And added: "His papa sent him back to Yale yesterday."

There is a florist whose shop has a sneak-easy on either side and he does about the biggest business in town. There might be an idea there for a sick jewelry store.

"Ten Nights in a Bar Room," recently produced on the East Side, drew chiefly youngsters who reached a theater going age after saloons passed out. They viewed it as a sort of historical curiosity.

On Fifth Avenue there is a large corporation which furnishes sky line ad writing to clients desiring it. Several brief puffs of evanescent letters across the heavens cost about $800. It drifts off into space in a very few minutes. There are, I am told, only two skyline ad. writers in America. The hazards are great, for aside from carrying high powered and dangerous chemicals to produce the smoke, the ad. writing planes are so small the operator hasn't room for a parachute. If anything goes wrong, it is the end. The letters are written backwards, as writing looks in a mirror. It is a job that calls for steady nerves and reckless courage.

A Russian safe creates atmosphere in slick fashion. Patrons receive whispered information from this employe and that that one of the waitresses is a real princess. When the place fills, an important group of aristocratic looking Russians arrive. When they see the princess, the men click their heels and the ladies drop almost to their knees with a curtsy. It is a cleverly staged stunt that brings the crowds. Most of the Russian nobility I have met have a custom of presenting their business cards before departing.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Work for the Handicapped—II.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—In his dealings with labor Henry Ford has erected two enduring monuments to himself, according to the industrial relations experts. One is his establishing a minimum wage of $5 a day, then increasing it to $6 and later to $7—a wage that other employers regarded as suicidal from a business standpoint. The second is his providing work for large numbers of physically deficient men. At one time almost one-third of the employees in one of the Ford plants were of this class.

There were more than 13,000 of these physically sub-standard men and women, it is reported in the survey made for the Welfare Council of New York by Miss Mary LaDame of the Russell Sage Foundation's department of industrial studies.

These included 5,000 workers with hernia, 1,290 with fingers amputated, 1032 with defective eyesight, 735 with crippled or deformed feet and legs, 639 with tuberculosis and other serious lung trouble, 417 with high blood pressure and other heart defects, 227 with crippled hands, 187 blind in one eye, 189 epileptic and mental cases, 152 with feet and legs amputated, 122 suffering from nervousness or shell shock, 111 hard of haring or deaf and dumb, 56 afflicted with paralysis, 51 totally blind, 13 with hands amputated, and more than a thousand with other deformities or permanent ailments.

"It is particularly significant," says Miss LaDame's report, "to find an organization which places such emphasis on the efficiency of its personnel as the Ford Motor company does, employing so large a number of substandard workers. In April 1925, 30 per cent of 44,500 workers employed in the Highland Park plant alone were classified as physically sub-standard.

"The degree to which specialization is carried on in the Ford plants, and the large number of simple assembling and sorting jobs, are factors which make possible the employment of so large a percentage of handicapped workers. But intense specialization is not confined to the Ford plants and the implication seems clear that there are many jobs into which handicapped persons can be fitted, if employers can be induced to try them."

People who have undergone the experience of being without a job, and those who manage employment agencies, know that frequently it is a difficult task to find work for the normal and able-bodied. It is far more difficult when the jobless one is afflicted with some physical or mental disability.

His range of choice is more limited the report points out. He often lacks self-confidence, and he frequently finds employers prejudiced against him because, under the stress of modern industry, with its sped and danger of accident, they prefer workmen who are physically and mentally sound. To overcome prejudice and win success the handicapped needs good advice that he may choose his occupation wisely and prepare himself for its demands.

This preparation may have to include not only vocational training but medical treatment and the making of adjustments in his home life permit him to postpone wage earning until he is properly equipped for it. Finally, an intermediary may be necessary to open opportunities for him and others like him in their chosen fields of work.

Out of the peculiar employment problems of the handicapped, superimposed upon the difficulties which the able-bodied have in choosing and

Ice Cream Important Feature in United States Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON.—Ice cream—some in powdered form, the rest frozen—makes up an important feature of America's foreign trade with the Far East and Latin America, according to the Department of Commerce.

Most of the ice cream shipped to South America is concentrated in powder.

The first experiment in exporting ice cream from United States to China took place in 1925, when a shipment of ten gallons in quart bricks, was shipped from the Pacific Coast to Shanghai.

The demand increased until in 1925 one firm alone shipped 9,000 gallons of ice cream in frozen bricks and 167,000 frozen ice cream bars to Chinese customers.

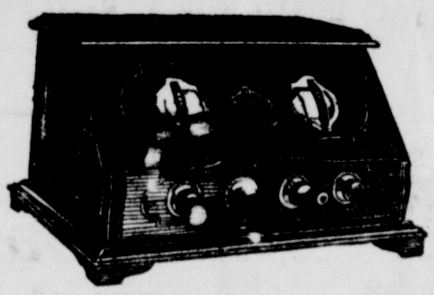

Frozen ice cream is shipped only to Shanghai, of the far Eastern ports, and is consumed largely by the foreign population, although a taste for the delicacy is being ecquired by the better class of Chinese.

Mrs. Foster Welch, who is the first woman to be elected sheriff in any county boroough of England or Wales, has just taken office at Southampton, England.

SENATE ROAD PLAN SHELVED

House Votes for County Unit in Distribution of Funds.

Distribution of state road funds on an 80-20 basis was approved yesterday by the house of delegates when 63 members voted for this method of apportioning funds as against 27 who favored the senate's preferential plan.

Other amendments, one of which raised the total from $12,500,000 set by the senate to the $15,000,000 initially proposed, were adopted without question or record vote, but more difference of opinion asserted itself when the amendment covering distribution of funds was reached.

The senate bill had provided that $2,000,000 be spent on seven designated routes, while the remainder of the issue be divided as before on the basis of 80 per cent to the counties in proportion to their road mileage and 20 per cent in the discretion of the road commission, but with provision for spending some of this also on the seven routes. The section which replaced that by the house amendment rewrites the previous bond laws putting all the money on the 80-20 per cent basis.

Delegate Hall opened the fire against this provision with a demand that the house go on record definitely as favoring or opposing the designation of routes in the senate bill and furnish some ground on which to meet the senate. In his talk he refused to route 8 with the declaration that "although Mingo county had bonded itself heavily for road work, it was impossible to get out of Williamson unless you ride a horse." He asked that the house committee amendment be defeated and promised that, if this were done he would offer one to insert route 4, center of much of the opposition in the favored list.

SCHOOL LEAGUE GAMES STAGED

Triangle baseball league composed of students and faculty members of the Chester high school got under way this week with games played on the Rock Springs park field.

Monday night the Straight Angles won from the Central Angles by a score of 11 to 6. Bartley, who hurled for the winners struck out 11 batters. Johnson twirled for the losers.

Right Angles downed the Straight Angles Tuesday evening by a score of 11 to 7. Superintendent Rabenstein was on the mound for the losing team, while Hannen pitched for the winners. Rabenstein issued seven bases on balls while Hennen was steady at critical points.

Central Angles trimmed the Right Angles last night by a score of 7 to 6. Rummel started in the box for the Right Angles but gave way to Hannen after he had walked seven batters. Simcox won his own game with a timely bingle.

Tonight a picked team from the league will play Newell High school on the Rock Springs diamond.

'CASEY AT BAT' SCREEN WINNER

Wallace Beery Scores in Hilarious Comedy at Ceramic.

In Paramount's hilarious comedy, "Casey at the Bat," which made its local bow at the Ceramic yesterday, Wallace Beery signs a contract to play baseball for the old New York Giants and almost wrecks the entire league with his escapades.

Hailed as a "find," Beery, a small town junk dealer, enters the "big time." So popular does the redheaded Irishman become that he soon emerges as the Babe Ruth of 1901. Funny as Beery was in "Behind the Front" and "We're in the Navy Now," he's even more humorous as baseball's famous "Casey."

Casey proves himself a home run hitter by knocking a four-bagger with a bat in one hand an a stein of beer in the other. Vamped by several members of the Floradora Sextette, he almost stops the show by crashing in to the orchestra pit while climbing on the stage for a personal appearance. Above all, Beery's ability to appear hopelessly foolish makes the picture uproariously entertaining.

The entire cast contributes much to the film's success. Ford Sterling gives a sterling characterization as a big league scout. ZaSu Pitts, the home town girl, is at her best and Sterling Holloway does his crafty plotting humorously.

FORMER AUDITOR DEMANDS SALARY

An alternative writ of mandamus to compel State Auditor Sam Mallison to pay $1,875 salary from November 1 to March 15 was asked in a petition filed with the supreme court yesterday by John C. Bond, former auditor.

The salary is for the period between the date of Bond's suspension by Governor Gore and the date of his resignation which was the day before he was scheduled to have gone on trial before the state senate for the alleged irregularities in office which caused Governor Gore to suspend him.

Bond contends that his suspension was unconstitutional and that he was the auditor of West Virginia until he resigned.

ALL IN READINESS FOR SOFT COAL MINING STRIKE

150,000 MEN WILL WALK OUT AT MIDNIGHT

Tie-up Will Follow Dispute Over Wage Scale.

OHIO AFFECTED

Rapid Falling Off in Production in State.

COLUMBUS, March 31.—An invitation to call a joint conference of miners and operators in the state of Ohio, in an effort to reach a wage agreement which would avert the walkout of miners scheduled tomorrow, has been sent by Lee Hall, president of the Ohio union miners to S. H. Robbins, president of the Ohio Coal Operators' association, Hall revealed today.

CHICAGO, March 31.—All was in readiness today for suspension of soft coal mining at midnight tonight in the central competitive field, embracing western Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana.

Some 150,000 members of the United Mine Workers' union and virtually all of the bituminous coal mines in the area will be affected by the suspension, which follows the expiration of the Jacksonville wage scale.

The union wants a new contract providing substantially the same basic pay as the Jacksonville agreement—$7.50 a day or a proportionate amount to miners working on a tonnage basis.

The operators, claiming they cannot compete under that wage scale with non-union fields in West Virginia and Kentucky, want the miners to accept a reduction.

No Hope for Agreement.

An attempt was made at the recent Miami conference to draw up a new contract, but the apparently wide gulf separating the aims of operators and miners, resulted in a disagreement.

Since the disagreement John L. Lewis, president of the miners' union, proposed that operators continue to pay the Jacksonville scale pending agreement on a new contract.

This proposal has been generally rejected, according to officials of the various operators' organizations. Union officials maintain however, that it has been favorably received in many areas.

Rice Miller, president of the coal operators' association of Illinois, declared today there was slight hope for a last-minute agreement as the operators expected the union to enter a conference with the understanding that lower wages would be accepted.

No Importation of Strike Breakers.

Miller declared today the Illinois operators were not expecting to import strikebreakers.

"We have no intention of breaking up the union," he said.

The early spring and presence of large stocks of coal above ground were factors in support of the belief that the suspension might extend at least well into the summer.

Illinois, one of the greatest bituminous coal producing states in the union, turned out 68,000,000 tons last year.

"We could have produced double that amount," said Miller, "but we can't sell that much in competition with non-union West Virginia and Kentucky fields the wage scales of which are some $2 a day less than ours."

Coal Bureau Figures.

CLEVELAND, March 31. — On the eve of the shutdown of Ohio mines, which amounts to a virtual suspension of the coal mining industry in this state, the Ohio coal bureau has made public the following figures in an endeavor to show the rapid falling off in production of coal in Ohio during the last few years.

Union wage scales which Ohio operators claim have placed them at a disadvantage in competing with non-union mines in West Virginia, and other coal-mining districts, are cited by the bureau as reasons for the decline.

According to the table of figures the number of men employed in mining operations in this state decreased from 55,935 in 1923 to 44,333 in 1924, and to 39,900 in 1925.

Production totaled 40,904,275 tons in 1923; 30,096,893 in 1924 and 27,514,760 in 1925, according to the chart.

Operators Meet at Toledo.

Ohio coal operators are scheduled to meet in conference at Toledo today but, according to S. H. Robbins, president of the organization, the meeting will not affect the stand taken by the association in refusing to accept the proposal by the miners' union which offered to continue work at the present scale, pending further negotiations.

The Jacksonville agreement expires at midnight tonight.

No immediate effect on the consumer is expected, owing to the large supplies of coal on hand and the near approach of summer.

The most serious aftermath of the suspension will probably be felt in the economic life of the districts where coal mining is virtually the only industry.

Suspects Seek Freedom

death of Anania, after police had been notified by Dr. Michaels. Conley said that Rini and Mrs. Chorgas were in the apartment when he entered.

The Chorgas woman, Conley said, told him that Anania had cut himself while carving meat with a broken bladed butcher knife, introduced as evidence. Rini did not explain how Anania had been wounded, the witness said. The police captain was cross-examined by Attorney W. A. O'Grady.

Dr. Michaels testified that he was called shortly after 10 o'clock by telephone by Rini, who said that "Patsy Anania had hurt himself" and he thought "Patsy was passing out." Michaels said when he arrived, Anania had been dead at least an hour.

Michaels told about adhesive tape being over Anania's heart. He said that the wound in the skin was about one half inch in length. He declared he left the body as he found it.

Under cross-examination by O'Grady Dr. Michaels said that Rini had told him that Anania said, "Don't go for a doctor," but Rini admitted he went out and purchased some iodine, peroxide and tape "to keep the poison out."

Michaels also testified that the knife introduced as an exhibit would not have caused the wound.

Dr. Bailey Testifies.

Dr. Bailey, who assisted in the autopsy over the body of Anania, described the wound. Cross-examined by O'Grady, he said the wound could be caused by any sharp instrument.

Patrolman William Lister, last witness on the stand before the noon recess, testified that Anania was dead when he arrived at the Rini apartment. He said that Mrs. Chorgas old him the knife slipped when Anania was cutting meat, and that Anania had cut himself. Lister said he was given the knife, and he in turn passed it to Captain Conley. Under cross-examination, he testified raw meat was in the kitchen.

Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, of East Liverpool, was the last witness called in the afternoon session.

Opposing attorneys began arguments at 1:30 o'clock.

BANK BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $6,500 LOOT

Harrison, Ark., Outlaws Evade Net Spread by Posse.

TROOPS SEARCH

Gunmen Believed to be Hiding Near Mt. Judah.

HARRISON, Ark., March 31.—The three bandits who robbed the Newton county bank of $6,500, today had apparently made their escape from the net believed spread about them in the foothills near here by more than 100 possemen.

Authorities in St. Joe where the bandits are believed to have escaped, were organizing another posse today.

A company of national guardsmen from Harrison aided the search near here which was given up early today only after all possible hiding places had been inspected.

Chief of Police Samuel Mankin today said he believed the gunmen now were in hiding near Mt. Judah.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 31.—A brilliant advance in the speculative railroad stocks combined with the sharp declines in the independent oils to produce an unsettled condition in the market in early trading today. Further recoveries in the motor stocks were matched by fresh downward moves in the industrials and specialties.

The fury of speculative selling broke in full force over the independent oil stocks as calculations showed that the big earners of last year would make no such showing this year. Marland Oil, Phillips, Skelly and the Standard Oils dropped in confusion to the lowest levels of the year as huge blocks of the stock were thrown on the market in the first hour.

mobile with that speed could not be used. What the world needs is the 500-mile-an-hour flying machine. Britain, Germany and Switzerland, poor as church mice compared with the United States, will show us how to build it.

THE wife of Gen. Ludendorff tells a great audience in Berlin that "Free Masons conspired with Jesuits and Jews to control Germany and the whole world."

Frau Ludendorff has another new idea. Christianity, she says, can't protect Germany from the Free Mason-Jesuit-Jewish combination. Therefore, Germany should go back to the old Niebelungen religion, with solemn Wotan, irritable Fricka, fertile Erda and the rest. The speech was enthusiastically applauded, which shows that you can find believers for anything if you say it seriously.

Here is Boo, Goldie Johnson in the saddle, winner of the $15,000 Louisiana Derby, New Orleans. Boo, owned by Col. E. R. Bradley, is one of the chief hopes of that breeder to repeat as a winner in the Kentucky Derby, which Bradley won last year with Bubbling Over. 14 DANCERS IN "DON JUAN"

John Barrymore Stars in Picture at American.

Of particular appeal to the lovers of interpretive dancing are the unique performances of the fourteen Marian Morgan dancers who display their charms and talents in the Lucretia Borgia feast sequence of Warner Brothers' production of "Don Juan," starring John Barrymore, now at the American theatre.

Seven men and seven women arrayed exactly alike in leopard skins and garlands, whirl, twist, turn, leap and fly through rythmically changing figures of faultless composition and matchless beauty. There are few sensations to compare in pleasure with that of watching the mature and perfectly modeled human figure in sure, graceful and intricate movement, accompanied by spirited and harmonius music.

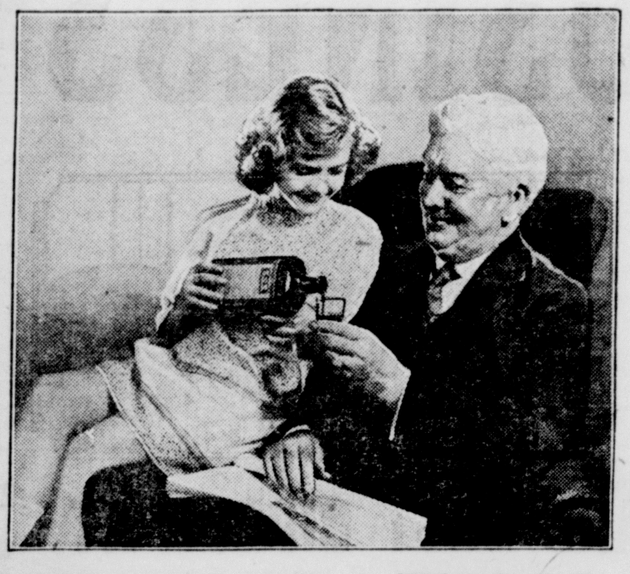

In a setting of luxurious elegance in the great hall of the magnificent Borgia palace in Rome, they impart the finishing sybaritic touch to the bacchanalian orgy, just as it occurred in those voluptious days when the entrancingly lovely but wanton and wicked Lucretia Borgia made of the wealth and splendor of Renaissance Rome a magnificent frame for her own scintillant personality.

The dances for this sequence were composed especially for "Don Juan" in an attempt to impart to them the licentious, pagan feeling of the times when man lived for pleasure alone and man's only appeal to justice lay in his own strength and cunning.

The picture was directed by Alan Crosland.

RHEUMATISM

May be relieved by rational treatment—
it can not be rubbed away.

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs . . . . then finally decided to try S. S. S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S. S. S. is the best." Earl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

From youth to later years S. S. S. is a proven tonic——give it and take it where a tonic is indicated.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Rural Shafts Will Operate During Strike.

PLAN OUTLINED

Union Men Permitted to Work Under Old Scale.

In view of the approach of warm weather, the condition of present supplies, in company yards as well as homes, and the fact that country mines likely will continue operation, the Wellsville district is not likely to feel the effects at the present time of the nation-wide coal strike which probably will go into effect tonight at midnight.

Dealers today asserted they had a fair stock of the fuel on hand and were not anticipating heavy demands

The several mines operated in the rural sections north and west of the city probably will continue to operate, it was said.

A telegram was received at the headquarters of Sub District Five at Bellaire from President John Cinque of the policy committee to the effect that operators desiring to continue work after March 31 could do so upon the basis of the present existing agreement, pending the negotiations for a scale for the entire field. This concession may result in some of the smaller mines in the Bellaire district continuing in operation after next Thursday.

Several operators seeking information on the proposal indicated yesterday that negotiations may be made to keep their mines in operation.

President John Cinque expected home today from the policy meeting in Indianapolis, and will report the result of that meeting to the sub-district officers.

All Loyal Moose of 1014 are requested to meet at their hall for special meeting Monday evening, April 4, at 7:30 o'clock.

By DICTATOR.

FIGHT PLANNED ON CORN BORER

Meeting of Farmers Held in Fairfield Township Grange Hall.

Farmers of Fairfield township met at the Fairfield township Grange hall Wednesday evening for the purpose of hearing a discussion upon the battle against the corn borer in this county. The principal address was made by S. M. Van Blaricom of Perry township. County Service Manager Phil E. Heim of the County Farm Bureau also spoke.

The attention of the farmers was called to the necessity of poling down raking up and burning all corn stalks and long stubble in fields that are to be seeded to oats without plowing.

It was declared the corn stalks and stubble harbor the living borers or worms, and if left on the surface of the field, these larvae hatch and reinvest surrounding territory. It was also said that any intensive clean up campaign that does not dispose of all corn stalks and long stubble on the surface of the ground will be ineffective so far as results are concerned. This method of clean up is a requirement of the United States department of agriculture and will be strictly enforced. The alternative is to plow the stalks under completely so none appear on the surface of the ground after seeding. In this process the borers come to the surface of the ground and are destroyed.

Corn growers were also advised that the work must be done on or before May 1, and that those who do this work in a satisfactory manner and dispose of all other stalks and cobs on the farm will be compensated by the federal government at a rate not to exceed $2 per acre.

Divorce Granted.

There was a brief hearing in the divorce action filed by Rhoda Ethel Cline against her husband, Jacob Earl Cline, November 18, last, and a decree was granted the plaintiff on the grounds of gross neglect of duty, and upon the payment of costs. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney Charles Boyd. The custody of a minor child was given to the plaintiff.

SURFACING PLANS REVISED HERE

Plans for the surfacing of West Water street, Lisbon, have been so revised that the square between South Market and South Beaver street will be eliminated from the program. Some members of the Lisbon council have voiced their disapproval of the change in the program, contending that inasmuch as the original plans called for the surfacing West Water street its entire length, and origical notices to property owners included this part of the street, that first plans should be adhered to. The proposition will be given further consideration at the regular meeting of the council next Monday evening.

RECORD NUMBER OF DOG LICENSES

A total of 4.139 dog licenses have been issued in this county up until the close of business in the county auditor's office Wednesday evening. This record is far in excess of the number issued for the corresponding period last year.

Arrangements are now being made for the collection of the dog license fee through the office of Sheriff George Wright when a deputy will be placed in the field. This officer will go into the field work early in April, when the regular tax plus the penalty will be collected.

No Court Next Week.

On account of the court of appeals of the seventh judicial district sitting in this county next Monday, and continuing throughout the week, no court assignment will be issued this week by Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine for common pleas court.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Floyd Bossert of Alliance, a salesman and formerly resident in Columbiana county and Carrie Bixler. They are to be married by the Rev. Krum.

Leave To File.

Oscar L. Atlaffer to Hannah J. Atlaffer, lot 18, Harrison street, Lisbon, $1.

Denied New Trial.

A motion for a new trial has been overruled in the case of Charles Walters against Mrs. Josephine Redinger which was filed December 1, 1926, and wherein a jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant March 2 last. Judgment has been ordered against the plaintiff for costs. The action was one of appeal from a lower court.

Case Dismissed.

When the divorce action of Rolland M. Sprowl against his wife, Isabelle Sprowl, went to trial before Judge Lones in common pleas court February 16 last, a decree was refused the plaintiff on his petition and also the defendant on her cross petition.

Both parties have now come into court and filed a motion that the entry of February 16 be stricken from the record, and the petition has been dismissed without prejudice. The cross petition of Mrs. Sprowl has also been dismissed.

Labor Claim Settled.

A settlement out of court has been made in the case of Pearl Davidson against Harvey Geary which was a labor claim, and filed on the record in common pleas court September 17, last. The settlement has been at the costs of the defendant.

The case of Elizabeth Wernet as administratrix of the estate of the late Charles Wernet against F. F. Fitzpatrick and others has been dismissed from the record without prejudice. Judgment has been handed down against the plaintiff for the costs in the action.

Sale Ordered.

Sale of personal property of the value of $5,000 has been ordered made in the case of the Midland bank as trustee against the Sliver Manufacturing company of Salem. The order of sale has been made by Judge W. S. Lones on application of Charles G. Burton, receiver appointed by the court under the original petition which was filed December 6 last seeking foreclosure and asking for the appointment of a receiver.

Judgment Rendered.

Judgment by default has been rendered in common pleas court in the case of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber company of Akron against H. M. Tarbet of Bayard. The original claim as related in the petition filed February 9 last sought $235.82 and interest for merchandise sold the defendant by the plaintiff, and the judgment against Tarbet has been set down at $242.52 and the costs of the action.

Judgment Handed Down.

Judgment on the verdict for $210 in favor of the plaintiff has been handed down in the case of Russell Needham against Jeremiah Snyder which was tried in common pleas court February 10. Exceptions have been filed by the defense in this case, which was a claim for $500 damages as the result of an automobile accident.

Baseball Prophets Like Detroit Club's Pennant Chances

Will Be Fighting For and Not With Manager This Year

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Largely because the Detroit ball club in all probability will be fighting for its manager this season and not with him, the writer ventures today to name the Tigers as potentially the strongest team in the American League up to and including this, the present moment. It has been an annual absurdity to declare in March what will happen in October but there is no law against a man playing smart, even if he knows better; so that particular brand of hocus pocus may well be retired from circulation.

Therefore, the clubs are listed below merely in the order of their potential strength, with an easy mind, or the equivalent:

1. Detroit Tigers.
2. Philadelphia Athletics.
3. Washington Senators.
4. New York Yankees.
5. Cleveland Indians.
6. Chicago White Sox.
7. St. Louis Browns.
8. Boston Red Sox.

The Tigers have made only two changes between seasons but, speaking with malice toward none, both have been for the better.

The addition of Marty McManus has staked the infield to the punch and steadiness it needed. The managerial trade of Moriarty for Cobb has given the club the peace and good will it never before has had.

Hot Tip This Year.

With any kind of a break, this outfit might have won at least one pennant during the last five years, but either it couldn't or wouldn't win for Cobb. This version of its failure has been common gossip for years; so much so, in fact, that the Tigers were the hot tip of nearly every baseball man in the south this spring. The prophets can't go very far wrong, at that, in touting a club that has had good but manhandled pitching, fine catching, an adequate infield and three outfielders who hit over .365, not to mention a fourth who led the league during the greater part of the 1925 season.

Anything, of course, can happen in six months and many things will. The White sox, for example, would be a far better bet at this writing if the unfortunate Mostil had delayed his attempted suicide by even six weeks.

The Philadelphia Athletics have more ball players than they know what to do with and, therefore, are ranked below the pace. One man's guess on this ball club is as good as another's. But, offhand, I would hesitate to go too far with a team which doesn't know whether Collins or Bishop will play second base; Boley or Galloway will be its shortstop; Hale or Dykes its third baseman and Branom or Poole its first baseman, to say nothing of its superfluity of outfielders.

The club has too many candidates, too much managerial timber, too much uncertainty. At present, it is the greatest gate attraction in baseball; yet no one can say how good the team is until Connie Mack himself decides what men are on it.

Senators Uncertain Club.

The Senators, with that wonderful outfield of Goslin, Speaker and Rice; a smart, varigated offense and fair pitching, might go anywhere but right now they seem to be no better than a third choice. They have a most promising squad of young pitchers but until a promise becomes fulfillment, I must take it for granted that Harris pitching will be a bit uncertain, particularly with Johnson unavailable at this time. His catching also is open to dubious scrutiny and the question of whether Meyer will prove an acceptable third baseman still is much in the air.

The writer feels that the Yankees weren't the best club in the league last year, and they aren't now. They won in spite of ordinary pitching, a five-thumbed shortstop and a third baseman who no longer can move about with the abandon of a youth. The pitching has not been improved between seasons; in fact, each man on the regular staff is just a year older, which usually means a year worse. The Yanks blasted their way to a pennant but they don't figure to do it again. However, that impressive punch can't be laughed off in a high falsetto; it will keep them up with the pace.

Tribe Will Miss Speaker.

It is no easy matter to rate the Indians in the second division for here is a club that is capable of anything. However, they lost the man who played batters to perfection in centerfield, Tris Speaker, their inspiration and leader, and so far his successor has not been conspicuous to the inquiring eye. Speaker's passing seems certain to make a difference to the Indians; also there is a question of whether some of those young pitchers were on the level with their rather startling first-year performances.

The Browns and White Sox figure to be about of equal strength at this time, the loss of Mostil and Collins depreciating the Sox' outlook to no slight extent. They were up in the race in each of the last two years until Collins dropped out of the line up; therefore, it may be taken for granted that he meant something to the success of the team. Ward may come back for a good year but the infield remains a precarious proposition and, with Mostil out, the outfield is not of the best, either. Mostil, in fact, was the punch of the entire club. It is no better than a sixth place bet at this time.

The Browns also have a bad infield and uncertain pitching with the punch of the team open to question. On what they have now, if the Browns climb as high as the top of the second division, everyone will be surprised, including the Browns. The Red Sox may have more fight with Carrigan behind them but otherwise they seem to have improved not at all since 1926, when they were a hapless and hopeless tail ender. The liabilities—infield, pitching, no punch—are many, their assets all too few. Just a bad ball club with a good manager.

Nominating HAROLD CARLSON.

BECAUSE he stands out as a star pitcher in any setting. Even with the Phillies.

Because he looms as the "ace" of the team Stuffy McInnis hopes to keep in the National League for six months.

Because he won 17 games and lost but 12 last season, with the team wallowing in last place.

Because he hopes to better that record this year, with a better infield behind him and the brainy Stuffy to direct his own team's attack.

Owens to Play Rinkeydinks.

The Owen Selects are out with a challenge to the West End Rinkeydinks for a baseball game to be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at West End. Ward will pitch for the Selects and Dyer will do the twirling for the Rinkeydinks.

Y TOURNEY AT SEMI-FINALS

Buckeyes Play Horsemen; Dinosaurs Face Silents.

The Buckeyes and the Five Horsemen go into the semi-finals of the "Y" Junior basketball tournament as a result of victories over the Bulgers and the Hilltops in games last night. The Buckeyes eliminated the Bulgers by a count of 26 to 20 and the Five Horsemen trampled the Hilltops to the tune of 26 to 21.

The Buckeyes' teamwork won over the individual performance of the Bulgers who led 8 to 7 at the half. At the second of the third period the Buckeyes went out in front and stayed there the rest of the way. All the Buckeyes figured about equally in the victory, while Bloor, Greenwood and Wucherer put up the best games for the losers.

The Horsemen had it rather easy with the Hilltops in the first half, leading by a score of 19 to 9. In the final periods the Horsemen trotted to the basket for 11 more points while the Hilltops pocketed the ball for eight. Nease, Schneller and Irwin were the leading factors in the Horsemen's victory. Burbick, Blazer and Anderson performed well for the Hilltops.

The semi-finals of the tournament will be played off tonight, the Buckeyes clashing with the Five Horsemen and the Silents battling the Dinosaurs. The first game will start at 8 o'clock.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 31.—An other game within the White Sox ranks was on the practice schedule today. The Regulars, headed by Willie Kamm, yesterday lost to Ike Boone's Rookies, 2 to 1. Charlie Barnabee, good-looking southpaw, was the reason.

Lafayettes, Beaten By Rosies, Rest For Tilt Here Tomorrow

Duquesne Passers Lose 36 to 30 Game With American League Five; 54 Fouls Called.

THE Fink Lafayettes, Allegheny county league champions, who have been wading through an almost steady string of exhibition games since copping the laurels in their own circuit, will rest tonight following their engagement last night with the Cleveland Rosenblums and figure to be in top condition for their clash tomorrow night at the high school gymnasium here with the East Liverpool Elks' club.

The local battle will be the opener of a home and home series with the Lafayettes, the second game going to Duquesne next week.

The Pittsburgh passers were nosed out by the Rosenblums, the first half champions of the American Professional league, in their clash last night. The final count was 36 to 30 and provides some indication of the job the Antlers will have on their hands.

The Lafayettes finished the first quarter ahead of the Rosenblums, 9 to 8, but the Clevelanders scored 10 counters in the second quarter while the Pittsburgh lads were getting three.

The scoring was even in the last half, each team chalking up 18 points.

Levy, who refereed the series between the Elks and the Midland Collegians, handled the Lafayette-Rosenblum tilt. A total of 54 fouls was called, 24 on the Lafayettes and 30 on the Rosenblums. Eighteen, or just exactly half, of the Cleveland five's points, were made from the free line, while the Lafayettes tossed in 16.

As a tip to the Antlers, it might be a good bet to pay a lot of attention to foul throws in the series with the Lafayettes.

The Lafayettes were strengthened considerably, however, by the use of Ramsay, of the Morrys.

"Sticks" Monohan, who played several games with the Elks during the season, plays the pivot post for the Duquesne outfit.

Monohan will be pitted against Tony Paulsey, the Campbell lad, at center and Tony should have the edge in all around playing.

Nate Lippe, Elks' forward, will be playing against his old county league rivals. Lippe, as a member of the Enoch Rauh quint of the county loop, clashed with the Lafayettes frequently during the campaign.

CEBULAS ARE DUE AT HIGH POINT

Mike Cebula and his brother, Pete, pitcher and shortstop, respectively, of the Chester City Industrial league club, were scheduled to arrive yesterday at High Point, N. C., where they will become members of the Piedmont circuit.

The High Point outfit is owned by Chattanooga.

finding work, have developed the need for special agencies for the employment of this class. Once established, these agencies in many instances, it is found, must cooperate with the schools, with the medical profession, and with social organizations to accomplish a genuine rehabilitation of the individual.

Unfortunately, the investigation showed, placement agencies for the handicapped up to the present time have tended more or less to disregard the interest of the employer. They have been so anxious to help the applicant that frequently they have allowed his need of employment to take precedence over his qualifications for work. This policy is criticised as extremely short sighted, for the cooperation of employers is absolutely essential to the carrying on of the agency and in the long run can be brought about only by giving real service to those who do the hiring and firing and also provide payrolls. This means to send to positions only those applicants who in spite of their handicaps can fill them efficiently.

A Notable Example.

The late Charles P. Steinmetz, inventive genius and master of electrical engineering, is cited as a notable example of what a seriously handicapped man can accomplish. Steinmetz was born a cripple, he had a weak heart as a further disability, and he has been described as "a penniless, ill-clad, incoherent hunchback" when he landed from the steerage at Castle Garden as an emigrant to this promised land from the one that gave him birth.

Ten days after his arrival in the United States this twenty-four-year-old youth had a job that, in effect, was to continue all his life. He went to work as a draftsman for Rudolph Eickmeyer, an electrical manufacturer and inventor of Yonkers, N. Y. Later when the General Electric company bought out the Eickmeyer business Steinmetz was taken over along with certain other employees, and in time it was demonstrated that he was one of the biggest assets the General Electric had acquired in the transaction.

The promptness with which Steinmetz found his first job is to be attributed to several facts, says Miss LaDame. First of all, he knew definitely what he wanted to do. Second, he had the training with which to do it. After having specialized in mathematics and physical science at the University of Breslau he had later studied mechanical engineering at the Zurich Polytechnic school.

Then, too, the youth had brought with him an unpublished thesis entitled "On Involuntary Self-reciprocal Correspondents in Space Which Are Defined by a Three-Dimensional Linear System of Surfaces of the nth Order." Anybody who could prepare a thesis upon such a subject was certain to get a regular job if scientists had anything to do with employing him. If he offered to read it to his prospective employer he would likely be hired in self-defense. Steinmetz also brought with him a letter of recommendation from the editor of a leading German electrical journal, and that also helped him.

But the important factor in his getting off immediately to an auspicious start in America, it is said, was the fact that he did not permit his physical handicap to affect his attitude toward work, toward his fellow beings, or toward himself. His experience in securing employment is said not to be representative or typical of that of the crippled generally or of other classes of the physically and mentally handicapped. It represents the ideal rather than the typical adjustment. However, it illustrates the essentials to success in seeking any work, even though the individual in search of it be a genius.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES D STEWART

TOLERANCE TOWARD CHINESE ADOPTED BY U. S. AS POLICY

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Washington seems to me to have a clearer, more sympathetic understanding of the Chinese than any other government has.

It seems to me also to have a better understanding of them than it has of any other nationality.

Things were pretty tense here following native Shanghai's capture by the Cantonese, with trouble popping all along the "foreign city" limits, still worse trouble in Nanking, and the entire Yangtse valley by the ears.

Officialdom would have had some excuse if it had lost its head.

Yet what you heard right along was "We must make all due allowances for the Chinese."

OTHER Occidental capitals haven't been so forbearing.

Their basic thought has been that the Chinese disturbance was an infernal nuisance to them, and that the best scheme for the "powers" was to club together and go over and lick both sides, in order to stop it.

That's what they undoubtedly would have done, only they needed America's help and they couldn't get it.

WASHINGTON'S reasoning, in substance, has been like this:

China's engaged in a terrific civic struggle. Innocent bystanders on the sidelines of such a fight are liable to be sideswiped by it. They ought, by good rights, to get out of the way.

Of course even an imprudent innocent bystander can't be left to his fate. His country's got to rescue him, even at the cost of chipping, momentarily, into the scrap.

But so far as the bulk of the Chinese are concerned, in their nationalistic aspirations, the United States wishes 'em luck.

RUDYARD KIPLING, with his "East is East and West is West, and never the twain shall meet," undertook to give the impression that Oriental and Occidental mental processes are absolutely irreconcilable.

This is all bunk.

What Rudyard, an Occidental imperialist to the backbone, never could understand was why the East objects to being gobbled up by the West.

It isn't so much of a mystery to Washington.

WASHINGTON diplomacy shouldn't feel too cocky, nevertheless, over its superiority to other Occidental diplomacy in the matter of its understanding of the Chinese.

It isn't so tolerant, for instance, toward Latin America as it is toward Chinese disturbances.

A little of our eastern hemispherical psychology, applied in the western hemisphere, would make us more friends in the latter.

WASHINGTON officials are free to admit that their experience of today can't compare with what their predecessors must have gone through 27 years ago, when the Boxers were rampant.

That was an out-and-out anti-foreign affair. The leaders were wild-eyed fanatics, with the murder of white men and women in their hearts. While they may have known no better, it made them none the less unpleasant customers to deal with.

The commanders in the present war are enlightened men, who are given full credit for doing their best to prevent anti-foreign excesses.

In the early 1900's, too, with the telegraph down, nobody knew for weeks what was happening. It's of record that the suspense was killing. Now communication can't be seriously interrupted, thanks to the radio.

Now that French clowns are forming an organization for more pay and less work, their employers may not find them so funny.—Martins Ferry Times.

MILITARY SET ACCLAIMS HER

Washington's youngest military set considers Miss Betty Thorpe, daughter of Col. and Mrs. George C. Thorpe, one of its most beautiful and popular members. Colonel Thorpe is a retired marine corps officer.

"BEAU GESTE" STORY OF WAR

Paramount Picture Depicts Life of Foreign Legion.

Oh, for the life of the French Foreign Legion!

How many boys have thrilled with the thought of becoming a legionnaire under the flag of France, of seeing the world, fighting in strange lands, being decorated for bravery and returning home a hero.

Something of the other side of a legionnaire's life is shown in "Beau Geste," P. C. Wren's thrilling mystery story which has been transferred to the screen by Paramount and which comes to the Ceramic theatre on April 7 for a three-day run.

Forced marches of 30 miles a day, carrying packs of from 55 to 65 pounds, wearing even pound coats under blazing suns—these are common occurences in the legion. There are 26 crimes for which the death penalty may be inflicted in the legion. It is no crime to steal another's equipment, but it goes hard with a man whose equipment is stolen. Sometimes they even hold the bars of soap in their months while washing, to keep them from stealing or being taken.

Ronald Coleman, Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes appear as three English brothers who enlist in the legion. Other featured players in "Beau Geste," which Herbert Brenon directed, include Alice Joyce, Noah Beery, Mary Brian, William Powell, Norman Trevor and Victor MacLaglen.

A new era of progress starts with this great event—a great store continually going forward—the beginning of a still greater store.

We've been working day and night that we might have this new and important department ready in time so that the public can enjoy the substantial savings on Women's, Misses' and Girls' Easter Apparel that the opening of this department makes possible.
